Noninterventionists Map Fight on Plan.

Find Huge War Cache

Washington, D. C., Oct. 9 (AP).—Vice President Henry A. Wallace announced today that large supplies of essential war materials, consigned to countries now dominated by the axis, had been discovered at various storage points in the United States and will be requisitioned for this country's use.

"A preliminary survey of the port of New York alone," Wallace said, "indicated that as many as 1,000 carloads of critical materials are involved."

He added, in a formal statement issued as head of the Economic Defense board, that such items as 500,000 pounds of aluminum, 700,000 pounds of tinplate and 1,500 tons of iron and steel products were discovered in one railroad yard in Hoboken, N. J. The supplies were bought and paid for by Holland, Norway, Belgium, and Denmark before the Nazis invaded those countries.

BY WILLIAM STRAND.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 9.—President Roosevelt today demanded that congress give him the power to arm American merchant ships, and recommended that these ships be permitted to sail into European war zones.

Sen. Van Nuys.

Affirmative action by congress would be tantamount to a declaration of war, noninterventionists in the house and senate declared. They called the proposal the first step toward outright repeal of the neutrality act, in furtherance of the administration's scheme to precipitate an all-out shooting conflict with Nazi Germany.

Verbal Slap at Hitler.

In his message to congress, Mr. Roosevelt continued his bitter personal attacks on Adolf Hitler, denouncing the "unscrupulous ambition of madmen."

"We intend to maintain the policy of protecting the freedom of the seas against domination by any foreign power which has become crazed with a desire to control the world," he declared.

Mr. Roosevelt asked for the repeal of section 6 of the neutrality law, which forbids the arming of merchant vessels. The arming of American ships of commerce is a matter of immediate necessity and extreme urgency, he asserted.

Would "Deliver the Goods."

Recommending that congress also consider the repeal of section 2 of the act, which prevents United States merchant ships from entering war zones, the President declared his belief that ultimately it will be necessary "to deliver American goods under the American flag" to belligerent ports.

"I am opposed to the President's proposal," said Sen. Frederick Van Nuys [D., Ind.] "The arming of cargo ships is tantamount to a declaration of war. I made the same observation during the World war and I shall act and vote against such legislation."

Heretofore, Sen. Van Nuys has sup-

Good News for Food Shoppers

What meats have come down in price this week? Where should you look for savings on fresh vegetables and fruits? How can you plan tasty meals based on today's food bargains?

To get the answers, read Mary Meade's article today on Page 27. It is just one of the interesting features in the food pages of today's Tribune.

Tale from a Madhouse

(An Editorial)

The mothers of Chicago are now paying 15½ cents a quart for the milk their children need, as against 12 cents two years ago. The last available index of retail prices, now six weeks old, shows that pork chops cost them 38.4 cents, as against 30.7 cents two years ago. Butter is 42.2 cents, as against 30.8 cents; pink salmon 18.7 cents a can, as against 13 cents; navy beans 7.8 cents, as against 5.9 cents a pound; eggs 42.7 cents as against 32.6 cents a dozen, and lard 14 cents, as against 9.8 cents a pound.

Furthermore, according to Miss Harriet Elliott, who is supposed to be protecting consumer interests in the OPM, they haven't seen anything yet.

"The full impact of these price increases hasn't yet reached you as a buyer at retail," says Miss Elliott. "It takes time for goods to pass thru the channels of trade. But they will reach you and nothing that can be done now can prevent your cost of living rising in the next few months, for the retailer who has paid these higher wholesale prices cannot sell at his old prices and stay in business."

The price of food for American families is leaping because the government has become the biggest buyer of foodstuffs. It is shipping thousands of tons to Great Britain under the lend-lease program. A congressional committee has just reported to congress that these foodstuffs are being sold in large part by the British government to its people. The government of Britain is collecting the proceeds, but no arrangement has been made for it to make any payment to the United States.

So far the shipments have been a gift, and there is every indication that further enormous quantities—a billion dollars' worth of food is mentioned—will also be a gift. The American people are paying twice. They are paying for the food shipped to Britain and they are paying a second time in the excessive rises of the cost of foodstuffs in this country brought about by those government purchases.

It is difficult to concede, after reading the congressional committee's report, that the lend-lease program can by any stretch of the imagination be in the hands of sane men. The most that the country is justified in hoping is that the infatuation is temporary and that congress may muster enough courage to put a stop to the insanity which is destroying our country.

The foodstuff deals are but a small part of the picture as painted by the congressional investigators. One mad project is piled on another. There are to be hundreds of ships to carry goods not only across the Atlantic but to the farthest points of Africa and Asia. Mention is made of a naval base at an undisclosed location on British soil, where American and British troops are expected to coöperate, presumably under British command as in Iceland. There are to be 500 million dollars' worth of arms for the Dutch East Indies. The Dutch, the congressmen are told, are able to pay for these, but whether they will be moved to do so when they know of the gifts to Britain seems doubtful.

The lend-lease with which Mr. Roosevelt dressed up his program when he first presented it to congress seems gone with the wind. Great Britain has holdings of more than 5 billion dollars in Canada and South America, and an undisclosed amount of cash and cashable resources uncommitted in this country, but the administration contends that these funds should not be used to offset, even partly, the burdens which are being placed on the people of the United States. The gifts go in increasing amounts and no mode of payment has been negotiated.

Of the plans to bankrupt America the congressmen receive many details. It was only when they sought to learn what has been accomplished in military rearmament that the curtains of secrecy were drawn. Where answers were given they were given off the record. Even the members of congress, aside from the few members of the committee who must rely on the uncertainties of memory, were denied knowledge of the progress of the arms program. The claim that this information would be of value to Hitler is fraudulent. The reason for concealment is obvious. A censorship is being used to cover up the blunders and incompetence of the Washington speech makers. Their deeds do not measure up to their words and to protect themselves they invoke the sham of military secrets.

America is being destroyed in the attempt to perpetuate the dominance of England over the continent of Europe. That this nation is in danger of successful military attack has been disproved so often that it is unnecessary to repeat the facts. America's present danger is that of suicide while temporarily insane.

MILLION ON WPA GET 8.5 PER CENT PAY BOOST NOV. 1

Washington, D. C., Oct. 9 (AP).—An 8.5 per cent wage increase for almost 1,000,000 WPA workers, effective Nov. 1, was announced today by Howard O. Hunter, work projects commissioner. He said the increase was an effort to meet the higher cost of living.

A flat $5.20 a month increase was granted to 834,000 workers who now earn less than $90 a month, and Hunter said he was working on an increase for workers making over $90.

The increases do not affect 106,000 workers now employed 40 to 48 hours a week on arms and preparedness projects. He said pay of the workers already had been increased.

The hike lifts the average pay for the whole country from $60.20 to $65.40 a month—8.5 per cent—but the percentage of increase will be much higher for the lowest paid groups, because of the flat general increase of $5.20. WPA wages vary from $31.20 in rural areas of the south to $94.20 in populous areas of the north.

SERIES RECEIPTS 4% OF BASEBALL TOTAL IN YEAR

Washington, D. C., Oct. 9 [Special].—Receipts at the 1941 world series games equaled approximately 4 per cent of the total receipts from all professional baseball in a normal year, the department of commerce reported today. Census records were cited showing that cash receipts of 276 professional baseball parks in 1939 amounted to $24,940,000.

Baseball, contrary to general belief, is not the biggest revenue producing sport in the American amusement field, the department pointed out. According to census figures, annual professional baseball receipts are less than a third of those of bowling and billiard centers, which took in $87,450,000 in 1939, having practically doubled their receipts in five years.

Horse and dog racing tracks, numbering only 56, took in $43,507,000 that year, while legitimate theaters and opera grossed $32,461,000.

Tops in the entire field was the motion picture theater. The cash intake of the 15,115 theaters in that year exceeded $670,000,000 or about $20 from each American family.

Blames His Plight on Ship Arms Ban.

BY GUSTAVO RENO.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]
(Picture on back page.)

CARDENAS, Cuba, Oct. 9.—Dr. Arnulfo Arias, ousted from the presidency of Panama in a coup which placed a régime more favorable to the United States in power, arrived here today as a political exile. He was accompanied by his wife and son.

The trip by plane, begun secretly at Panama City before dawn on Tuesday, followed by only a few hours an order by his cabinet banning the arming of American owned ships under Panama registry. Arias and his family stopped at Barranquilla, Colombia, en route here.

"Serious difficulties, both political and financial, with Washington, D. C., forced me to abandon the presidency of Panama and flee to Cuba to save my life," Arias told newspaper men.

"I intend to remain in Cuba for an indefinite time as a political exile—at least until this war is over and the future relations of my country with the United States are clarified.

Objected to Ship Arming.

"It is true that I have seriously objected to sending American war materials and other aid to Great Britain on American owned vessels disguised under the Panamanian flag.

"I likewise refused to arm the Panamanian ships as demanded by Washington. These objections caused intense diplomatic friction with Washington officials. My political enemies claim that I am pro-Nazi and anti-American—I am merely a nationalist—and they believe my policy of not playing into the hands, games, and machinations of the United States would cause Washington to take financial reprisals against my countrymen.

"Under the indirect pressure of the United States my life was in imminent danger, so I decided to escape and here I am.

Denies He Hindered Defense.

"My enemies claim that my international policy was seriously handicapping the progress of the American rearmament of the Panama canal. This is absolutely untrue. I only demanded from Washington the right for Panama to determine her own international policy with Germany, Italy, and Japan, devoid of any demands, diplomatic pressure, financial threats, and coercion."

Arias said that he was thru with politics forever. He expressed the belief that if matters were submitted to an impartial plebiscite it would show a tremendous vote in favor of his "policy of international neutrality" against any pro-American or "complete aid to Britain" program.

PLEDGES U. S. SUPPORT

PANAMA CITY, Panama, Oct. 9 (AP).—President Arnulfo Arias, who ordered "no guns" on United States ships flying the flag of Panama, was summarily ousted while in Cuban

A MESSAGE, ONE FOR THE BOOKIE

U. S. Wants to Know if He Finished in Money.

BY THOMAS MORROW.

This is a message to that fellow who runs the handbook around 55th street and Ashland avenue.

If you check up at the end of the week and find an extra bundle of bank notes in the till you will probably wonder how they got there. Well sir, authorities believe that when the Federal Communication commission agents halted operation of a bootleg radio station in a room at 5516 Justine street that your financial condition improved in a flash.

And if its any news to you, here's the way authorities believe the racket operated. At some race track, they say, one member of a gang had tapped a telephone wire or had access to a telephone.

A Five Minute Lapse.

The story is that he depended on a five minute time lag in your race results for results. Authorities believe the reason for this may be that you don't get your service direct from the syndicate, but are satisfied with a cheaper article rebroadcast by phone from a regular syndicate customer. Anyway, when a horse flashed across the finish line this fellow flashed a telephone message to Hubert Norman Price over on Justine street.

Mr. Price then repeated the message over his bootleg radio microphone. And, by the way, Mr. Price, who is 25 years old, and lives at 2727 East 75th place, says that he didn't know what the messages meant.

As these authorities reconstruct the thing, there was an automobile parked in front of your place with two men in it. When they got the message one of them—without appearing to be in any hurry at all—hurried inside to get a bet down before you yelled, "They're off!" Then he just stood there until you put that No. 1 tag after his horse and paid him off.

Some Suspicious Messages.

The federal agents traced the bootleg signals to the Justine street address, and while they listened, heard a number of messages suspiciously close to race time. One sample message was received at 2:51 p. m. on Sept. 29, starting time for the second race. It said:

"Testing, testing, testing, signing off, signing off, signing off, two, two, two, two, two, signing off, signing off, two, two, two, two, two, two, two, two, two, o. k., o. k., o. k."

When they raided the Justine street address the agents found Mr. Price and a transmitter which consisted of a gray metal cabinet containing a type 45 oscillator tube modulated by a 2A5 modulator with a type 80 rectifier. Now, here's the rub.

There's Some Doubt.

Scoffers say the whole thing is most improbable. They hold that you—Mr. Bookie around 55th and Ashland—couldn't have a five minute time lapse in your service and still stay in business. They don't believe any one could get access to a track telephone, and they can't believe you'd be stupid enough to take a good sized bet just as the race was off.

So, Mr. Bookie, did business seem to get a bit better beginning Oct. 4, the day after Mr. Price's radio was silenced? The government agents think it should have. You're about the only fellow who could straighten the whole thing out. And so, sir, if you'd just pick up that telephone—

New Deal Places Curb on All Building, Public and Private

BY JOHN FISHER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 9.—In a drastic, sweeping order the Supply Priorities and Allocations board today ruled that no new private or public construction projects can be started unless proved necessary for national defense or for health and safety.

It was the most severe decree yet issued by the New Deal SPAB, top policy making body of the labyrinth of rearmament agencies. The ruling was in the form of a policy announcement and gives the priorities division of the Office of Production Management virtual veto power even over projects voted by congress, such as rivers and harbors, highway construction, ship canals, and power developments.

Private Construction Affected.

Private construction will be affected in similar manner thru the OPM's power over the use of steel, brass, aluminum, copper, bronze and other materials. Recently the OPM ruled that priorities on housing construction would be given only to "defense housing" costing up to $6,000 per unit, but today's order goes far beyond that.

SPAB said in its statement of policy that because of the rearmament program's heavy demand for metals it would be impossible to build all the warships, planes, tanks, and other war equipment planned if strategic materials are used in building projects not vital to preparedness.

Officials are not clear yet on what procedure will be followed under the new regulations but are of the opinion that a person wishing to build a "nondefense" home can go ahead with his plans if he can find a contractor who has the materials in stock or can get them. However, it may be hard to find dealers willing to part with materials unless they have a priority rating and can get more. Otherwise the prospective builder must file an application under priority regulations, but has little chance of success. The real pinch will come when supplies in the hands of contractors and dealers are exhausted.

Two Tests for All Projects.

These two tests will be applied to all building projects in the future:

1. Does the construction involve use of appreciable quantities of critical materials?

2. Is the construction directly necessary for the national rearmament program or clearly essential for the health and safety of the civilian population?

"This applies to public projects—federal, state, and local—such as the building of postoffices, courthouses, and similar structures; to the construction of roads and highways; to river and harbor improvements, and to flood control and power projects, the announcement said.

Can Finish Work Under Way.

"It applies to the construction of factories, lofts, warehouses, office buildings, and all other commercial construction. It applies to residential construction and to construction for public utilities."

SPAB said that where construction actually has started and a substantial portion has been completed, efforts will be made to provide the critical materials needed to finish the job.

"If factories are obliged to close because they cannot get materials," SPAB said, "there would be neither rhyme nor reason in permitting the use of these same materials to erect public works, new factories, office buildings, or other structures unless it could be shown plainly that such construction is vital to the nation."

All federal, state, and local government agencies were urged by SPAB to refrain from issuing permits or authorizing construction work on which priorities assistance would have to be denied. SPAB also suggested that building codes in many cities requiring use of excessive amounts of critical materials be suspended "during the emergency."

London to Beat Its Iron Railings Into 23,000 Tanks

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Oct. 9.—In a new government drive for scrap iron, all unnecessary railings will be requisitioned, it was revealed today. G. M. Charter, one of the heads of the salvage section, said it was expected that 350,000 tons of metal would be obtained, or enough to produce 23,000 tanks.

U.S. AND BRITAIN PLAN TO BACK RUSSIA TO LAST

Aid Missions Believe Reds Will Hold.

'U.S. Aid to Be in Time'

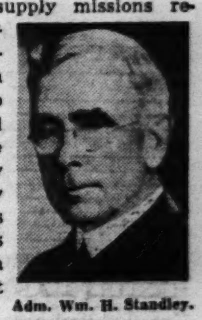
CAIRO, Egypt, Oct. 9 (AP).—Gen. James H. Burn, United States defense aid chief, said tonight upon arrival from Moscow that America would be able to get effective aid to Russia in time. He added that Russian resistance is determined and morale is high. Gen. Burn could not say when the first American war material would reach Russia but asserted he felt there was no danger of Russia's defeat before it arrived.

LONDON, Oct. 9 (AP).—The British and American supply missions returned to England from Moscow today for a supreme effort to sustain imperiled Russia to the last, on the theory that if Moscow falls the armies beyond the Urals may forestall a German lunge at Britain.



Adm. Wm. H. Standley.

Members of both missions expressed confidence that Moscow would hold out against the present offensive, and some declared that even if the capital should fall Russia would continue the fight.

[Reorganized Russian forces have halted the German drives from the south and southwest of Moscow, the soviet communique declared early today. It was in this area and to the west of Moscow that the Germans declared Russia's last effective armies—from 60 to 70 divisions—were encircled and being destroyed. Stories on pages 4 and 5.]

Report Moscow Is Calm.

Headed by W. Averell Harriman of the United States and Lord Beaverbrook of Great Britain, the experts conferred on their London train with representatives of the British government and the American embassy. They reported that there was no panic or any sign of one in Moscow.

Adm. William Harrison Standley of the United States mission said he believed that if the Germans took Moscow the Russians were fully prepared to move their lines back and continue the fight.

"The Germans may have temporary successes," he said, "but I don't think they will discourage the Russians. The morale of the Russian people surprised me. They are standing up to the strain much better than I expected."

Immediate aid from Britain and America, it was indicated, will be in expanded supplies. Responsible sources could offer no real hope for the reopening of a western land front on Britain's initiative.

Forecast Russian Plans.

London sources said the Germans seemed to be trying to establish an ultimate line from Archangel on the White sea to Astrakhan on the Caspian sea. This, some neutral observers said, would put in Nazi hands the richest and most productive part of Russia—lands as potentially rich as the United States; release much of the German army to war on England and block supplies from Britain by way of the Persian gulf and Iran, thus leaving Vladivostok as the only route for outside help.

But Russian sources contend their eastern armies have their own industries and own supply establishments which can support the big Red armies behind the Urals provided tools and raw supplies keep coming.

One source said: "Moscow has not fallen and there still is plenty of chance that the Germans will be checked there, but even if the worst happens, the Russians are prepared to fight on from behind the Urals to the East Caucasus on the south, as long as they have arms. Remember the Caucasus mountains guard the oil fields and it is in the Caucasus where the British could join the Red forces."

DEFIANT WOMEN STEEL WORKERS ASSAIL CIO RULE

It's Not Worth 2 Cents, Says One Independent.

Police Crack Down

The Steel Workers' Organizing committee [CIO] whose "dues picketing" has harassed steel companies in the Gary district, met an abrupt reverse last night when its shock troops swooped upon the Federal Furnace company plant at 108th street and Burley avenue in Chicago.

Answering an appeal from the company, Capt. Prendergast, chief of the uniformed force, called up reserves and held them in readiness in the East Side police station, near the plant.

Prendergast then led several squads to the scene and protected workers who sought to enter the plant. He told the pickets no worker has to join anything against his will. When the workers all had entered the plant in safety the pickets dispersed and Chief Prendergast called off his detail.

Members of the Independent Steel Workers Bargaining and Benefit association, both men and women, were enraged yesterday at the declaration of the CIO Steel Workers Organizing committee that it will drive all non-SWOC workers out of the Gary plants of the Carnegie-Illinois Steel corporation.

Those questioned charged that SWOC members have no vote in union affairs and do not even know where their dues and other payments go.

One Woman's Stand.

Grace Jurgerson, 609 Cuyler street, Gary, has been employed for four years in the tin assorting shop. Coercion on non-SWOC workers occurred there yesterday. "The company has an open shop contract with the CIO," she said. "I am employed by Carnegie-Illinois, and not by the CIO, and until the company changes that contract I will not join the CIO."

A nine year employé, Mary Tomak, 1550 Grant street, Gary, declared: "I had to jump a picket fence to get into the plant this morning. I don't want to join the CIO; their leaders aren't worth 2 cents. I am supporting my 69 year old mother and a daughter, 11. I need my job, because I haven't any experience in any other line."

"Want Too Much Power."

"I won't join the CIO because they want too much power," said Edna Thomason, 522 West 6th street, Gary, a five year employé. "We should have some right to work where we want to. I can't see where the CIO would benefit me one bit. And I need my job, too—I'm supporting my father, who is 75."

"The reason I won't join the CIO is because I don't like the closed shop or the checkoff," said Twila Good, 4710 Delaware street, Gary, who has been a tin assorter for 4½ years. "The CIO won't even give you a chance to vote. I have a daughter, 8, and a mother, 54, whom I support. I like my job and I like the company, but I don't like the CIO. This is still a free country, and we are entitled to work wherever we can without being molested."

Al L. La Croix, chairman of the independent union, asserted, "The majority of the steel workers are against the CIO and its tactics. If we had the kind of protection from Mayor Ernest L. Schaible [of Gary] and the company that workers do in Chicago, this plant would never shut down."

La Croix stated that the independent union's dues are $1 a month, of which 75 cents goes toward sick and accident benefits. It has no initiation fee. He compared these figures with the $4 initiation fee and $1 monthly dues of the SWOC, adding, "and the SWOC has no benefits."

He stated that 4,500 of approximately 8,200 eligible workers signed up with the independent union when it was organized last March. He declined to give the present membership, but declared:

"If an honest vote were conducted at the plant right now, not 10 per cent of the employés would be for the CIO."

Fighting with Fire.

Declaring the independents' determination to keep free of CIO domination, La Croix said: "We are going to fight fire with fire."

"I don't like the CIO's principles," said David McCall, 847 Lake street, Hobart, Ind. "You don't know what the union bosses do with your money. The SWOC doesn't even have sick or accident benefits. I'm against the closed shop and the checkoff, both CIO aims. With the checkoff, they can assess their members any time and the members have nothing to say about it. They have no chance to vote on anything."

HILLMAN CALLED BY SENATORS IN HOUSING JOB ROW

Washington, D. C., Oct. 9 (AP).—Senators investigating a behind-the-scenes labor controversy over preparedness housing, decided today to call Sidney Hillman, associate director of the Office of Production Management.

Chairman Harry S. Truman [D., Mo.] of the senate defense investigation committee said Hillman appeared to be the only person in OPM "who knows anything about" failure to award a $979,000 armament housing contract in Wayne county, Michigan, to a low bidder who employed workmen affiliated with the CIO.

P. J. Currier, Detroit manufacturer, testified his bid was more than $400,000 under any others on the low cost housing project, and that he had been unable to get a go signal from the Federal Work administration.

A Hillman assistant, Joseph Keenan, former secretary of the Chicago federation of labor [AFL], has said that he advised FWA that AFL building tradesmen in the Detroit area were talking of striking if the contract went to Currier.

Barnstorming U. S. Pilot in Eagle Squadron Killed

Thompson, Conn., Oct. 9 (AP).—Flight Comm. Andrew Mamedoff, 29, former barnstorming aviator from this town, was killed in action yesterday while serving with the Eagle squadron of the royal air force, a member of his family said tonight. Anastase A. Vonsiatski, head of the Russian National Revolutionary Fascist party and the young man's uncle, said the flyer's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lev Mamedoff, were notified today in a message from the secretary to the air ministry in London.

CITY EMPLOYES LASH LA GUARDIA'S ABUSE OF N. Y. MERIT SYSTEM

New York, Oct. 9 [Special].—A resolution charging that the administration of Mayor Fiorello La Guardia has "destroyed the merit system" and practically wrecked the civil service system has been adopted by 13 of the 18 units of Federation of Municipal Employés, it was announced today by the headquarters of District Attorney William O'Dwyer of Brooklyn, Democratic opponent of the mayor in his third term bid next month.

O'Dwyer's campaign manager, Charles E. Murphy, reported that numerous indorsements of O'Dwyer for mayor had been received from union organizations or officials. La Guardia's managers are claiming preponderant labor support for him.

Style Show Conducted by N. U. Campus Magazine

The Purple Parrot, campus magazine of Northwestern university, gave its first annual style show last night in Kahn auditorium of Scott Hall, on the Evanston campus. Latest collegiate styles in sports clothes, street dresses, and evening gowns were shown, co-eds serving as mannequins. Chicago and Evanston merchants supplied the costumes. Karl Irvin directed the show and Miss Norma Jordan, fashion editor of the Purple Parrot, was in charge of the mannequins.

INJURED FATALLY AT WORK.

Miles Blaha, 29 years old, 1818 Carpenter street, was injured fatally last night while operating a carding machine in the Western Felt works, 4115 Ogden avenue, Lawndale police reported.

NEW YORK DAUBS FIRE APPARATUS 'DEFENSE GRAY'

New York, Oct. 9 [Special].—Fire Commissioner Patrick Walsh said today that painters have begun daubing some of the fire department apparatus a battleship gray. Red hoods, frames, wheels and fenders—even gleaming chromium plates and brasswork—were covered over in the dull "defense color," it was explained.

This is the latest of a series of measures branded as war hysteria breeders which have been developed under the administration of war minded Mayor Fiorello La Guardia.

The department started on three hose wagons and four trailer pumps, which will be displayed Saturday in City Hall Plaza when the auxiliary fire force will put on a demonstration. While the department will not dull the rest of its apparatus now, the department explained, it will do so in wartime. Gray does not reflect light, while brighter colors may reflect even dim light, such as moonlight.

CIO CLOSED SHOP PLOT HAS GARY FACING ERUPTION

Independent Steel Workers Defiantly Go AFL.

Gary's vast steel labor front last night was threatening momentary eruption, as the Steel Workers' Organizing committee [CIO] seized pretext after pretext to enforce its edict to the town's thousands of workers: "Join the SWOC or lose your jobs!"

Officials of the Carnegie-Illinois Steel corporation refused to be quoted. Other steel leaders admitted, however, that the industry has been driven to its last barricades in the SWOC's fight for a closed shop. This is the issue that twice since Oct. 1 has crippled Carnegie-Illinois' Gary plant—the world's largest.

Charge of Tyranny.

Meanwhile, Attorney Harry Sharavsky, acting for the Independent Steel Workers Bargaining and Benefit association, countered with charges of ruthless labor leadership and tyranny and defied the SWOC to legally keep any man who wants to work away from his job. He said also that there is evidence thousands of SWOC members who were coerced into joining are now out of sympathy with the union and stay in it thru fear only.

The first of Carnegie-Illinois' major troubles this month was the walkout of 60 crane operators on Oct. 5. The absence of these key workers made 17,500 other idle for two days.

Strike Over a Rumor.

The men returned to work at midnight Oct. 7 after Frank Grider, subdistrict director of the SWOC, told members of the local involved that the strike was in violation of the union's contract with the company. It had been called after a rumor that the company intended to discharge extra crane operators hired during the summer. Two days more were required to get the huge plant back into capacity operation.

On the same day of the settlement, SWOC members began "dues picketing" at the company's sheet and steel mills—demanding that workers reporting at the gates show their paid up cards. In a melee that involved pushing and shoving of women employés, one of the CIO pickets was arrested by a city policeman whom he had tripped.

8,100 Called Out.

The SWOC called out 8,100 workers of the sheet and tin mills, whose continued absence would have forced a shutdown of the plant. There also was a threat that 40,000 SWOC members in the area might be called out, halting a flow of steel, 85 per cent of which is bound for rearmament projects.

This strike was settled Wednesday, with the company knuckling under to a long list of union demands including a pledge that it would never call the Gary police to the plant unless the union should join in the call. Workers started back Wednesday night and yesterday morning.

22 Women Enter.

Twenty-two women, members of the independent union, entered the plant by a side entrance to escape abuse by the dues pickets. In the tin assorting department, where they are employed, 250 SWOC members refused to work until the independents either left the job or joined the union.

The company sidestepped this threat by herding the women into a nearby office and refusing to allow them to work. Last night the 22 and more than 200 other independents replied both to the union and the company by voting unanimously to join the American Federation of Labor.

In a 4 hour meeting in a hall at 545 Washington street, Gary, they heard Hugh J. Gormley, general representative of the AFL from Indianapolis, then signed cards and prepared to apply for a charter. Gormley was asked if AFL unions would protect their new fellow members when they try to go to work. Gormley replied:

"We look to law and order to be preserved so that every man who wants to go to work shall be protected to exercise his rights as an American citizen."

Those at the meeting were supplied with extra membership cards and today will begin a drive among fellow workers at the steel plants. A mass meeting will be held in the near future, said Gormley.

Made a Pretext.

The morning's incident, however, supplied the SWOC with a pretext for new ultimatums to the company. It also brought out Grider's edict:

"Employés in Gary of the United States Steel corporation [of which Carnegie-Illinois is a subsidiary] may as well realize there is only one union. They must join it if they intend to work."

Conferences continued all day yesterday between J. M. Darbaker, plant superintendent, and the SWOC grievance committee, with every indication that the company would again knuckle under to the union's demands.

Attorney Sharavsky's statement, issued after the women's meeting last night, follows:

"When my clients decide to go ahead with this fight which they have been waging for the fundamental American right to earn a living, I am prepared to go into it with every ounce of energy at my command. This is still America and there have been no changes in the basic law of the land.

"No CIO boss can lawfully keep a man from his job if he wants to work. If it is the consensus of those being kept from their employment by force that smacks of ruthless labor dictatorship, this fight will go on. Labor tyranny over the rights of individual must be checked.

"I am confident hundreds of SWOC members have been coerced into joining and now have no sympathy with that union."

Women Workers' Strategy Defeats CIO Pickets

(Story in adjoining column.)

Alaska Highway to Stay 'On Paper,' Canadians Say

OTTAWA, Ont., Oct. 9 (AP).—The Alaska highway, advocated as a tourist attraction in peacetime and a defense asset in wartime, is still only a road on paper and likely will remain there until the war is over, authoritative Canadian sources said tonight. Government officials said the road did not seem to be considered a matter of pressing importance by defense authorities.

MOSCOW CLAIMS NAZI DRIVE FROM SOUTH CHECKED

No New Changes in Lines, Reds Declare.

[Copyright: 1941: By the New York Times.]

BERNE, Switzerland, Oct. 10 [Friday].—After 24 hours of phenomenal successes on the southern central sector, German forces were stated by the Moscow midnight communique to have been halted in their terrific drive on Moscow from the south and southwest.

With characteristic brevity, however, the soviet high command, after stating that fighting continued in the directions of Vyazma, Bryansk, and Melitopol, confined itself to the bare statement, "There was no change in our lines following our withdrawal yesterday from Orel."

It now appears that after almost a week of successful thrusts made against strongly fortified Rusian position at tremendous costs the Germans have been fought momentarily to a standstill, and aside from some local—and temporary—gains made yesterday, are once more encountering reorganized and well coördinated Russian forces.

New Attacks Crushed.

After Wednesday's successful push against Orel, followed by the Russian withdrawal, German troops attempted to storm northeastward Moensk on the main road to Tula. Some spearheads were admitted to have driven as far as Chern on this road, but were stated to have been almost immediately crushed when enfiladed by Russian artillery. The town of Tula was specifically mentioned as absolutely unmenaced.

A strong spearhead of mechanized forces appears to have reached the town of Kozelsk on the Bryansk-Tula road. Here again, however, Russian reorganizational ability is stated to have "excelled itself" and reinforcements from the Kaluga region were immediately rushed thru to hold the line on the Zhizdra river.

Civilians Called to Battle.

MOSCOW, Oct. 9 (AP).—Russian civilians joined the outnumbered Red armies of the center tonight in a supreme and desperate effort to break the blunt German wedges directed at Moscow.

In deep forests and on broad plains more than 100 miles west of the capital and 200 odd miles to the south these mighty Nazi offensives were met with new soviet lines.

After retreating from Orel, an important railway junction south of Moscow, Marshal Semeon Timoshenko's forces occupied fresh positions north of the town and stubbornly sought to breast the unending onslaughts of German tank columns.

About Vyazma, 125 miles to the west of Moscow, the Russians were bitterly contesting the second Nazi advance.

Press Appeals to Civilians.

The position was clearly grave, but was declared not disastrous. To the almost limitless Russian millions the soviet press appealed:

"Realize the gravity of the situation, the greatness of the danger and abandon all complacency. Strain every effort to repulse the new attacks of the impudent enemy. Every Red army man must realize the gravity of the present moment."

The invaders were declared falling by the thousands, for fresh German division after division was being hurled into every hard pressed Russian front.

Orel was finally lost after a three-day battle in which the town changed hands three times. First soviet dispatches said the Russians abandoned it under heavy attack; then stormed and recaptured it and at last withdrew in the face of overwhelming numbers.

There was wild and violent action, too, in the far south along the upper shores of the Sea of Azov about Melitopol where a southern German offensive synchronized with the thrusts at the center was trying to beat its way eastward toward Rostov at the mouth of the River Don and at the gateway to the soviet Caucasus.

Melitopol is a strategic point on the railroad which links the Crimea with a Russian mainland across a causeway.

[The Germans two days ago declared the Russians at Melitopol had been defeated and cut off, while German forces advanced eastward to take Ossipenko and Mariupol, ports on the Azov, the latter only 100 miles from Rostov.]

At the northwestern end of the front about Leningrad German pressure was reported still relaxing. The Leningrad garrison continued counterattacks, but these, altho strong, were acknowledged to be only local.

Possible Russian and German Strategy

(Story in adjoining column.)

Lines which may be established by Germans and Russians, according to British sources. Also shown are important oil fields and industrial areas.

GERMANS CHARGE RED MILITARY STAFF WITH CLUMSY LEADERSHIP

[Copyright: 1941: By the New York Times.]

BERLIN, Oct. 9.—For the first time in the 15 weeks' old German-Russian war, official German circles today criticized soviet military leadership for "lack of creative strategical initiative and tactical conception" of the campaign.

The Red supreme command was said to have lacked completely the true revolutionary impulse and military genius" which ordinarily characterizes epochs in military history when new technical weapons also dictate new forms and methods in conduct of war. The Germans gave credit, however, to the Russian soldier because of the "primitive and sullen energy" with which the soviet armies offered resistance "everywhere and under all conditions," but said this stubbornness could not make up for the lack of responsible leadership.

This accounted, in the German view, for the fact that the Russians were forced to accept battle in places and under conditions prescribed by the German high command. It also was held to explain the soviet's inability to oppose the German maneuvers of encirclement and annihiliation.

CHINESE CLAIM TROOPS BATTLE WAY INTO ICHANG

CHUNGKING, China, Oct. 9 (AP).—A Chinese communique tonight said two columns of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek's troops had entered Ichang, main objective of the current Chinese offensive, after recapturing 11 strategic points in its environs. The communique said Ichang, westernmost point of Japanese penetration, was partly occupied.

[Japanese army sources in Shanghai acknowledged the greatest Chinese offensive in 4¼ years of warfare was under way.]

A United States army mission headed by Brig. Gen. John Magruder arrived by plane from Hongkong tonight. Magruder was named by President Roosevelt to increase the effectiveness of American war aid to China.

U. S. AND BRITAIN PLAN TO BACK RUSSIA TO LAST

Returning Missions Feel Reds Will Hold.

that Lord Halifax had not done enough to whet the war spirit in the United States and chided Britons for allowing themselves to be lulled by "delusions" ever since the war began.

If Russia is crushed, the News Chronicle says, the man in the street will say the government "failed to raise a finger" to aid her for three and a half months.

Asks "Can't Something Be Done?"

"Suppose the worst happens," the paper editorializes, "suppose that in the next fortnight the Russian resistance is substantially crushed, suppose the Nazi triumph is complete and that in a fortnight's time Britain stands virtually alone again. What shall we think? So, at Russia's 11th hour, we ask again: Is there nothing we can do?"

The paper cites Britain's overwhelming strength at sea, her massive force of fighter aircraft and bombers, her tanks, and her 750,000 well trained men in the middle east and asks:

"Do we still have to remain on the defensive everywhere and let the splendid opportunity offered by Russia slip?"

Rap Halifax "Complacency."

The Daily Herald takes Ambassador Halifax to task for his "complacency" in America, saying:

"It is instructive to recall Halifax's words the day before the dawn in which the German vanguard smashed across Russia's frontiers. He told the Americans that if Hitler went 'prancing into Russia' after failing to invade Britain, a break in the morale of the German army would occur because they would be worried by the increasing British bombing of their homeland. Well, Hitler has been prancing into Russia for over 15 weeks and during those weeks the RAF has pounded Germany as hard as it could and the promised break in the morale of the German army is not yet evident. Nor is there any sign that the morale of Halifax has been even lightly dented by the failure of his prognostications."

Warn: Don't Rely on Hitler!

The Daily Mail, alluding to what it describes as "delusions" of the British government, says:

"Before the war it was said, 'There will be no war.' When Hitler invaded Norway it was said that he had made his 'biggest strategical blunder.' When he invaded France it was said, 'Now he will meet his doom.' When he invaded the Balkans it was said, 'The country does not favor the blitzkrieg.' When he invaded Russia it was said, 'Now he will meet with the fate of Napoleon'."

The fact is, the Mail says, that Britain cannot win a victory by waiting for Hitler to make mistakes, and concludes: "There is only one way we can earn it—by blood, toil, tears, and sweat, and that is the plain, uncomfortable truth."

Emanuel Shinwell, Laborite, is understood to have proposed a question in the house of commons last night for a full government statement on the military situation in Russia and requested an immediate answer.

TRAWLER SINKS NAZI SUB, NABS 44 IN SEA FIGHT

LONDON, Oct. 9 (AP).—A British trawler, the Lady Shirley, was credited today with shelling and sinking a German submarine in a spirited battle at sea with what the admiralty called a "larger and better equipped adversary."

"After the U-boat had been hit by several four inch shells, the crew held their hands above their heads and shouted that they surrendered," the admiralty announced.

The submarine sank almost immediately and the Lady Shirley rescued 44 survivors, who were taken to Gibraltar as prisoners.

King George VI. approved the award of the distinguished service order to Lieut. Comm. A. H. Callaway, commander of the trawler in the engagement.

SOVIET MILITARY POWER CRUSHED, BERLIN DECLARES

Main Armies of Moscow Claimed Trapped.

BERLIN, Oct. 9 (AP).—The German high command declared tonight that the last fully effective Russian armies remaining on the whole of the eastern front now were fatally encircled in two areas along the center before Moscow, and Adolf Hitler's military spokesmen formally proclaimed the setting of the soviet star.

The great victory which Hitler in a special order of the day had called "the most essential condition for peace" had now been attained, these authorities asserted. While there still was much bloody fighting to come, they added, "the military decision has fallen."

Three Red armies officially declared as without any leadership were reported facing destruction in the region of Bryansk—about 220 miles southwest of Moscow—along with other units entrapped about Vyazma, some 125 miles west of the capital. Bryansk and Vyazma are about 130 miles apart.

Estimate 60 Divisions Trapped.

Returning from the eastern front to announce what various Nazi sources called the beginning of the end for the soviet forces, Dr. Otto Dietrich, Hitler's personal press chief, estimated that Russian divisions encircled at the center totaled from 60 to 70.

A Russian division at full strength numbers about 20,000 men, and on the basis of this figure it was stated that the total number of Red troops put out of action might be as high as 1,400,000. But one commentator remarked that some Russian divisions of late had been found to aggregate only some hundreds, and not thousands, of men.

Hitler's order to the troops, which had been issued at the beginning of the great offensive on Oct. 2, was given to the German people for the first time.

"Last Decisive Battle."

"Today," [Oct. 2], he had said, "begins the last great decisive battle of this year. It will hit this enemy destructively and with it the instigator of the entire war, England herself. For if we crush this opponent we also remove the last English ally on the continent.

"Thus we will free the German reich and all Europe from a menace greater than any since the time of the Huns and later of the Mongol tribes.

"The German people therefore will be with you more than ever before during the few ensuing weeks. What you and allied soldiers have achieved already merits our deepest thanks."

The territory occupied is more than twice as large as the German reich of 1933, and more than four times as large as the English motherland, Hitler said.

Declare Leadership Gone.

Authorized persons described the soviet disaster as one of such magnitude that there was no longer an effective Russian military leadership. Asked whether there were still unified soviet commands, these informants responded:

"There are no commands of any kind."

[The Berlin radio broadcast a Shanghai dispatch quoting "soviet quarters" as reporting that the removal from Moscow of "all government departments, party offices, military offices, and diplomatic missions is in full swing." The broadcast said such reports had been received by soviet adherents in Shanghai from Moscow on Wednesday night. There was no confirmation of this from other sources.]

Over the Bryansk encirclement hundreds of German battle planes and dive bombers were reported beating at the entrapped Russians and completely confusing the Russian defense.

Bomb Encircled Soldiers.

In extraordinarily heavy air attacks on highways and railroads in the vicinity, military dispatches said 60 trains, 17 locomotives, and hundreds of trucks were destroyed in the day's action.

On the assumption widely held in German quarters that the collapse of all European Russian armies was imminent, an authoritative person acknowledged that no one could say whether the soviet union would be able to set up new forces during the coming winter.

"However," he added, "no Russian army could be dangerous to the German forces for more than two weeks. A small German force consisting of tanks, motorized units and, not the least, the German air force, could attack and destroy it in short order."

Supporting Hitler's declaration that Russia would be crushed before the onset of winter, German sources summed up that the Nazis now had broken Marshal Semeon Timoshenko's defense at the center, had penetrated deep into the Ukraine and to the shores of the Azov sea leading to the Caucasus, and had bottled up Marshal Vorshilov's defenders of Leningrad.

Of Leningrad, officials disputed reports that land connection with the city had been reopened by the Russians and said the beleaguered capital of the czars, the second largest city of Russia, has been hermetically sealed from the land side for a month.

London Rush Hour Crowd Caught by 'Gas' Surprise

LONDON, Oct. 9—Thousands of workers hurrying home in the rush hour tonight were caught in a one hour surprise tear gas attack test carried out on the Strand. Many persons who had left their masks at home had to fleet up side streets or into shops to avoid the effects. About 60 persons, mostly women, were treated in first aid trucks. All traffic stopped and drivers donned their masks.

BRITISH-AMERICAN ECONOMIC MISSION TO CHINA BARES AIMS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

HONGKONG, China, Oct. 9.—H. Merle Cochran, United States treasury official, and Sir Otto E. Neimeyer, joint heads of the British-American economic mission which arrived here today by clipper from Manila, revealed that the principal purposes of their presence in Hongkong are: [1] to study the China currency stabilization fund operations; [2] to consider the relation of the American order freezing Japanese credits to the stabilization fund, and [3] to explore China's economic problems and financial aid to China.

This was the first official indication of the scope of the forthcoming conferences in which Cochran and Neimeyer will participate with the stabilization board. Forecasts indicated efforts would be made to eliminate the Shanghai black [illegal] market and possibly evaluate the national currency as compared with the United States dollar and British pound sterling.

Britain Refuses to Suppress Paper That Sneers at U. S.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Oct. 9.—Minister of Home Security Herbert Morrison refused today to suppress the weekly Truth which, according to Laborite Col. Josiah Wedgwood, expressed the views of the outlawed British Union of Fascists and "contained sneers at America and Russia." Morrison said, "It is the desire of the house and the government that there shall be a minimum of interference with the liberty of the press."

PRO-WAR SPEECH IS APPLAUDED BY 'FREEDOM' GROUP

Washington, D. C., Oct. 9 (AP).—Augustus F. Lindbergh, half cousin of the flyer, and Herbert Agar, editor of the Louisville Courier-Journal, were applauded today by the Continental Congress for Freedom when Lindbergh advocated repeal of the neutrality act and Agar "war—preferably tomorrow."

Sitting directly in front of the speakers was Mrs. Dwight W. Morrow, mother-in-law of Charles A. Lindbergh. Like Augustus Lindbergh, she disagrees with the flyer's views on foreign policy. She is a delegate from New Jersey to the two day continental congress, which is sponsored by the Fight for Freedom Committee and is attended by delegates from the 48 states.

Agar would get into the war by creating an aggressive attitude on the part of the people that would uphold a decisive action by the administration. Such a decisive action, he said, would be to send the American merchant fleet, convoyed by the American navy, "straight into British harbors." Hitler would have to fight back, he said.

Agar expressed hope that the continental congress would pass resolutions that would force the war issue. He was named chairman of the resolutions committee, on which are serving Mrs. Morrow; Mrs. Melvyn Douglas, actress; President James B. Conant of Harvard university, and others.

Claims Troubles with U.S. Caused His Plight.

exile today and replaced by a government immediately pledged to "decided support for democratic principles."

The new president issued a statement late tonight declaring: "I can assure that the government which I have just taken over will be inspired by the most absolute sentiments of collaboration in defense of the continent, maintaining always the national dignity and the greatest respect for contractual obligations with the United States."

An urgent cabinet meeting was called for tomorrow with the "no guns" order reported to be on its agenda for reconsideration.

The second vice president of Panama, Ernesto Jaen Guardia, the first eligible successor to Arias who could be reached immediately, was sworn in as president. For three hours he headed an interregnum government in probably the shortest term in history.

Turns Over Presidency.

Then the cabinet he formed called in Ricardo Adolfo de La Guardia, justice minister and physician of pronounced pro-democratic leanings, and handed him the presidency.

Officially, the new government issued a manifesto pledging "decided support for democratic principles now menaced thruout the world and affecting in a very marked manner the republic of Panama because she is situated at the epicenter of continental defense."

Panama police quickly rounded up a number of Arias' followers suspected of pro-axis sympathies and possible fifth column activities.

The jails closed on several of Arias' supporters, including his so-called strong man, the Panama City mayor, Nicolas Ardito Barletta.

Seize Arias' Secretary.

Also arrested was Antonio Isaza, private secretary to the president and former Panamanian consul general in Hamburg, Germany. Isaza was regarded as one of the most convinced Nazi sympathizers in Panama.

Others seized were Cristobal Rodriguez, a presidential secretary, and Enrique Linares, senior manager of the national lottery. A number of Panama police officials were said to have fled.

All police were held in barracks against the possibility of an uprising; no policemen were seen on the streets; all Panama leaves for United States soldiers and sailors from the Canal Zone were cancelled; Panama City and Colon were declared "off limits" for United States officers and men. The staff of Arias' mouthpiece, the newspaper La Tribuna, was reported under arrest.

Arias, 40 year old physician, received his medical education at the University of Chicago and Harvard and once practiced in Boston.

U. S. to Recognize Régime.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 9 (AP).—The United States, informed sources said tonight, will regard Panama's new president, Ricardo Adolfo de la Guardia, as the constitutional ruler of the strategic little republic. Altho the state department withheld all comment on the new developments, other sources said the upset was a complete surprise here.

LEAK IN F.D.R. NOTE TO STALIN STIRS CAPITAL

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 9.—Official Washington was mystified today as to how the German government learned the contents of the personal letter which President Roosevelt sent to Premier Josef Stalin of Russia introducing Averell Harriman, head of the American mission extending aid to the Reds.

Behind the publication of the letter by DNB, the official German news agency, may be a dramatic story as moving as any spy thriller, officials believed.

The presence of spies at the elbow of President Roosevelt was dismissed as an absurd conjecture by officials here.

It is assumed here that a spy hunt is on in Moscow which is bringing every rat hole in the Kremlin under scrutiny of the Russian secret police.

At the state department the possibility that the Germans have solved the department's diplomatic code was a matter for private perturbation, but officials would not comment publicly on the possibility.

MAJ. GEN. POWELL LOSES COMMAND OF 44TH DIVISION

Camden, S. C., Oct. 9 (AP).—Maj. Gen. Clifford R. Powell, 48, well known in New Jersey politics, today was replaced as commander of the 44th division, which is now engaged in Carolina maneuvers.

The action, by Maj. Gen. Lloyd R. Fredendall, commander of the 2d army corps and with the approval of Lieut. Gen. Hugh A. Drum, army commander, came a few hours after a colonel, two lieutenant colonels, and two majors of another division in Fredendall's corps, the 29th [Maryland-Virginia-District of Columbia], had been replaced. All were assigned to "special duty" at headquarters pending reassignment. The 2d corps is composed of the 44th, 29th, and 28th [Pennsylvania] divisions.

Gen. Drum, after a morning conference with Powell, announced formally that the 44th division commander had requested assignment as commander of Fort Dix, N. J., home post of the New Jersey and New York National Guardsmen, in the 44th, an administrative assignment.

Gen. Powell will be succeeded, at least temporarily, by Brig. Gen. James I. Muir, 53, who was a lieutenant colonel overseas, having been graduated from West Point in 1910.

SWEDISH PRINCE INSPECTS FINNISH FRONT IN BATTLE

Heir to Throne Praises Fighters of Reds.

BY DONALD DAY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

HELSINGFORS, Finland, Oct. 9.—Crown Prince Gustav Adolf, heir to the Swedish throne, has been under fire of soviet artillery at the Hango front, it was disclosed here today. The prince went to the front line to visit a corps of Swedish volunteers, many of whom had come to Finland for the second time to fight the bolsheviks.

Prince Gustav Adolf.

After inspecting his countrymen and their quarters, the prince drank coffee with the Swedish officers commanding the sector. Later he made a short speech to his subjects, telling them he was glad to see Swedish soldiers on the Finnish front and that he was certain that they would do their duty.

Sees Ruins of Two Wars.

During the last two days the prince has been visiting the Viipuri [Viborg] front. He toured the ruined city and inspected the battlefields of two wars—the 1939-'40 winter war in which the Red army broke thru the Finnish defenses after more than 10 weeks of attack, and the present conflict.

The great 12 inch shells which came hurtling over the lines during the prince's visit to the trenches were fired by American built naval guns purchased by the czarist Russian government. These weapons were discovered in a Tallinn warehouse by the Estonian government, which sold a number of them to the Finns.

Reds "Lease" Hango Guns.

The guns were mounted at Hango by Finland and fell into the hands of the Reds when that fortified peninsula which guards the mouth of the gulf of Finland was leased to the Russians under the 1940 peace. These guns have seen heavy duty in the long seige of Hango by the Finns.

A number of Finnish guns from the United States are opposing the soviet batteries in a duel which has been proceeding since the present war with Russia began.

Hango is one of two stretches of Finnish territory still in soviet hands. The other is the Fishermen's peninsula, near Petsamo, in the Arctic circle.

TEHERAN HEARS REDS PUT TROOPS IN AFGHANISTAN

BY E. R. NODERER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

TEHERAN, Iran [Persia], Oct. 9.—The British today were checking an unconfirmed report that Russian troops have pushed over the Iranian frontier into Afghanistan. A spokesman of the Afghan embassy said he had no such news, but from other sources it was confirmed that Red reconnaissance patrols have scouted the entire Iranian-Afghan frontier.

Russian troops were reported here to have been sighted at Yezd and Zahedan, which are in the hitherto unoccupied zone southeast of Teheran. Zahedan is 40 miles south of the southern extremity of the Afghan-Iranian frontier, near Baluchistan, India.

The British here are inclined to doubt the Reds have entered Afghanistan. They said such a move would be regarded with great uneasiness in India and expressed the opinion that the Reds sighted along the Afghan frontier were merely small groups visiting the area.

Britain to Call Up More Women for War Work

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Oct. 9.—Labor Minister Ernest Bevin today told the house of commons that a new callup of women for war work will be necessary after the first of the year, when men between the ages of 18 and 40 years automatically will become eligible for an immediate call to the army.

NAZIS EXECUTE 12 MORE CZECHS; 5 JEWS VICTIMS

BERLIN, Oct. 9 (AP).—Twelve more Czechs were executed today after receiving death sentences from courts-martial at Prague and Brunn [Brno], DNB, official German news agency, reported from Prague. This brought the total of announced recent executions in the Bohemia-Moravia protectorate to 152. Ten, including five Jews, were convicted of economic sabotage and two of preparation for high treason and illegal possession of firearms.

SCHENCK BARES 'SHAKEDOWN' BY BROWNE, BIOFF

Tossed $100,000 on Bed in Hotel, He Tells Jury.

BY WILLIAM FULTON.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Oct. 9.—How two union bosses levied tribute of more than half a million dollars from Hollywood's top ranking movie executives by threatening strikes was told in Federal court today by one of the alleged victims, Nicholas M. Schenck, president of Loew's, Inc., largest film enterprise in the world.

Nicholas M. Schenck in court yesterday. [AP Wirephoto.]

Exposing the inner workings of the fabulous movie empire with some reluctance, Schenck testified against George E. Browne, president of the International Alliance of Theatrical Stage Employés, and Willie Bioff, the union's west coast representative and a former pander. They are being tried on extortion charges before a jury in the Federal court of Judge John C. Knox.

$50,000 a Year to Bioff.

While most of the extortion payments were made directly in cash, according to Schenck, he and Bioff devised an ingenious scheme whereby the company's treasury wouldn't have to be tapped for this specific purpose. Under this arrangement Bioff received commissions of $50,000 a year on the sale of raw film to Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, Loew's subsidiary, the witness revealed.

But Bioff was so greedy he refused to return an "advance" of $50,000 after the commissions on raw films started rolling in, Schenck declared.

Before that arrangement in 1937, Schenck, "scared to death" by Bioff's threats, had personally handed over the $50,000 payments. He disclosed he had made two trips to New York City hotel rooms and there tossed a bundle of $50,000 in big bills onto the bed. Each time Bioff and Browne counted the currency and marked it correct.

Kent Also Brings Package.

On his first visit, Schenck disclosed, he was accompanied by Sidney R. Kent, president of 20th Century-Fox Film corporation. Kent threw a similar package on the bed but the witness didn't know how much was in it. Two other companies figuring in the shakedown are Paramount and Warner Brothers.

Schenck, a slight, gray haired, nervous figure, is a native of Russia. He is the brother of Joseph M. Schenck, former chairman of the board of 20th Century-Fox, recently convicted of income tax evasion and facing a three year term in prison.

His all-day narrative, which ranked with some Hollywood film thrillers, started with a opening scene on one fine day in April, 1936, when Browne brought Bioff into his Broadway office. There he met Bioff for the first time and the union czar came to the point immediately after the introduction.

Demands Two Millions.

"Bioff said 'I want you to know I am boss.'" related Schenck. "He said, 'I elected Mr. Browne president of the international for just one purpose. I want to get 2 millions dollars out of the movie industry.'"

"I told him he was crazy but he said 'we have shown you what we can do and you'll have to come thru with it.'"

The reference, Schenck explained, was to a strike of motion picture operators, particularly in Chicago theaters, in December, 1935. Such a strike spells disaster for Hollywood because the box office receipts fail to flow back to the cinema citadel.

Accompanied by Browne, Bioff left Schenck's office, telling him to think it over. Then the next conversation took place on April 16 at the Broadway office where the film executives and union leaders were meeting to make adjustments in the basic agreement governing labor conditions and wages in the industry.

Thinks 2 Million Too Much.

Questioned by United States Attorney Mathias F. Correa, the witness recalled that the only others present were Bioff, Browne, and Kent. He quoted Bioff as saying:

"I've thought the matter over and maybe 2 million dollars a year is too much—I'll take a million."

Despite protests from himself and Kent, Schenck said Bioff delivered an ultimatum that they had to decide by the next meeting, which was on April 18.

"On that day Bioff took us aside and asked us if we had made our minds up," continued Schenck. "He said he had decided they should get $50,000 a year from the big companies and $25,000 from the smaller ones.

Made Their Minds to Yield.

Schenck said they finally made up their minds to yield to the demands on April 21 because they realized they faced ruin if the strikes were called. Bioff called the next day and asked whether Schenck had "the bundle" ready. He pleaded for a "breathing spell" and got one more day's grace.

"The following day I said I was ready and he [Bioff] gave me the number of a room at the Waldorf-Astoria. I got the money from David Bernstein, treasurer of Loew's, all in large bills—$50,000 in United States currency.

Then Schenck and Kent met and went to the Waldorf together, the testimony continued.

"We knocked on the door and Bioff opened it," said Schenck. "Mr. Browne came in shortly afterward from the bathroom.

"There were twin beds there and I put my bundle on the right hand side bed. Bioff took half the money and put the other half on the other bed and told Browne to count it. They said it was correct—$50,000."

Then while Schenck went to the window and smoked a cigaret Kent went thru the same procedure, he said.

Annual Tribute Up Again.

Demands for the annual $50,000 tribute were renewed in 1937 at the basic agreement meeting in New York, the witness went on, but he pleaded with Bioff that the method of payment directly out of company funds was distasteful to him.

It was then that Schenck suggested the money might go to Bioff thru commissions paid on purchases of raw film by M. G. M. Bioff approved with the stipulation that the commissions should be sufficient to cover the income tax his appointed agent would have to pay, in other words, so he would net $50,000 on the transaction.

Schenck said he paid Bioff $50,000 at this time and it was agreed that this would be returned to the company after the commissions started flowing toward Bioff's pockets. But Bioff never repaid the amount, the witness replied sadly.

According to Schenck's recollection, Browne first appeared on the movie horizon in 1935 after his election as IATSE president in 1934.

At this time Browne's international was not a party to the basic agreement. Labor leaders included in the compact were; Dan Tracy, head of the International Brotherhood of Electricians; William Hutchinson, head of the carpenters; Dan Tobin of the teamsters, and Joseph Weber, president of the American Federation of Musicians.

Because the carpenters' and electricians' unions had taken over studio technicians, Browne demanded they be returned to his union and he be given a seat at the conference table.

Operators "Pulled Out."

As a "club" to enforce these demands, Schenck declared, the motion picture operators in Chicago and other cities were "pulled out" on strike and Browne had his way.

Toward the end of the day, under cross-examination by George Breslin, Bioff's Hollywood counsel, Schenck revealed that prior to the strikes in December, 1935, his assistants told him in September that Browne was demanding $100,000 or he would call the union men out. Schenck directed that the money be paid. This alleged extortion was not charged in the indictment.

Schenck's principal difficulty on cross examination was in trying to remember the extent of his income last year. He told Martin Conboy, Browne's attorney, he couldn't recall exactly but he thought it was around $300,000 or $325,000.

When Conboy continued to press for an exact figure, Judge Knox ruled amid a roar of laughter from the spectators that the witness could give a rough idea of his income "within $50,000 or $75,000." Schenck said he was under oath and didn't want to give the exact amount until he obtained it from his lawyers.

There were further attempts to elicit from the witness that Bioff and Schenck's brother, Joseph, were intimate friends and therefore the two brothers must have talked about the shakedown payments. Schenck denied this.

MOVIE OPERATORS SAY UNION IS BROKE, ASK FOR RECEIVER

Newark, N. J., Oct. 9 [Special].—Members of the Newark local of the AFL Motion Picture Machine Operators union, an affiliate of the International Alliance of Theatrical Stage Employés, today asked Vice Chancellor John C. Bigelow to appoint a receiver for the local, alleging that Louis Kaufman, its business manager, had so oppressed the membership and misused its funds that it was now insolvent.

Kaufman, now free on $15,000 bail, recently was indicted in connection with a conspiracy to extort a million dollars from four motion picture concerns. Also indicted with Kaufman was Nick Dean, alias Nick Circella, Chicago gangster, now a fugitive sought as a material witness in the current trial of George Browne, IATSE international president, and his Hollywood "representative," Willie Bioff, former Chicago pander. Browne and Bioff were mentioned in the Kaufman-Dean indictment, but were not named as defendants.

PUBLISHER RAPS KIWANIS ACTION ON WAR ISSUES

Walter T. Woodcock, publisher of the Elgin [Ill.] Tribune and chairman of the citizenship and public affairs committee of the Elgin Kiwanis club, last night protested against the action of club leaders in injecting the war issue into the recent convention of Illinois and eastern Iowa Kiwanis clubs in Springfield, Ill.

Woodcock said several resolutions adopted at the convention indorsing the President's war policies were uncalled for political maneuvering in a civic and nonpartisan group. He said he would call a meeting of his committee to draw up a resolution condemning club leaders for their action.

"I feel that before we indorse any foreign policy of the President we first want some questions answered," he said. "I want to know if the administration is going to take immediate action to abolish gross waste and inefficiency in the administration of the lease-lend bill and the present arms program." Woodcock is chairman of the Elgin chapter of the America First committee.

HELEN MORGAN'S GOLDEN CAREER ENDS PENNILESS

Earned Million; Charity Pays Hospital.

BY MARCIA WINN.

Funeral services for Helen Morgan, torch singer whose sultry, provocative voice once was imitated thruout the world, will be held at 10 a. m. tomorrow in a little chapel at 110 North La Grange road, La Grange.

From all over America messages of condolence came yesterday to her husband, Lloyd Johnson of Los Angeles, and her mother, Mrs. Lulu Morgan of High Falls, N. Y. So did offers to help pay for her funeral. For Helen Morgan, to whom a voice with a nostalgic quaver had brought an income estimated at more than a million dollars, died penniless in Henrotin hospital Wednesday night.

To pay her $527 hospital bill her husband futilely tried to find, that he might pawn, her silver fox coat. The bill was paid, but not from her estate. She had none. It was paid by the Theater authority, the charity agency of the actors' unions. It likewise will bear all expenses of her simple funeral.

Once Earned $3,500 a Week.

The saga is a tragic and not unfamiliar one. It is the story of a black haired girl, dead at 37 from a liver ailment, who soared to fame and riches when 19.

Fabulous sums of money slipped thru her hands. For sitting on a piano in a night club and singing a simple song, "My Bill," she received as high as $3,500 a week. At the same time she was starring in a Ziegfeld production, "Show Boat," and she received $1,500 a week. Once she sang for $3,000 a week in Texas Guinan's Palais Royale, and as recently as 1939 she received $2,500 a week at the Chez Paree.

Wherever she went, she was mobbed. The many who never saw her in person heard her voice on recordings, for which she received rich royalties, or they saw and heard her on the screen.

This all was in her heyday, and it was a long heyday. It lasted 16 years—from 1923 to 1939—far beyond the range of the average public darling who flares up in the night, flames and is gone.

Tries a Comeback Here.

Early in September she attempted a comeback. She was to be starred at a Chicago theater in a George White production. She appeared one day; the next day she was in the hospital. Then came an operation, a deceptive gain in strength, a relapse.

This week, as the black haired singer grew weaker, the hospital worried about her large, unpaid bill. Friends in Hollywood and New York sent her flowers daily by air express, but had no inkling that her golden hoard of funds was gone. Finally Miss Morgan mustered her strength, told friends to find George White. "He owes me money," she said. "He also has my trunk. My sable scarf and silver fox coat are in it. Sell them."

White failed to answer. Then the American Guild of Variety Artists stepped in. It charged that White had been paid $6,500 for the week in Chicago, payment having been made with the understanding that Miss Morgan receive her $700 salary in full, altho she appeared only one day.

Complaint Filed Against White.

"I sent White a 300 word wire," Jack Irving, executive secretary, said. "I called him. I failed to reach him. As a result we have entered a complaint to all theatrical guilds. We intend to see to it that he produces no more equity shows—in the theator, on the air, in a café, anywhere."

In New York Jonas T. Silverstone, national counsel for the American Guild of Variety of Artists, said that White paid Miss Morgan only $100, this for the day she was able to work.

He added that White has ignored messages from he guild concerning payment of the additional $600.

"We were seeking to recover for Miss Morgan all money due her," he said, "and now are seeking to recover this for her estate."

Efforts to reach White last night for comment on the charges were unsuccessful.

Telegrams came yesterday from a wide assortment of Miss Morgan's friends — Gloria Swanson, Martha Raye, Jack Dempsey, and Joan Crawford. Many offered to help. Chicago actors hurried to offer assistance. Joe E. Lewis, master of ceremonies, was one. He walked into the office of Max Halperin, western director of the Theater authority, and laid $200 down on a table.

"I knew Helen well," he said. "If you need any more, call on me"

Friends Explain Poverty.

Miss Morgan's friends had an explanation for her poverty. They said she lived liberally and gave liberally, supported a host of relatives and friends while she could, and for years was the lady bountiful to all theatrical unfortunates.

"Helen did everything quietly," her husband said. "But she did leave one fortune—a fortune of friends."

Numerous anecdotes of Miss Morgan's career were recalled yesterday. One story concerned a European tour when she was chosen for a command performance before the duke of Windsor, then prince of Wales. An English lord cautioned her that she must not sing any vulgar songs, to which she replied: "If I do, you'll have to teach them to me." The Britisher departed in a dither.

22 Tanks of Fish.

In 1933 she had 22 tanks full of small fish in her house—all the result of receiving two fish as a birthday present.

"What a present!" she said. "What am I supposed to do with these fish? Then I watched them for several days, and I kept buying fish. I had to fix up a special room for them. Of course, a lot of little ones are born every morning—worse than guinea pigs. Lou look at a tank in the morning and there are only two fish in it; you look at it that night and it's swarming with fish. It's very romantic. It makes you have faith in fish."

Miss Morgan preferred men's clothes, almost never wore stockings. For years she used little makeup, even in the theater, and did not like perfume or jewelry. She often wore overalls in her home, taxied to the theater in her pajamas.

Divorces Mate

[TRIBUNE Photo.]

Mrs. May White holding daughter, Patricia.

"I wanted a husband and a home, not just a dancing partner," Mrs. May White, 20 years old, 1840 North Whipple street, told Judge Rudolph Desort yesterday, and the judge granted her a divorce from Charles White, 23, a metal spinner, on the ground of cruelty.

Questioned by her attorney, Harry X. Cole, Mrs. White said she met White at a north side ballroom, that they both enjoyed dancing, and they married June 29, 1940.

"But Charles insisted that we live apart," she said. "He would call on me every night and take me dancing. When I asked him to make a home, he struck me. We separated last Feb. 1."

Mrs. White waived alimony, but was awarded $6 a week support for her daughter, Patricia, 6 months old.

PLAN DEDICATION OF MEMORIAL TO HORNER SUNDAY

A 15 ton granite memorial to the late Gov. Henry Horner will be dedicated at 3 p. m. Sunday in a quiet ceremony at Mount Mayriv cemetery.

The memorial, a double bench of polished brown South Dakota granite, surmounted by a 30 foot flagpole, is at the entrance to the cemetery. It is 18½ feet wide and 6 feet high and has been erected by the governor's cousins, Robert and Henry Straus of Chicago.

Judge John C. Lewe of the Superior court will make the principal dedicatory address. Rabbis Louis Mann and Jacob Weinstein also will speak. Members of the Board of Trade post of the American Legion will elevate the flag.

Altho Gov. Horner is buried in the cemetery, the new memorial is not a marker for his grave, which is distinguished only by a family marker.

ARRAIGN SOLDIER IN $9,500 THEFT; TRIAL DELAYED

Dawn C. Taylor, 29 years old, an army conscript, accused of stealing $9,500 and the love of an Iowa school teacher, was arraigned yesterday on a charge of operating a confidence game. Judge Irwin J. Hasten of the Felony court continued the hearing until today to allow Detective Samuel Block more opportunity to prepare the case. Taylor was arrested at Camp Bowie, Brownwood, Tex., and returned Wednesday to Chicago. The complainant, Miss Geraldine McLees of 820 Bowen avenue, who said she parted with the money after Taylor promised to wed her, was not in court.

When most suits are ready to "get the air", your Spartan is just getting its second wind.

Collar button hunters will stalk their game with unruffled serenity in a stout-hearted Spartan.

Baggy knees and wrinkled back never spoil the fun when you "horse around" with Spartan.

Go ahead — give it the works! Here's one suit you never need pamper. Tear into your busy day, give that Spartan Worsted a sound beating—then watch it come up with a smile, asking for more. Stretch, twist, rub it—crawl on your knees if you will—and there's your Spartan, crisp and smooth as though it had just come from under the tailor's iron. Expensive, long-staple yarn does it — brimming with vitality, primed with wrinkle-resisting spring. Double weaving adds the crowning touch — full-bodied ruggedness that feels silky soft in your hands. Yes, sir — it's probably a new experience to enjoy so much vigorous good looks for as little as $30, including two trousers. That's why "Bond's—today or tomorrow" should top your list of things to do.

There goes the 5:15—and your Spartan Worsted still as fresh looking as it was ten hours ago.

ARMING OF SHIPS MEANS U. S. WAR, CRY IN CONGRESS

ported all administration foreign policy legislation, including the draft extension and lease-lend measures. He revealed that he parted company with Mr. Roosevelt following the latter's "shoot on sight" order issued to the navy several weeks ago.

Begin Hearings Monday.

Joint resolutions covering the proposed change in the law were introduced in both chambers. Rep. Sol Bloom [D., N. Y.], chairman of the house foreign affairs committee, and Sen. Tom Connally [D., Tex.], chairman of the senate foreign relations committee, announced that their respective groups will begin hearings on Monday.

The tentative schedule of administration leaders calls for the measure to be reported to the house floor Wednesday or Thursday, with the administration majority ready to jam it thru to passage before the end of the week. The senate is not expected to receive the resolution for floor consideration until house action is completed. This strategy was mapped at White House conferences yesterday and the day before.

Concedes Lack of Strength.

Originally, it was reported, Mr. Roosevelt was prepared to ask now for power to arm merchant ships and also to send them into the war zones. But congressional leaders are said to have warned him that he might not have enough votes in the house to insure passage of both proposals in one swoop.

Remembering the narrow 203 to 202 margin by which the house approved the draft extension measure, the President bowed to this advice, with the probability that as soon as he has power to arm the ships he will demand the added power to send them into belligerent areas.

Administration opponents have served notice of their intention to fight the proposal to the final roll call. Today, they remained hopeful that they yet will upset Mr. Roosevelt's plans.

Foes Agree on Strategy.

Approximately 60 anti-war members of congress sat down quietly last night with Sen. Robert A. Taft [R., O.] to map their campaign. Afterward it was announced that minority members of the house foreign affairs committee will insist upon holding at least a week of hearings instead of the two or three days allowed in Chairman Bloom's schedule.

"There is no disposition on the part of the minority to delay consideration of the President's proposal for the arming of our merchant marine," said Representative Hamilton Fish [R., N. Y.], ranking minority member of the committee. "But I am opposed to any hurried hearing before the committee. Most of the minority members of the committee are opposed to the measure and will submit their report to the house along with that of the majority."

Hint at Senate Filibuster.

It has been reported that noninterventionists in the senate may seek to prevent passage of the measure thru a filibuster which might delay action for weeks or months. Nothing along this line was considered at the anti-war strategy meeting, according to those who were there, but the capital was recalling today that President Woodrow Wilson's attempt to arm merchant ships was killed by a filibuster in 1917.

Sen. Gerald P. Nye [R., N. D.], a leading senate noninterventionist, is one of those who has raised the filibuster possibility.

"I don't know what is going to happen to this resolution," he has been quoted as saying. "But I do know what happened to Wilson's bill. History could repeat itself."

Martin Backs Nye Charge.

Today, following the reading of the President's message, Nye charged that the President plainly desires outright repeal of the neutrality act, but does not dare ask for it for fear of a repudiation of his policies by congress. In this he was joined by Rep. Joseph W. Martin [R., Mass.], house minority leader.

"It is obvious that while the administration is asking only one thing this time, the general purpose is to bring about complete repeal of the neutrality act," Rep. Martin declared.

"I shall oppose repeal of any section of the neutrality law, because it would increase the possibility of incidents that would facilitate our entrance into the war," declared Rep. Garry Coffee [D., Neb.].

Recalls Her Anti-Wilson Vote.

Another who assailed the move is Rep. Jeannette Rankin [R., Mont.], one of the few remaining members of congress who voted on the war resoluton which plunged the United States into the last war.

"I will vote against this bill, just as I voted against Wilson's," she said. "I worked for the neutralty act to keep us out of the war and I refuse to give it up now."

Mr. Roosevelt sought to allay the nation's war fears by declaring that the proposed revision of the act does not call for war "any more than the lease-lend act called for a declaration of war." It is a matter of essential defense of American rights, he averred.

CLEAR TO ALL

In a speech on Oct. 28, 1940 — just before his third term election — President Roosevelt said:

"By the Neutrality Act of 1935 and by other steps . . . we made it clear to every American and to every foreign nation that we would avoid becoming entangled (in war) thru some episode beyond our borders. These were measures to keep us at peace. And thru all the years of war since 1935 there has been no entanglement and there will be no entanglement. . . . We shall continue to go forward in firm faith. We shall continue to go forward in peace."

TEXT OF MESSAGE

Washington, D. C., Oct. 9 (AP).—The text of President Roosevelt's message to congress on revision of the neutrality law follows:

"It is obvious to all of us that world conditions have changed violently since the first American neutrality act of 1935. The neutrality act of 1939 was passed at a time when the true magnitude of the Nazi attempt to dominate the world was visualized by few persons.

"We heard it said, indeed, that this new European war was not a real war, and that the contending armies would remain behind their impregnable fortifications and never really fight. In this atmosphere the neutrality act seemed reasonable. But so did the Maginot line.

"Since then—in these past two tragic years—war has spread from continent to continent; very many nations have been conquered and enslaved; great cities have been laid in ruins; millions of human beings have been killed, soldiers and sailors and civilians alike. Never before has such widespread devastation been visited upon God's earth and God's children. The pattern of the future—the future as Hitler seeks to shape it—is now as clear and as ominous as the headlines of today's newspapers.

"Thru these years of war, we Americans have never been neutral in thought. We have never been indifferent to the fate of Hitler's victims. And, increasingly, we have become aware of the peril to ourselves, to our democratic traditions and institutions, to our country, and to our hemisphere.

"We have known what victory for the aggressors would mean to us. Therefore, the American people, thru the congress, have taken important and costly steps to give great aid to those nations actively fighting against Nazi-Fascist domination.

"We know that we could not defend ourselves in Long Island sound or in San Francisco bay. That would be too late. It is the American policy to defend ourselves wherever such defense becomes necessary under the complex conditions of modern warfare.

Must Not Be Hampered.

"Therefore, it has become necessary that this government should not be handicapped in carrying out the clearly announced policy of the congress and of the people. We must face the truth that the neutrality act requires a complete reconsideration in the light of known facts.

"The revisions which I suggest do not call for a declaration of war any more than the lend-lease act called for a declaration of war. This is a matter of essential defense of American rights.

"In the neutrality act are various crippling provisions. The repeal or modification of these provisions will not leave the United States any less neutral than we are today, but will make it possible for us to defend the Americas far more successfully, and to give aid far more effectively against the tremendous forces now marching toward conquest of the world.

Refers to Zones of Combat.

"Under the neutrality act, we established certain areas as zones of combat into which no American flag ships could proceed. Hitler proclaimed certain far larger areas as zones of combat into which any neutral ship, regardless of its flag or the nature of its cargo, could proceed only at its peril.

"We know now that Hitler recognizes no limitation on any zone of combat in any part of the seven seas. He has struck at our ships and at the lives of our sailors within the waters of the western hemisphere. Determined as he is to gain domination of the entire world, he considers the entire world his own battlefield.

"Ships of the United States and other American republics continue to be sunk, not only in the imaginary zone proclaimed by the Nazis in the North Atlantic, but also in the zoneless South Atlantic.

Points to Past Arming.

"I recommend the repeal of section 6 of the act of Nov. 4, 1939, which prohibits the arming of American flag ships engaged in foreign commerce.

"The practice of arming merchant ships for civilian defense is an old one. It has never been prohibited by international law. Until 1937 it had never been prohibited by any statute of the United States. Thru our whole history American merchant vessels have been armed whenever it was considered necessary for their own defense.

"It is an imperative need now to equip American merchant vessels with arms. We are faced not with the old type of pirates, but with the modern pirates of the sea who travel beneath the surface or on the surface or in the air, destroying defenseless ships without warning and without provision for the safety of the passengers and crews.

"Our merchant vessels are sailing the seas on missions connected with the defense of the United States. It is not just that the crews of these vessels should be denied the means of defending their lives and their ships.

Safety Move, He Says.

"Altho the arming of merchant vessels does not guarantee their safety, it most certainly adds to their safety. In the event of an attack by a raider they have a chance to keep the enemy at a distance until help comes. In the case of an attack oy air, they have at least a chance to shoot down the enemy or keep the enemy at such height that it cannot make a sure hit.

"If it is a submarine, the armed merchant ship compels the submarine to use a torpedo while submerged—and many torpedoes thus fired miss their mark. The submarine can no longer rise to the surface within a few hundred yards and sink the merchant ship by gunfire at its leisure.

"Already we take many precautions against the danger of mines—and it seems somewhat incongruous that we have authority today to 'degauss' our ships as a protection against mines, whereas we have no authority to arm them in protection against aircraft or raiders or submarines.

[The degaussing process of protecting ships from mines consists of a cable belt demagnetizing arrangement perfected by a French marine expert named De Gauss.]

Urges Immediate Action.

"The arming of our ships is a matter of immediate necessity and extreme urgency. It is not more important than some other crippling provisions in the present act, but anxiety for the safety of our crews and of the almost priceless goods that are within the holds of our ships leads me to recommend that you, with all speed, strike the prohibition against arming our ships from the statute books.

"There are other phases of the neutrality act to the correction of which I hope the congress will give earnest and early attention. One of these provisions is of major importance. I believe that it is essential to the proper defense of our country that we cease giving the definite assistance which we are now giving to the aggressors. For, in effect, we are inviting their control of the seas by keeping our ships out of the ports of our own friends.

"It is time for this country to stop playing into Hitler's hands, and to unshackle our own.

Cites Shipbuilding Program.

"A vast number of ships are sliding into the water from American shipbuilding ways. We are lending them to the enemies of Hitlerism and they are carrying food and supplies and munitions to belligerent ports in order to withstand Hitler's juggernaut.

"Most of the vital goods authorized by the congress are being delivered. Yet many of them are being sunk, and as we approach full production requiring the use of more ships now being built it will be increasingly necessary to deliver American goods under the American flag.

"We cannot, and should not, depend on the strained resources of the exiled nations of Norway and Holland to deliver our goods nor should we be forced to masquerade American owned ships behind the flags of our sister republics.

"I earnestly trust that the congress will carry out the true intent of the lend-lease act by making it possible for the United States to help to deliver the articles to those who are in a position effectively to use them. In other words, I ask for congressional action to implement congressional policy. Let us be consistent.

"I would not go back to the earlier days when private traders could gamble with American life and property in the hope of personal gain, and thereby embroil this country in some incident in which the American public had no direct interest. But, today, under the controls exercised by the government, no ship and no cargo can leave the United States, save on an errand which has first been approved by governmental authority. And the test of that approval is whether the exportation will promote the defense of the United States.

"I cannot impress too strongly upon the congress the seriousness of the military situation that confronts all of the nations that are combating Hitler.

Hitler Racing Against Time.

"We would be blind to the realities if we did not recognize that Hitler is now determined to expend all the resources and all the mechanical force and manpower at his command to crush both Russia and Britain. He knows that he is racing against time. He has heard the rumblings of revolt among the enslaved peoples—including the Germans and Italians. He fears the mounting force of American aid. He knows that the days in which he may achieve total victory are numbered.

"Therefore, it is our duty, as never before, to extend more and more assistance and ever more swiftly to Britain, to Russia, to all peoples and individuals fighting slavery. We must do this without fear or favor. The ultimate fate of the western hemisphere lies in the balance.

"I say to you solemnly that if Hitler's present military plans are brought to successful fulfillment, we Americans shall be forced to fight in defense of our own homes and our own freedom in a war as costly and as devastating as that which now rages on the Russian front.

Sees Hitler Challenge.

"Hitler has offered a challenge which we as Americans cannot and will not tolerate.

"We will not let Hitler prescribe the waters of the world on which our ships may travel. The American flag is not going to be driven from the seas either by his submarines, his airplanes, or his threats.

"We cannot permit the affirmative defense of our rights to be annulled and diluted by sections of the neutrality act which have no realism in the light of unscrupulous ambition of madmen.

"We Americans have determined our course.

"We intend to maintain the security and the integrity and the honor of our country.

"We intend to maintain the policy of protecting the freedom of the seas against domination by any foreign power which has become crazed with a desire to control the world. We shall do so with all our strength and all our heart and all our mind."

WOOD RIPS PLAN TO SEND SHIPS INTO WAR ZONE

Pledges America First to Fight Proposal.

Gen. Robert E. Wood, acting national chairman of the America First committee, asserted last night that President Roosevelt's message to congress yesterday urging that American ships be sent into war zones was a request to congress "to issue an engraved drowning license to American seamen." The America First leader pledged a vigorous drive by all members and chapters of the organization to defeat the proposal.

"This is one proposal which cannot be disguised as a step away from war. The American people will recognize it at once for what it is," said Gen. Wood. "It will mean that American ships will be sunk—American lives lost—and that the country will be led into war on a wave of hysteria just as it was in 1917. Once in the war, the British generals tell us, we will have to send a huge AEF.

Cites President's Words.

"The wisdom of keeping our ships out of zones of peril was recognized by the President himself when the present neutrality law was introduced. He said, on Sept. 21, 1939:

"'This government clearly and definitely will insist that American citizens and American ships keep away from the immediate perils of the actual zones of conflict.'

"This policy, as written into the law, has accomplished its purpose. It has kept us out of war, and not one American ship has been attacked in the war zones and not one American life lost under the American flag. Now the President, and all those who advocate our immediate involvement, realize that we will never go to war while this law stands. They seek its repeal, altho there is less practical need for repeal today than at any time since the war began.

British Tonnage at New High.

"British shipping is now at its greatest efficiency since the inception of the war. Its tonnage is at a new high, and its losses at a new low. England has just offered to return to us 10 American tankers which she does not need. Yet in March of 1941, when British shipping was in grave danger, congress not only found it unnecessary to tamper with the neutrality law, but expressly reaffirmed that law in passing the lease-lend bill.

"The President's attempt to distort the plain meaning of the lend-lease act is an amazing affront to the intelligence of congress and the people. His statement is contrary to the intelligence of congress and the people. His statement is contrary to the express language of the law, which states in section 3, subsection 5 [e]: 'Nothing in this act shall be construed to authorize or to permit the authorization of the entry of any American vessel into a combat area in violation of section 3 of the neutrality act of 1939.'

Law's Purpose Recalled.

"The stated purpose of the lease-lend law was to keep us out of war, and it specifically excluded the possibility that we should 'deliver the goods,' either by convoys or by use of American merchant ships. Consistency—which is what the President proposes to seek—requires that the neutrality law be kept intact.

"The proposal cannot, of course, be justified even by the most strained interpretation of the doctrine of freedom of the seas. That freedom has never included the right to send supplies of war to one belligerent. To attempt to do so is to invite the other belligerent power to take appropriate steps to prevent delivery.

Tells Reason for Repeal Cry.

"The only reason for repeal of the combat zone prohibition is the war party's need for a series of incendiary incidents. The American people have remained properly indifferent to the sinkings of Panamanian ships, which have been made possible by deliberate evasion of the neutrality law. It is to be expected the people will be conveniently aroused by attacks upon the American flag.

"This bald attempt to inflame America for war must be answered in no uncertain terms by congress and the American people. The America First committee, which has worked for one year to enforce the will of 80 per cent of the people who wish to stay out of war, will make this the occasion for its most vigorous drive. Beginning immediately our chapters and members thruout the country will work incessantly to prevent this latest fraud. In this fight we will back to the limit those members of congress who courageously represent the people's stand against involvement in the European war."

TRUCK DRIVERS LEGION POST HITS PRO-WAR MOVES

Poll of Rank and File Is Proposed by Speaker.

The Chicago Truck Drivers post No. 816 of the American Legion last night joined the growing roster of posts opposing the war mongering resolutions steamrollered thru the recent national convention of the Legion at Milwaukee.

Speakers assailed those responsible for the pro-war stand taken there in the name of the Legion, and the post heard a proposal that a national straw vote be taken to make clear the real feelings of the rank and file. The Legion's membership had little or no voice in action on the bellicose resolutions at Milwaukee, speakers asserted.

Assails Roosevelt Policy.

Frank J. Garvey, past commander of the truck drivers' post, assailed particularly resolutions upholding the Roosevelt foreign policy and advocating formation of a second AEF.

"England is sending a stream of men—propagandists—over here to tell us it's our war. These men are eligible for service in their own country. They would do England more good on the firing line. It must be said, however, that in helping England we are helping a democracy.

"But China is no democracy. And as for Bloody Joe Stalin of Russia, I say let him go to Hell.

"The Legion stands for Americanism. Americanism means obeying the constitution. In supporting the President's foreign policy and advocating a new AEF we are in spirit violating the constitution, which provides that only congress can declare war and send our soldiers to fight."

Objects to Leadership.

Arthur Korn, adjutant of the post, took issue with Garvey, asserting the President shouldn't be contradicted and warning that nonintervention would mean a lowering of the American living standard. Ben Garvey, brother of the first speaker, then said that a small Legion group had jammed thru the prowar resolutions.

"We are not opposing the President," he said. "We are opposing a small group that sold a bill of goods to the rank and file at Milwaukee. Those men did not have the sanction of the majority membership."

Ben Ross, another member, then made the proposal for a national straw vote, charging that the "pay roll" delegates" who passed the war resolutions had gotten instructions from other than their fellow post members.

Ernest Gross, commander of the post, then called for a voice vote on whether the post approved the policy of National Commander Lynn U. Stambaugh, who indorsed the Milwaukee resolutions. There was a heavy majority of "No!"

CHIEF OF LEGION WARNS RED PERIL MUST BE FOUGHT

Fargo, N. D., Oct. 9 (AP)—Lynn U. Stambaugh, national commander of the American Legion, tonight declared that "it should be quite clear to any thinking American that the present quasi-community of interest between Russia and the United States will tend to make the task of the communist party in America easier."

The newly elected Legion commander, in an address at a homecoming celebration, warned that "unless we are on our guard communist agitators and espionage agents will not encounter the same unfriendly resistance as in the past.

"This is no time to forget our opposition to communism. But it certainly would be inconsistent to pray as we do for the defeat of Hitler before he becomes a greater threat to the United States, and, at the same time, impede the efforts of any nation engaged in combat with him."

ROOSEVELT WAR POLICY BLASTED BY METHODISTS

Conference Cites Steps Toward Shooting.

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.

President Roosevelt's war policy was condemned in a resolution adopted almost unanimously yesterday by the Rock River [Northern Illinois] conference of the Methodist church in session in the Wilmette parish church. The resolution, citing "step by step" involvement of the nation in the European war, was feebly opposed by several of the older and retired members of the conference.

Dr. Ernest F. Tittle.

Only one speech, that of Dr. John L. Dickson, a retired member, was made against the strongly worded criticism of the administration's policy. No count was taken of the vote, which showed hands of a dozen or so of the 350 members opposed to the resolution. Dr. Ernest F. Tittle of the First Methodist church in Evanston, chairman of the conference peace commission, presented the resolution.

Remind President of Pledges.

"We deplore administrative actions that, step by step, are involving us in a shooting war, tho undeclared, without giving the national congress a chance to exercise its constitutional right in the matter and without regard for the predominant sentiment of the nation," the resolution stated.

"We respectfully remind the President of his emphatic and repeated promise not to send our boys to wars overseas.

"We believe that our nation can best serve mankind by abstaining from belligerent participation in present wars, by employing its immense resources for the constructive ministry of healing and rehabilitation and by associating itself with other nations, at the earliest possible moment, in earnest effort to rebuild the world on a foundation of justice and coöperation for the good of all."

Similar to Iowa Stand.

This portion of the resolution was described as being almost identical with one recently adopted by the Upper Iowa conference of the Methodist church.

Dr. Dickson offered a motion to expunge the portion of the resolution which criticized "step by step" actions of the administration "involving us in a shooting war." His motion was defeated by an overwhelming vote.

BURNS TO DEATH IN HOME.

Washington, Ind., Oct. 9 [Special].—Mason Tate, 50, retired, was burned to death last night when fire destroyed his home near here. Other members of the family were not at home when the fire was discovered.

ILLINOIS LEGION POSTS SEEK 800 NAVY RECRUITS

The 805 American Legion posts in the state have joined in a drive to enlist more than 800 men in the United States navy before Navy day, Oct. 27. Each post is expected to enlist at least one man.

Lieut. David N. Goldenson, chief naval recruiting officer here, said the present personnel of the navy totals 293,000 officers and men to man the 338 combat ships now in commission. "We are building 353 more fighting ships and when completed the two ocean fleet will require a half million men," he said.

Lieut. Goldenson said the recruits will be sworn in at ceremonies in Soldiers' field on Sunday, Oct. 26, the day before Navy day. Assisting in the drive are Arthur E. Canty, commander of the Cook county council of the Legion; Francis E. Phelan, vice commander of the Legion in the state, and Perce Brautigam, secretary of the Illinois Council of the Navy League of the United States.

SEE NEW PROOF OF PROGRAM FOR 10 MILLION ARMY

Purchasing on Vast Scale Cited as Evidence.

To Pay for Lend Aid

Washington, D. C., Oct. 9 (AP).—President Roosevelt has informed Sen. Arthur H. Vandenberg [R., Mich.] that the Netherlands government has agreed to make full cash reimbursement for lend-lease materials and that the British now are studying a repayment system for aid given them. The President's letter, made public by Vandenberg, who had asked the White House for a report on progress of repayment negotiations, said that the basic principles for British aid repayments had been formulated and communicated to London.

BY WILLARD EDWARDS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 9.—A survey of war department purchases of personal military equipment today brought to light additional evidence that the Roosevelt administration is apparently bent upon establishing an army of 10,000,000 soldiers to police the world. The situation was discussed in the house debate on the second lend-lease bill.

THE TRIBUNE last week, in an analysis of the available figures on costs of ordnance and other fighting equipment, found that an army of 10,000,000 could be equipped for about 20 billion dollars. The total commitment of the arms spending program is approaching 65 billion dollars.

An examination of recent purchases by the quartermasters' corps revealed the stupendous nature of the personal equipment buying program. The army has been buying on such a vast scale, with orders distributed among hundreds of firms, that only some outstanding items could be gleaned from the mountainous files.

Cloth for 10 Million.

In a single day, Sept. 5, the corps placed orders for 39,464,540 yards of cotton twill uniform cloth, khaki color, at a cost of $23,334,474. This one day's purchase would be sufficient to manufacture 10 million uniforms.

A conservative estimate, based upon the figures available, indicated that the war department has bought more than 600 million yards of various kinds of fabrics.

In the last 18 months, the quartermaster corps has purchased more than 12 million blankets at a cost of $79,960,000, which is in addition to vast stocks already on hand.

Secretary of War Henry L. Stimson has asserted that Africa is an increasingly dangerous area for enemies of Hitler. Hints of an African campaign by an American expeditionary force were seen in the purchase of more than 40 million yards of mosquito netting at a cost of $8,669,000. This is enough netting to run a strip around the earth at the equator.

Some of the other items uncovered in the buying program:

Cooks' and bakers' coats and trousers, $1,525,000; raincoats, $16,598,000, at prices ranging up to $4 each. Clinical thermometers, $513,597 in the last three months, a total of approximately 1,500,000 thermometers at an average of 33 cents each. Hospital equipment, 50 million dollars. Shoes, 10 million pairs, at a cost of 38 million dollars.

On Oct. 1 the army strength was estimated at 1,582,000, including officers. Officers buy their own clothing and equipment.

Gloves and mittens, $12,500,000, including a purchase on July 26 of 13,929 pairs of fur mittens at $15.73 per pair. Approximately 10 million pairs of gloves have been purchased in recent months. Neckties, 15,000,000. In one day, Aug. 19, orders were placed for 8,720,000 pairs of cotton drawers.

In the debate on the second aid to Britain bill, carrying approximately 6 billion dollars, Rep. Clare E. Hoffman [R., Mich.] called attention to THE TRIBUNE'S account of last week.

Points to Size of Program.

"The story pointed out," said Hoffman, "that the last war, when we sent an AEF of more than 2,000,000 men to fight in Europe, cost us around 22 billion dollars. The present program of the Roosevelt administration calls for an expenditure of approximately three times the cost of the last World war.

"The average American should not forget that he is now paying a tax which is $3 more per capita than that paid by the people of Britain.

Several participants in the debate commented critically upon the disclosure that the British government was selling to its people food shipped free from the United States and retaining the proceeds. Rep. Robert F. Jones [R., O.] told the house of another example of the British attitude towards the lend-lease program.

A certain industry in this country, Jones said, had a branch plant in London. The British purchasing commission ordered 500 military units of the factory's product, which was not identified. Officials of the industry discovered that they had the needed units in their London warehouse.

Want to Buy in America.

"But the British said they didn't want the units in London because they would have to pay cash," Jones declared. "They wanted to purchase here out of lend-lease funds."

Interventionists in the house argued firmly against an amendment to the measure prohibiting the use of any part of the new 6 billion fund for Stalin's forces.

Rep. Clifton A. Woodrum [D., Va.], a critic of the President's domestic policies but an administration follower in the foreign policy, said he hoped that "a sizable and effective portion of lease-lend material will find its way to the Russian armies."

"We all abhor the soviet persecution of the Christian church," he declared. "We repudiate the lack of morality in Russia and its ruthless and bloody purges.

"I don't like a rattlesnake and Stalin can be regarded as one. But if I could get hold of a rattlesnake and had the opportunity I'd like to slip it up the pants leg of Adolf Hitler."

MRS. MARION STOLLAR.

Judge Joseph Sabath yesterday awarded Mrs. Marion Stollar, 26 years old, 3260 Maypole avenue, temporary alimony of $7.50 a week while her divorce suit, which charges cruelty and desertion, is pending. Under questioning of her attorney, Irving Eisenman, Mrs. Stollar told the court that her husband, Morris, 31, a bartender whom she married in 1934, was so jealous of her that he would not even permit her to have girl friends. The couple separated Oct. 1, 1940.

AIDS FEW VETS AND FINDS HE HAS JOB AGENCY

Free Service So Big It Needs a Sponsor.

The generous offer of a man to help find jobs for several unemployed veterans has led to a back to work movement on the southwest side. Since April this free employment agency has interviewed 1,300 unemployed men and women and placed more than 700 in jobs.

It all started when Alfred J. Howe, 6201 South Richmond street, an insurance man, agreed to call on some of his friends in personnel jobs and try to place several ex-service men.

"They came to me because I am chairman of the 15th ward division of the Illinois Republican Service Men's league," Howe explained. "But once I started talking to employers, I found many more jobs than I had men to fill them."

Too Big for One Man.

At first he tried to place only veterans, Howe said, but when an employer took a veteran and then asked Howe to find some young men and women, he felt obligated to do whatever he could. Soon the project became too big for him to handle alone and he appealed to the league for assistance.

A. F. Golk, 6433 South California avenue, offered the use of his basement and cards were printed announcing that interviews would be granted there on Mondays and Thursdays from 7 to 9 p. m. and on Saturdays from 2 to 5 p. m. Between 40 and 50 persons and often more than 100 have crowded into the basement on those days.

Last Monday Howe and his friends had calls for 500 persons, a fact which they advertised in THE TRIBUNE. Despite miserable weather, 154 persons were interviewed.

Many Jobs Permanent.

Most of the jobs, except some for women, are permanent, Howe said, and several firms, if they are forced to lay off a group, send them to the league. By word of mouth, the league's work has spread thruout the city and suburbs.

But now the league has hit a snag. The committee has no funds, since no charge is made for the service. So far the expense of stationery and telephone calls has been covered by donations from interested business men and friends. However, the project now demands an office and a paid secretary.

"We need some one to adopt us and keep the project going," Howe admitted. "So many persons are coming to us now that we are ashamed to stop, but it's becoming a financial burden. We're hoping a good samaritan will show up soon."

SEMI-AUTOMATIC CARBINE CHOSEN FOR ARMY'S USE

Built by Winchester; Weighs 4.6 Pounds.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 9 (AP).—The army's newest field weapon, an authoritative source disclosed today, will be a stubby, lightweight, semiautomatic carbine developed by the Winchester Repeating Arms company of New Haven, Conn.

The abbreviated rifle, considered deadly at 300 yards, was reported chosen over six other competing models, all specially designed at the army's recent request for a rapid-fire gun to replace the .45 caliber service automatic pistols now carried by most officers and noncoms.

The army believes that the substitution of carbines for pistols will increase the rifle firepower of every infantry regiment by 50 per cent, for the carbine is rated as both an offensive and defensive weapon, whereas the pistol is considered purely defensive.

Army ordnance officials would not comment on the disclosure that the Winchester has been selected after extended field tests at the Aberdeen, Md., proving grounds. However, sources close to the infantry, which conducted the tests, said that branch of the army had recommended the Winchester.

Before the final decision was reached, thousands of rounds of ammunition were fired under every conceivable condition of mud, rain, sand, and immersion that might be encountered in actual combat.

Parachutists, all infantry officers below the grade of major, troops of the armored corps, cavalrymen, and other troops whose heaviest weapon now is the .45, will carry the lightweight carbine slung over the shoulder.

The Winchester weighs only 4.6 pounds, more than four pounds lighter than the old Springfield service rifle or the new Garand semi-automatic with which troops now are being equipped. Army specifications called for a carbine 36 inches long, eight inches shorter than the Garand or Springfield, so that it would not hamper the movements of mechanized, parachute, or cavalry fighters.

Ammunition is fed from clips of 10 or 20 cartridges. The effective range of 300 yards is vastly superior to that of the .45 automatic which is something over 100 yards.

WOMEN ADVISED TO IMITATE MEN, AND VICE VERSA

Sisters, when the winter winds blow, doff your silken pretties and don the warmer woolens of the wiser male. At the first hot blast of June, brothers, cast aside tradition, imitate the women, and drape your sturdy frames in gossamer.

This seemingly impertinent suggestion on how to keep comfortable, no matter the weather, is the sober advice of the American Medical association's committee to study air conditioning, as revealed in its seventh report in the association's Journal.

The authors of the study were C. P. Yaglou and Anne Messer of Boston, Mass.

"A temperature," reported the scientists, "that is comfortable to men is as a rule too cool for women, and one that is acceptable to women is too warm for men."

OFFICERS SEIZE MRS. ORTON AT SUITE IN DRAKE

Take Her Before Notary on Orders of Court.

Mrs. Annabelle Adams Orton, 35 years old, was escorted yesterday from her Drake hotel suite to the 100 North La Salle street office of Attorney Robert J. Collins by two deputy sheriffs, sent to the hotel by Judge Thomas J. Lynch with orders to bring Mrs. Orton "on a stretcher if necessary."

Mrs. Orton, who is being sued for divorce by Philo A. Orton, 68, wealthy head of the Orton Crane and Shovel company, had been ordered by Judge Lynch to appear before Attorney Collins, a notary, to answer questions for depositions being taken by Daniel A. Covelli, Orton's lawyer, in connection with the case.

Fails to Appear.

She did not appear. Attorney William S. Schwab, representing Albert Sabath, counsel for Mrs. Orton, appeared before Judge Lynch and presented a written statement from Dr. Ferdinand Seidler stating that Mrs. Orton was too ill to appear.

At Covelli's request, Dr. William Hanelin went to the Drake hotel, returned to court, and reported that Mrs. Orton apparently was well.

"She opened the door for me. She said she felt fine," Dr. Hanelin said.

Attorney Schwab offered to have Sabath bring Mrs. Orton before the notary next Wednesday.

"O, no!" said Judge Lynch. "The hearing was set for today." And he ordered the deputies to bring her in. He also ordered that Dr. Seidler appear before the court today.

No Questions Asked.

As it developed, Mrs. Orton did not give a deposition. The attorneys wrangled over a financial settlement, came to no conclusion, and left Collins' office with the understanding that Mrs. Orton will appear before Collins to give a deposition at 2 p. m. today.

Orton in his divorce suit accuses Mrs. Orton, whom he married in 1938, of misconduct with a Mr. R., described as a millionaire New York manufacturer. The alleged misconduct, the suit states, took place during a romance which began in Florida and was resumed in Chicago, Detroit, Mich., and New York.

A few months before he married the former Miss Adams, Orton was divorced by Mrs. Marie Orton in a case featured by a sensational exchange of accusations.

FIELD MUSEUM TO PAY U. S. TAX FOR CHILDREN

School children will be admitted to Field museum without charge every day despite the new federal excise tax which became effective Oct. 1, Maj. Clifford C. Gregg, director, said yesterday. Other institutions earlier had announced that children would be required to pay the tax of 3 cents on the 25 cent admission tickets.

"There are thousands of children to whom even a 3 cent charge might be a barrier," Maj. Gregg said. "Nothing should be permitted to stand in the way of any child's obtaining the advantages offered by this institution. The museum itself will shoulder the additional burden of thousands of dollars for operation."

The government demands collection only on days when admission is not free. At Shedd aquarium, where 25 cents admission is charged on every day except Thursday, Saturday, and Sunday, children over 12 must pay 3 cents admission on all but the free days.

Records in Rain

Comparison of average rainfall in Chicago for October, the heaviest October rainfall on record and the rainfall for the first eight days of this month.

PREDICT TODAY WILL MARK END OF HEAVY RAINS

Last 8 Days Wettest in 69 Years.

Government forecasters last night predicted that today will bring an end to the rainiest eight day period in October that Chicago has known since 1872. Some rain has fallen on every day except one beginning Oct. 2, and the total precipitation so far is 4.34 inches, or 1.81 inches more than the average rainfall for the entire month.

The rains have been general, with excessive precipitation thruout the upper Mississippi valley. In Springfield last Saturday 5.65 inches of rain fell in a 24 hour period. It was the second heaviest downpour on record there. In Chicago the heaviest single day's rain was 1.24 inches last Monday.

Farms at Standstill.

As a result of the rains, Illinois farmers are reporting that work is at a standstill, and corn, soy beans, and fodder crops not yet harvested may be damaged. Alfalfa, clover, and pastures are benefiting from the rains. Corn is generally reported to be safe from frost, altho the wet weather has caused considerable moulding.

Temperatures during the rainy period have been slightly higher than average, runing around 63 degrees, or four degrees above normal. No temperatures approaching frost have yet been recorded. The average date for the earliest killing frost is Oct. 19.

O. T. Lay, acting chief of the weather bureau, said that this October is likely to break all previous records for rainfall. There are only six other years when the entire month had more rainfall than this month has had in the first nine days. The wettest October occurred in 1883, when 7.36 inches of water fell.

Normally Rather Dry.

Normally October is the fifth driest month of the year, ranking after January, February, December, and November. The only period of rainy weather in October comparable with this year occurred in 1881, when 3.88 inches fell between the 10th and the 18th.

In 1919 4.64 inches of rain fell from Sept. 28 thru Oct. 5. Chicago's heaviest downpour occurred during a 24 hour period overlapping Aug. 2 and 3, 1885. The record shows 6.19 inches precipitation during that period.

U. S. Collector Adds 29 Civil Service Employes

Carter H. Harrison, collector of internal revenue, announced yesterday that 29 civil service employés have been added to the office staff. This was the first time in more than 20 years that employés had been chosen from the civil service list and was the result of a congressional act a year ago.

QUOTING ABRAHAM LINCOLN

Wisdom of the Masses.

I feel that, under God, in the strength of the arms and wisdom of the heads of these masses, after all, must be my support. As I have often had occasion to say, I repeat to you—I am quite sure I do not deceive myself when I tell you I bring to the work an honest heart; I dare not tell you that I bring a head sufficient for it. If my own strength should fail, I shall at least fall back upon these masses, who, I think, under any circumstances will not fail.

A. Lincoln

Harrisburg, Pa., Feb. 22, 1861.

BROTHER BROWNE ON BROTHER BROWNE.

The American Federation of Labor convention at Seattle has before it for action and probable approval the following declaration by the members of the executive council:

"The executive council disavows and repudiates with all the power at its command lawlessness of any character, racketeering in any form, and exploitation wherever practiced. Such procedure is no part of the administrative policy of the American Federation of Labor. We will coöperate fully with the officers of the law in the efforts they put forth to impose proper punishment upon those found guilty of the commission of crimes and the violation of law."

Among the signers of this ringing declaration is Brother George E. Browne, 11th vice president of the AFL and, as such, a member of the executive council. Brother Browne, however, is unable to attend the convention. He and his Hollywood front man, the pander Willie Bioff, are busy in a federal court in New York, defending themselves against the charge that they shook down the motion picture producers for $550,000.

"It is inconceivable," say Brother Browne and his associates, "that when a representative of labor is charged with the crime of extortion the members of the organization who are the victims of said extortion would tolerate or condone such action. Those who are exploited cannot willingly become the victims of the exploiter."

This seems to put a different face on the question of labor shakedowns. The working stiffs cannot be shaken down because they don't consent to it. But, of course, the poor paving laborers and street cleaners of Chicago might have had the little difficulty of registering their dissent against the exactions of the late Brother Mike Carrozzo, inasmuch as their international union hadn't held a convention for 30 years until the recent steam roller session in St. Louis.

Of course the permit men in the motion picture operators' union wouldn't consent to paying for their jobs by the week while being denied a vote in the affairs of the union. We seem to recall that some of them did dissent, but not for long. They were shot.

Of course the members of the downstate electrical union wouldn't consent to the use of their dues to run a night club for the business agent, but the business agent has been indicted on this charge.

Of course the building trades men who tried to go to work on the army cantonments and found themselves obligated to pay extortionate initiation fees as a preliminary to employment couldn't be exploited without their consent. They had the option of consenting to pay or consenting to go without work.

Brother William Green, Brother Browne, and their colleagues have turned out here a bit of undying truth that deserves rank beside Mr. Roosevelt's explanation of religious liberty in Russia.

THE NEW AMERICAN PEERAGE.

Arnold N. Welles, son of the undersecretary of state, was commissioned an ensign in the navy without previous military experience and, following his graduation from a three month course in the school of indoctrination, has been assigned to duty. He and eight other fledgling officers will join Secretary Knox's growing corps of navy department press agents.

Wendell L. Willkie's son has been picked for training as an officer within a few weeks after his induction into service.

The Roosevelt sons continue to demonstrate that military service need not necessarily be a life of hardship. Recently Elliott was giving the London newspapers interviews on his impressions of the Atlantic conference, while John had taken a pleasant cottage in San Diego.

Joseph Alsop, cousin of the Roosevelts who got his commission direct from Secretary Knox, was sent off in Jimmy's footsteps on a confidential mission to the orient. When he got to Burma he became intrigued by the Chinese war and was permitted to resign his commission, abandon his weighty mission, whatever it was, and join Chiang Kai-shek's forces.

Some weeks ago, following the proposal by Mr. Leslie Hore-Belisha of a common British-American citizenship, it was suggested in these columns that since Great Britain has two classes of citizens, or subjects, Mr. Hore-Belisha would have to decide whether Americans would be Grade A or Grade B citizens of the enlarged empire.

It may be that our objection was premature. By the time the union of citizenships comes about America may have its own peerage ready to receive the higher privileges. The commoners, sons of millionaires as well as sons of WPA workers, are serving their country in the dust of Tennessee camps and the mud of Louisiana maneuvers. For the scions of the new peerage there are bombproof jobs in Washington or interesting junkets on government expense accounts to all parts of the globe.

The qualification for this new peerage is neither wealth nor birth nor ability, but the accident of temporary political position. It is the principle of nepotism.

PICTURES INSTEAD OF BLUEPRINTS.

One of the bottlenecks that the Douglas Aircraft corporation ran into when its plants and working force started to mushroom was the difficulty of finding employés who had had training in reading blueprints. The Douglas engineering department met the problem by giving its new employé pictures that showed them exactly what the parts they were making or assembling looked like and where they fitted together in the assembly process.

Blueprints—the reference is not to the process of reproduction, but to the system of drawing—are orthographic projections, more commonly called mechanical drawings. Any one who had a grade or high school course in manual training is familiar with the fundamentals of picturing a device thru side, top, and end views.

Orthographic projection is a static art. Except that the conventions used have been standardized in recent decades, the process has not changed much since Watt designed his first steam engine. Even simple drawings are not easy for the inexperienced workman to read, and modern machinery is frequently so complex that it is virtually impossible to draw it, let alone read the drawings.

In the Douglas plant the complex orthographic projections were supplemented by perspective drawings which showed the parts and subassemblies in a single view. Perspective drawings are not artists' sketches. They can be drawn to scale as accurately as the older form of mechanical drawing. The mechanic using them does not need the trained imagination required in blueprint reading. The machine is pictured for him as it actually is, not as a projection on different planes.

Other airplanes plants have adopted the idea, following the successful use of it at the Douglas plant. It is surprising that the device was not widely adopted long before this. Perspective drawing was taught more than 40 years ago at Lewis institute, now part of the Illinois Institute of Technology, and no doubt at some other schools, but for the most part the engineering schools of the country have stuck to the mumbo-jumbo ritual of the orthographic projection.

With the overwhelming trend in American industry toward automatic and semi-automatic machinery, requiring less and less skill on the part of the operator, it is inevitable that the plans from which such operators work will have to be simplified also.

AN UNREQUITED PASSION.

For all the boons he has conferred on business, and all he intends when the price control gestapo comes into being, Leon Henderson sometimes has the uphappy feeling that he isn't properly appreciated by the business community. He is not bitter about it, only hurt.

The price administrator's relations with business were recently brought into question rather indelicately at a hearing on the price control bill. Rep. Kean of New Jersey came out with the bald statement, "While you have here expressed pretty good Jeffersonian doctrine and pretty good Republican doctrine, frankly that part of the public which represents the business interests has the impression—rightly or wrongly—that you are anti-business, and they look upon you as one of the high priests of those who have a witch-burning attitude toward business. Now, do you not think that if some man who had the confidence of business were closely associated with you as administrator of the act, or, say, there was a three man board, it would breed confidence and make for better compliance?"

"I think you are asking me to be my own judge," protested Mr. Henderson.

"Do you think you can regain the confidence of business interests that you have lost over a period of years?" persisted Rep. Kean.

"I never paid much attention to that lack of confidence by business," Mr. Henderson replied, "but if it gets to be an important thing, why not have a private session and bring down every businessman who has been with my review since I started with the NRA? You will observe that I have had various positions. I have dealt with the price administration, SEC, and the monopoly committee, and with literally hundreds of representative American business interests, and now if you want to put it on a bet basis or a forfeit basis, you hold a private hearing, and call people out of that group, or call a sufficient number of them to be representative of the group, and if they come in and say, 'Take Henderson out,' I will resign."

This is a handsome opportunity, and it is curious that Rep. Kean has not obliged the nation by taking it up.

Editorial of the Day

NOMINATED FOR DEPORTATION.
[Christian Science Monitor.]

It is early yet for even those who would like to do so, to say "Good-by, Mr. Bridges." But the finding by Judge Charles Brown Sears that Harry Bridges, west coast longshoremen's leader, was affiliated with the communist party as recently as 1937 raises a definite prospect that ultimately, after perhaps two or three years of appeals, he may be deported in accordance with the judge's recommendation.

Two changes in the situation have taken place since Dean James M. Landis in 1939 reported an absence of grounds for deporting Bridges. In the first place, the law has been changed; whereas Landis would have had to find that the alien was currently a member of the communist party, the statute now provides that past affiliation shall be sufficient. Second, the government appears to have presented a more conclusive body of evidence this time.

Any sympathy Mr. Bridges may have with the purpose of Moscow is less likely than formerly to manifest itself in strikes that would hamper defense. But the antipathy between communism and the American system of free enterprise is as deep as ever, and a strong argument can be made that Bridges and others of his persuasion have damaged the cause of the American workingman by mixing up political designs with trade union activities, calling walkouts where coöperation would have succeeded better, and organizing networks of unions more as part of a "class struggle" than as bargaining agencies.

For these reasons the eventual deportation of Bridges probably would have a quieting effect on west coast labor relations, tho some feel that the scramble to succeed him would be chaotic and they desire to avoid his being set up as a martyr. On this last score, Judge Sears explicitly says the investigation has not been one of "trade union practices or the merits or defects of trade unionism"; hence there is no point in critics calling his finding of fact "a slap at unionism." If any one point emerges clearly from the total proceedings, it will be that Harry Bridges has received fair and considerate treatment from the American administrative and judicial processes.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

CHICAGO FIRE IN VERSE.

The standard poem on the Chicago fire of Oct. 8-10, 1871, came from the pen of John Greenleaf Whittier and may be found in any complete volume of his verses. It is standard chiefly because it was written by a major figure in American literature, and we daresay that many other treatments of the subject by unknown writers were as good, perhaps better.

Whittier's poem contains 10 stanzas, the quality of which may be sampled by the second and ninth, which run:

On threescore spires the sun had shone,
Where ghastly sunrise looked on none.
Men clasped each other's hands, and said:
"The City of the West is dead!"

Ah! not in vain the flames that tossed
Above thy dreadful holocaust;
The Christ again has preached thru thee
The Gospel of Humanity!

While the fire was in progress Susan Bruce Herrick, in her homestead near Rockford, Ill., wrote a poem entitled "Chicago, October, 1871," which was published in the Rockford Weekly Journal the following Saturday. As far as her family knows it has never been printed in Chicago. It stands the test of time, we believe, better than Whittier's, and we think Chicago should have a chance to read it:

O City of the West!
O beautiful queen city, fair and young,
Whose peerless grace full many a bard has sung—
City the fairest, best.
We paid our homage, tracing oft in thee
The type and symbol of the years to be—
City whose every line
Historic bears in thought
And word and deed a royal lineage,
Worthy of record on our nation's page
City whose piercing eye
Had scanned the heavens, and peered beneath the flood,
Seeking in every place material good
Beneath the arching sky.
Throbbed the great human pulse of weal and woe,
Making all sweetest charities to flow
At morn and evening glowed like tongues of flame,
As if thru purpling mists of earth they came
To light thine altar fires!

We reach our hands to thee,
City beloved, in this thine hour of pain!

The Voice of an Old Country Road.

Down in the Palos hills there is a dirt road that bisects the 1,000 acre tract of forest preserve west of Mannheim road [U. S. 45] and south of 95th street. On the map it is designated 100th avenue, but the old-timers say it was known for decades as "Bog road." It has been closed to automobile traffic and at each end there stands this sign:

I Am an Old Time Country Lane
Now I Have Been
Officially Vacated and Closed
[I Never Liked Automobiles Anyway.]
I Invite You to Walk
as Folks Have Walked for Generations
and Be Friendly with My Trees,
My Flowers, and My Wild Creatures.

Buckshot, O. R. S.

To Settle the Hash of His Royal Nibs.

The origin of the expression, "his nibs" [frequently "his royal nibs"] was suggested on Oct. 6 as something that Line contributors might play with. Findings thus far:

McK.: "Impertinent name given by young whelps in business offices to the senior clerk who stood around looking important with a quill pen behind his ear. The pen is important, for all pen-points are called nibs."

Marie O. Andresen: "A down-east fisherman's song that a handsome Yale man taught me 38 years ago. It deals with Jonah and the whale, and calls Capt. Jonah 'his nibs.'"

Henry Nathan: "A military march I composed about 35 years ago called 'His Nibs.' It has been played by bands."

All this, of course, in the jocular vein. Nobody knows the whys and wherefores of "his nibs." The dictionaries give it as slang of obscure origin and speculate upon its association with "neb," the beak of a bird; "nob," slang for the head and also a dandy; and "nabs," also used in English slang. "His nibs" is scornful; "my nabs" is kindly and means "my good fellow" or "my friend." The earliest quotation of "his nibs" in the Oxford dictionary is 1812.

FAREWELL AWHILE.

[In memory of A. M. B., 1880-1941.]

The journey won't be long—just overnight,
So try and get some rest. Sleep well, sleep deep.
Tho we regret it takes you from our sight,
Like any other trip you've made, we'll keep
You close within our hearts while you're away.
And so, good-by again. You've work to do
We know, altho we'd hoped that you would stay
So we could spend a moment more with you.
A pleasant trip! No tears! We'll meet again
In every kindly deed and modest word;
In every smile of faith surmounting pain;
In every eye where hopefulness has stirred.

Godspeed then, on this voyage long since planned;
A peaceful journey to a happy land.

Uncle Louie.

THE PUZZLE OF LOW BACK PAIN.

THE lower portion of the human back is strikingly susceptible to aches and pains. Distress may proceed from muscles, joints, and ligaments. One reason is that we stand erect and in consequence, a substantial weight centers in this segment of the spinal column.

For practical purposes, we may regard lumbago and sciatica as originating from similar causes. An infection—commonly called "muscular rheumatism"—may be responsible for one set of symptoms. More often than not, ascribing this type of disability to some particular act—such as a sprain or the result of lifting or bending over to tie the shoelaces—is a mistake.

Muscles are not torn, neither are tendons or ligaments. If they were, we would find signs of swelling and hemorrhage. Altho there may be specific cases wherein a strain is possible, usually the evidence points to an infection. A toxin from the tonsils, the teeth, the sinuses, or the prostate may constitute the source.

The first stab of lumbago may appear suddenly, when one attempts to rise from a chair. Despite numerous X-rays and the most critical examination of the soft parts, nothing will be disclosed. Nevertheless, the patient is in agony and the trouble may be so intense that strong drugs will be required for relief. Altho most of these episodes come out of a clear sky, the rapidity of the onset is no indication of the duration of the ordeal. Curiously enough, relatively mild seizures may last for weeks. On the other hand, one that is paralyzing may vanish within a few days.

A typical example is presented by the history of a 53 year old man who wakened in the morning with such severe pain that he was unable to get out of bed. His suffering was not constant. In fact, there were brief intervals when he would be fairly comfortable. Heavy doses of sedatives were administered.

X-rays of the back demonstrated no bone disease. While the area was tender to the touch, there was no swelling or other earmark of injury. Then it was that X-rays of the teeth revealed three root abscesses. Subsequent to extraction of the offending molars, the patient's temperature rose to 102½ degrees and he was markedly prostrated. A day or two later, however, he was well and was able to go thru bending exercises without the slightest twinge.

As a solution of this and similar cases, the theory has been advanced that toxins liberated from foci of infection may find a vulnerable spot in the structures of the lumbar region and create about as much commotion as the human system can withstand.

Irritation of the nerve fibers may come about because the blood vessels in the vicinity go into spasm. Sometimes these sieges may be compared to cramps which disturb the muscles of the leg and produce intermittent limping [claudication]. In such instances, the parts are deprived of needed nourishment because the arteries have become too narrow [contracted] to carry a sufficient amount of blood.

In an attempt to understand trouble in the sacroiliac joints, we are at a loss to explain why mechanical fusion may be followed by recovery. In the course of the operation, no disease will be detected. Nevertheless, the procedure is helpful in many cases. The simplest answer is that some of the sympathetic nerve fibers are cut, which obliterates the sense of pain.

The whole subject lends itself to more intensive study as the interpretations now given oblige us to take too much for granted. Muscles and nerves require nutrition. If they fail to get it they tell us so in no uncertain terms, with a form of incapacity that cannot be misunderstood. It is a call for more and perhaps better blood.

VITAMINS.

CANAL TO LINK THE LAKES.

Menominee, Mich., Oct. 8.—Greatly interested in your editorial on the allocation and maintenance of an ice-breaker to keep open passage as long as possible between Lake Superior and lower lake ports. In these days of feverish defense projects it is almost vital that iron ore, copper, flour, wheat, and other grains as well as limestone be supplied to the nation as long and as rapidly as possible. This transportation could be greatly aided if a canal were built from Lake Superior to Lake Michigan. This is a project discussed, mostly academically, for the last 70 years; but now it seems to loom with more practical importance.

From the head of Little Bay de Noc at the upper end of Lake Michigan to Au Train bay on Lake Superior is about 35 miles. Three rivers flow from the south into Bay de Noc, the Au Train river flows from the south into Lake Superior. The watershed dividing their headwaters is inconsiderable. Whether engineers would find it feasible to follow the course of the rivers or not could be decided by a survey. But the fact that rivers already flow in both directions indicates that nature has demonstrated the feasibility.

Naturally much digging would be required; but to the north of the watershed the formation is sandstone overlaid with sand, while to the south it is limestone likewise overlaid with sand; both rocks comparatively soft and easily excavated. A canal thus constructed would

1. Relieve the congestion at the Soo locks, where additional facilities are now being discussed.
2. Shorten the route between Duluth and Chicago by several hundred miles.
3. Provide a waterway entirely within the limits of the United States—a strategic advantage not to be ignored.
4. Possibly furnish much needed water for the Chicago drainage canal, Lake Superior being higher above sea level than Lake Michigan.

A BRIGHT FUTURE FOR HER.

Chicago, Oct. 5.—In a confused and confusing world it is a joy and an inspiration to begin this particular day with such excellent examples of clear thinking and straight shooting as your editorials, "How About It, Mr. Churchill?" and "Our and Other Royal Families."

But "so are they all"—you. editorials—all inspiring and enlightening. And tho I generally begin the reading of your paper with them, I am resolved that from now on I shall make it a daily habit always to read them first. The formation of good habits, I have been taught, is indispensable to a bright future, and I can think of no better habit with which to begin life at 57.

[A subscriber for 40 years.]

GAMING IN TAVERNS.

Collinsville, Ill., Oct. 7.—In your editorial "It Shouldn't Happen to a Dog," I note you fall into a not uncommon error of assuming that the Illinois liquor control commission has authority to stop gaming in taverns. The commission has no original jurisdiction over liquor retailers and no authority in a tavern except to inspect it to see that the "state license is paid." On appeals from a local commission it has much broader powers—but only on appeals duly prosecuted, which seldom happen.

I agree that this tax will have a discouraging effect on the slot machines, at least for the present. But the situation will likely develop along the same lines as liquor selling did after prohibition. As soon as the folks find out that the federals don't wish to, the state cannot, and the local authorities do not except where public sentiment demands, do anything about the machines, they will proceed as of yore, handicapped only by the $50 excise, which will hurt but not much hinder them. JAMES O. MONROE,
Publisher Collinsville Herald.

TRAPPING THE SILVER BUG.

Chicago, Oct. 8.—Referring to the question of A. T. regarding "silver bugs":

An article, "Silverfish Trapping," in Science News Letter recommends taking a plain one ounce ointment jar and covering the outside with a jacket of adhesive tape [adhesive side toward glass]. Inside the jar place a teaspoon of white flour, their favorite food. The insects will climb up the rough surfaced adhesive tape and drop into the jar. They cannot climb the inside glass walls of the jar and are trapped. Great success is claimed. OLIVER RIDDEL.

Chicago, Oct. 8.—How to get rid of silver bugs? Use moth balls or moth flakes. Keep applying for two or three weeks and you can say good-by to the silver bugs; this also applies to termites. Any insect, ants, etc., are allergic to moth balls or flakes. MRS. M. S.

MUSTN'T HAPPEN HERE.

Chicago, Oct. 6.—Whatshisname says that nothing like THE TRIBUNE'S criticism of the Leader would be allowed in Germany. We know that well enough and we don't want it to happen here. Remember this: that the stoppage of free speech in Germany did not come from outside of Germany. It came from within and we don't want it to happen here.

D. DAVIDSON.

A NEGLECTED STREET GAP.

Chicago, Oct. 5.—At 9:30 last night going south down Wentworth avenue at 45th place, in that heavy downpour, my car hit a large gap in the street and both my tires on the right blew out—perfectly good tires. Having only one spare I was stranded there until midnight. This would not be remarkable if at least eight cars passing that same spot before me and about eight more following after me, hadn't encountered the same experience.

There we were, at least five of us, at one time or another seeking help in the rain. The police had been notified three times and had placed a little barricade near the hole, which was not visible, and into which one driver crashed shortly thereafter, scattering said barricade all over the street. The result—three hours of discomfort, drenched clothes, a bad cold, two damaged tires [and tires so expensive right now], and all this because precaution was not taken by the city to fill in that awful gap. I can still hear that "thud" of each automobile as it hit that unsuspected "chasm"! M. R. B.

DRIVER'S LIABILITY.

Chicago, Oct. 1.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—1. Am I responsible for passengers I carry to and from work in my car, if they pay me $1 each per week, in case of an accident?

2. Would it release me from all obligation in case of accident if I had each passenger sign the following: The undersigned—— agrees that in riding in the vehicle owned and operated by R. F. S. he does so at his own risk at any and all times that he should ride in said vehicle.

3. I believe there is a state law providing that a passenger rides at his or her own risk, but does this apply when a passenger pays for his or her ride?

R. F.

1. An Illinois statute provides that the driver is not liable to gratuitous guests unless the driver's negligence amounts to recklessness. Substantially the only importance of the $1 charge in this connection would be that since the transportation would not be gratuitous the driver would be liable for ordinary negligence.

2. Such a document would not be conclusive.

GREEN CANCELS OCT. 23 SPEECH TO CHICAGO BAR

Date Too Near Superior Court Election.

Gov. Dwight Green's engagement to speak before the Chicago Bar association on Oct. 23 has been canceled at his suggestion because of political complications.

The Superior court election day is on Nov. 4, less than two weeks after the date set for the governor's appearance. The association follows a policy of strict nonpartisanship in such issues and on Wednesday the question was raised whether the governor's speech, having to do with the election, might not violate that policy.

The subject was taken up with Lloyd D. Heth, president of the association, and Heth called on Gov. Green to tell him the story. Immediately the governor proposed that everybody be spared embarrassment by the simple procedure of his withdrawing his acceptance of the invitation from the association.

Date Chosen by Green.

The original invitation provided for the governor's appearance on Sept. 23. He had another engagement for that date and suggested a month's postponement. Then he was offered a choice between Oct 16 and Oct. 23 and he chose the latter.

At that time, it was said, there was no thought in the minds of representatives of the association—which took an early position against coalition—that the evening chosen was well along in the period during which active campaigning might be expected if the Republicans and the Democrats both put up judicial tickets.

Recognition of this fact was reached on Wednesday during a meeting of the association's committee on entertainment, a group of 21 members which includes both Democrats and Republicans.

Threaten to Quit.

Some of the Democrats, it was said, threatened wholesale resignations if the Green speech were political. Therefore the whole matter was put up to the governor.

"Naturally I did not want to embarrass Heth or the association," said the governor, "because I have too much respect and too high a regard for both. Consequently I told Heth I was somewhat amused at the situation but that I would relieve every one of all embarrassment by canceling the engagement."

The governor also said he will speak on the election somewhere the same night that he was to appear before the association and that his speech will be broadcast.

PHONE COIN BOX TAX FOE WINS 3 ALLIES IN FIGHT

A spokesman for the Illinois Bell Telephone company said yesterday that at least three other coin box subscribers have joined S. L. Reinschreiber, 6531 Greenview avenue, in his revolt against paying the new federal excise tax on nickels placed in the coin boxes before Oct. 5. Subscribers protest that they should not be forced to pay a tax on money deposited before the law became effective.

The tax of 6 per cent, according to the law, shall apply only to the amounts paid in pursuance of bills rendered after Oct. 5 for services for which no previous bill was rendered.

Nigel D. Campbell, deputy collector of internal revenue, said the bureau of internal revenue would take no steps to collect the tax until it is due Nov. 1. He said the interpretation of the law undoubtedly would be determined in court.

U. S. FLYERS KILLED IN CANADA.

ST. THOMAS, Ont., Oct. 9 (AP).—Leading Aircraftmen J. J. Elliott of Cincinnati, O., and W. D. Langhorn of Chatham, Va., were killed today when a training plane crashed near Staffordsville. The plane went into a tail spin during an aerobatic performance.

Judicial Candidates

(This is another in a series of sketches of the nominees for the Cook county judicial election of Nov. 4. They are being published in the order in which the candidates' names will appear on the ballot.)

REPUBLICAN.

Ald. Roy E. Olin [8th], slated by the Republicans to hold fifth place on their ballot for the Superior court election, is a comparative newcomer in the Chicago political picture, having jumped from relative obscurity into the city council in 1939. As vice chairman of the aldermanic subcommittee on health, he has given considerable attention to the health of school children and demanded more school physicians.

Ald. Roy E. Olin.

Born in Chicago 43 years old, Ald. Olin was educated in the city schools, spent a year at the University of Iowa, and took his legal course at the Chicago-Kent College of Law, from which he was graduated in 1922.

In the World war the alderman enlisted in the naval reserve and served until February, 1919. Since his graduation from law school he has engaged in private practice and is now a member of the firm of Petit, Olin & Overmyer, 111 West Monroe street.

Ald. Olin is a member of several community associations and civic organizations, and is a past president of the South Side Swedish club.

DEMOCRATIC.

Judge John J. Lupe is one of the comparatively few native Chicagoans on the Superior court election ballot Nov. 4. His name will appear fifth in the Democratic column, and he seeks to continue a career on the bench which already has spanned 19 years.

Judge John J. Lupe.

Judge Lupe, now 53 years old, attended the city schools and was graduated from the John Marshall Law school in 1909. He engaged in private practice until 1923 when Gov. Small appointed him to fill a vacancy on the Municipal court bench. He was elected in 1924 to a full six year term, and was reelected in 1930.

When he was a candidate for the Superior court in 1935, the Chicago Bar association approved of Judge Lupe's record on the city bench and said that he had demonstrated judicial capacity and ability, and was qualified for advancement.

In the recent poll taken by the bar association, Judge Lupe was indorsed with a high rating. He has had much experience in the divorce courts, for which work he had earlier training in the city's Court of Domestic Relations.

GIRL, 6, INJURED FATALLY BY AUTO ON TRIP TO STORE

Arline Marshall, 6 years old, 3331 Sheffield avenue, was injured fatally last evening when she was struck near her home by an automobile driven by Earl Sutton, 33, of 1846 Orleans street. A short time before the child's mother, Mrs. Dorothy Masciola, had taken her across the street to a confectionery, where they had purchased soda water. Arline had returned the bottles, exchanging them for candy.

Mrs. Anna Chengo, 52, died last night in the Northwestern hospital, Desplaines, of injuries suffered Sept. 27 in a collision of two cars at Higgins and Mannheim roads. She lived at 1536 North Kedzie avenue.

Up to 4 p. m. yesterday 717 persons had been killed by traffic accidents in Cook county since Jan. 1. Of these 497 were killed in Chicago, where 19,730 were injured in the same period.

Erupting Volcano in New Guinea Hurls Lava 1,800 Ft.

New York, Oct. 9 (AP).—Violent new eruptions of Mt. Tavurvur, near Rabaul, in the Australian mandated territory of New Guinea, were reported today by the Australian radio. Stones, ashes, and lava were being thrown 1,800 feet into the air, it was said.

WRIGHT MAY ENTER CONTEST FOR G. O. P. SENATE NOMINATION

Springfield, Ill., Oct. 9 (AP).—State Treasurer Warren Wright said today he is considering running next spring for the Republican nomination for United States senator and that, if he decides against this move, he probably would not seek any other state office in 1942.

Wright said he had discussed the question of his possible senatorial candidacy with Gov. Dwight H. Green, but had reached no decision. Many Republican leaders have expected the governor to back Sen. Wayland Brooks for renomination.

"I didn't ask the governor for administration support," Wright said. "I don't think that would be fair in view of his pledge not to form a political machine."

Wright, who is limited by the constitution to one term as treasurer, has been regarded as a prospective candidate for clerk of the Supreme court if Gov. Green calls a special election for that post, but of that possibility Wright said:

"I don't believe I'll be interested in clerk of the Supreme court."

GEO. WASHINGTON HAD RIGHT IDEA! SAYS G. O. P. UNIT

Kane Countians Hail His Foreign Policy.

The Kane County Republican Service Men's league has adopted and will present to the state convention at Springfield Oct. 19 a resolution commending the domestic and foreign policies of George Washington.

This resolution, voted 97 to 3 by the county organization, reads, in part, as follows:

"Be it resolved:

"1. That George Washington was right in opposing the domination of Great Britain.

Hold Revolt Justified.

"2. That George Washington was justified in the matter of the American Revolution and the resulting freedom from England.

"3. That George Washington was justified in his position against taxation without representation for the benefit of a foreign power.

"4. That George Washington is still the father of our present form of government and his tenet of no foreign entanglements is basic in the welfare of our country."

Auroran Writes Resolution.

Attorney Lester J. Galvin of Aurora was the author of the resolution and presented it to the meeting, held in Geneva. It will be presented to the state convention by Louis C. Rockwell, Kane county treasurer and president of the league's county organization, and George E. Carlson.

The meeting congratulated Sen. Wayland Brooks for his stand against American participation in the European war.

A PROFESSIONAL ARMY NEEDED BY U. S., LODGE SAYS

Urges Senators to Ponder Such Military Policy.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 9. — The need of the United States is for a military policy under which reliance is placed on a standing army of professionals and not on conscripts, National Guard, and reserves, Sen. Henry Cabot Lodge [R., Mass.] told the senate today.

Sen. Henry C. Lodge.

Sen. Lodge, a captain in the army reserve corps, reported to the senate on the recent army maneuvers in which he participated. He found that while the army is not without shortcomings, it is taking shape as a first class defensive organization.

"I believe we senators should be constantly thinking about our military policy and that we should allow our minds to be bold and unfettered by dead ideas," he said. "We must remember that our present policy is a compromise between several different view points—that it is something of a hodgepodge. It is not a war service policy, it is not strictly a training policy, and it is not strictly a standing army policy.

Less Burden on Civilians.

"I submit again, therefore, the idea which I have previously presented to the senate in speeches and legislative form—a military policy in which greater increasing stress is placed on a standing army of professionals and less burden is placed on the civilian components.

"We have moved on from the days at the beginning of the century when a soldier needed only to know how to march, care for himself physically, and shoot a rifle. The army has reached a condition more like that which has been obtained in the navy for a long time in which every man might be a specialist.

Frank recognition of this fact will make it easy for us to draft a policy for a relatively large professional army, an army relieved of house keeping and grass cutting duties, an army which will be an ever ready striking force for the protection of the United States and which will be the nucleus around which civilian components will be trained in peace and alongside of which civilian components will fight in war."

High Praise for Militiamen.

Sen. Lodge had high praise for the civilian soldiers and militia men but found they are irked by army life.

"I believe that this much can be said about the citizen soldier," Lodge said. "First, his entrance into the army has been a fine thing for the army. They have brought their civilian skills and their freshness of viewpoint to military operations.

"No soldiers work harder or more willingly. No soldiers could more cheerfully accept the hardships of army life. I have seen National Guard divisions who kept and bettered the pace set by regulars."

Lodge found that the two most serious deficiencies of the army is the lack of modern material and the lack of trained officers. He said that he believes that steps are being taken to correct these shortcomings.

"We are really beginning to have an army," he said. "The encouraging thing, however, is that the army is forward looking."

ARMY, NAVY USE CAMERAMEN FOR FRONT LINE DUTY

Washington, D. C., Oct. 9. — The American army and navy long ago undertook the training of movie cameramen to operate with front line troops and battleships in action, a step which the British are just undertaking.

The signal corps had two photographic companies, each having 17 motion picture cameras. Operators all have had photographic training. It is the plan to have one company for each of the four armies. All movie cameramen enlisted as privates.

The navy tries to have a motion picture camera operator on each ship and has expert cameramen who are sent from place to place. Recently the navy has taken professional motion picture cameramen as reservists.

PRIORITIES PINCH TO BE DISCUSSED BY PUBLISHERS

Inland Press Group Will Meet Here Next Week.

The difficulties which newspapers of the United States face under the priorities system instituted by the federal government will be a principal concern of newspaper executives who will gather in Chicago next week for the 57th fall meeting of the Inland Daily Press association.

More than 200 publishers, editors, and business managers will attend the meeting, which will be held Tuesday and Wednesday in the Hotel Sherman. The association has as members 306 daily newspapers, most of them in the middle west.

Explains Some Problems.

William F. Canfield, deputy secretary-treasurer of the association, explained yesterday some of the problems imposed upon the press by priorities thru the Office of Production Management.

"Newspapers have been granted a priority on repair parts for their presses and other mechanical equipment," Canfield said. "This means that, in the event of a breakdown, they are entitled to obtain new parts so that they may continue operation.

"However, this privilege has not been extended to include newsprint, ink, linotype and stereotype metal, and all the other supplies a newspaper must have in order to keep going. This is why the newspaper operators are concerned."

Purchasing Problems Reported.

"Already papers which do commercial printing on the side are reporting difficulties in purchasing the various kinds of paper stock they need for this business," Canfield continued. "No difficulties have been encountered as yet in purchasing newsprint and ink, but this possibility also must be considered."

Canfield said one of the principal speakers at the convention will be Norbert A. McKenna of New York City, chief of the paper, pulp, printing, and publishing branch of the OPM. In a recent speech at White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., McKenna declared that newspapers and other paper users will have only 21,500,000 tons of paper in 1942 to do "the job which previously only the profligate use of 25,500,000 tons could accomplish."

McKenna will address the association next Tuesday morning. On Wednesday afternoon supply and priorities problems affecting newspapers will be discussed by Louis A. Weil Jr., business manager of the Grand Rapids [Mich.] Herald, and Cranston Williams, general manager of the American Newspaper Publishers' association.

Peril to Advertising Cited.

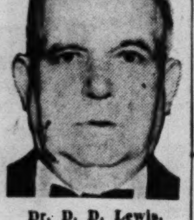
"Another question which probably will be taken up," Canfield said, "is whether the federal government, by some of its actions, is endangering newspaper advertising."

"It was reported recently that Leon Henderson, President Roosevelt's price administrator, speaking at a convention of bakers, told them they could hold down the price of bread despite rising flour costs by reducing their advertising budgets," Canfield continued. "Such advice does not help advertising. We probably will take up this problem during the general round table discussion on Tuesday afternoon."

Fred W. Schaub, president of the Inland association, will not attend the meeting. A captain in the air corps reserve, he has been called to duty at Selfridge Field, Mich. The vice president, John W. Potter, publisher of the Rock Island Daily Argus, will preside.

DR. LEWIS, FORMER AMA HEAD, DIES AT BALTIMORE

Baltimore, Md., Oct. 9 (AP).—Dr. Dean DeWitt Lewis, 67, professor emeritus of surgery at the Johns Hopkins medical school and former surgeon in chief of the Johns Hopkins hospital, died today.



Dr. D. D. Lewis.

Dr. Lewis was a former president of the American Medical association and a member of many other medical societies.

He was a native of Kewanee, Ill., and was educated at Lake Forest university and Rush Medical college, where he was a member of the faculty from 1900 to 1924. He then became professor of surgery at the University of Illinois. In 1925 he joined the Johns Hopkins faculty.

OWNER OF STORE WOUNDED AS 3 BANDITS GET $30

Manny Dervin, 49 years old, was shot thru the stomach early today by one of three young bandits who invaded his delicatessen at 935 East 65th street, with pistols and a sawed off rifle. The gunmen, who were bareheaded and wore sweaters, entered the shop as Dervin, his wife, Adele, and a clerk, Joseph Daly, 21, of 6108 Ingleside avenue, were counting the day's receipts.

The three were ordered to lie down in a back room. One of the bandits took $30 from the till. Another demanded that Dervin hand over his wallet. When Dervin protested he had none, the youth shot him with the rifle. Dervin's condition was pronounced serious at the Woodlawn hospital.

BOY ABANDONED AT ZOO IS TAKEN FROM PARENTS

Detroit, Mich., Oct. 9 (AP).—Four year old Tommy Argo, bright eyed youngster who made headlines when his father abandoned him at Brookfield zoo, near Chicago, is going back to a boarding home, the only sort of home he has known.

Judge D. J. Healy in Juvenile court made the decision after a parade of more than a dozen witnesses before him yesterday — parents, grandparents, social investigators and a hospital attaché.

The court ordered Tommy placed in a home to remain under court jurisdiction until the parents, Walter Argo, Detroit truck driver, and Lillian Argo, waitress, proved by something more than promises they were willing and able to make a home.

LEGION, SHRINERS WILL HOLD JOINT ARMISTICE RITE

The Cook county council of the American Legion will present its annual Armistice commemoration exercise Sunday, Nov. 9, in the Shrine temple, Wabash avenue and Ohio street, in conjunction with the Medinah Shriners. William E. Keith, assistant adjutant of the Legion's Illinois department, said the Commonwealth Edison post's drum and bugle corps, and the drum and bugle corps of the Square Post Sons, both national champions, will coöperate in the program with the Shrine Chanters, Band of Brass, and drill team.

OBITUARIES

Mrs. Jessie K. Victor.

Services for Mrs. Jessie K. Victor, 530 Arlington place, who died Wednesday, will be held at 3 p. m. tomorrow in the chapel at 2701 North Clark street. Mrs. Victor, who was born 83 years ago at Belmont avenue and Broadway, lived on the north side all her life. She was the widow of H. Peter Victor and the daughter of Edgar Sanders, one of the first florists in the city. She was a life member of the Chicago Historical society and the Art institute and an associate life member of the Field museum. She was a Christian Science practitioner for 30 years and was a member of the Second Church of Christ, Scientist. A sister, Mrs. E. R. Smith of Bayonne, N. J., survives. Burial will be in Rosehill cemetery.

Henry Bennett Snider.

Henry Bennett Snider, 69 years old, who for many years was in the investment and insurance business in Chicago, died yesterday in Santa Monica, Cal., where he had lived eight years. After being associated with Libby, McNeill & Libby and Carman, Snider & Co., Inc., of which he was vice president, Mr. Snider retired in 1929. His widow, May, and two daughters, Betty M. and Beverly, survive. The funeral will be held today in Santa Monica.

Clayton W. Sherman.

Clayton William Sherman, 67 years old, president of the Seaman Paper company and treasurer of the H. P. Smith Paper company, died yesterday at his home, 1001 Sheridan road, Evanston. He had been identified with the paper industry in Chicago since 1891. Surviving are his widow, Mrs. Georgie Carr Sherman; a son, Clayton C., and a daughter, Elizabeth [Mrs. W. V. Carroll Jr.]. Services will be held at 2 p. m. tomorrow at the home.

Charles L. Clarke.

Newton, Mass., Oct. 9 (AP).—Charles L. Clarke, 88, a former associate of Thomas A. Edison and a prominent electrical engineer in his own right, died today. He installed the first Edison electric lighting central station system in 1882 in New York City. He was a consulting engineer for the General Electric company from 1911 to 1931, when he retired.

Joseph Hodek.

Services for Joseph Hodek, 78 years old, a retired merchant tailor, will be held at 2 p. m. tomorrow in the West Chicago Masonic temple, with burial in Bohemian National cemetery. Mr. Hodek, who died Wednesday, was born in Bohemia and came to Chicago at the age of 7. He lived at 6439 North Washtenaw avenue. Surviving are two sons, Hubert and Alfred.

Philip J. Barry.

Services for Philip J. Barry, 53 years old, manager of the south district of the old age and survivors' insurance for the social security board in Chicago, will be held at 10 a. m. tomorrow in St. Mary of the Lake church with burial in St. Boniface cemetery. Mr. Barry died Wednesday in his home at 5000 Marine drive. During the World war he was a special agent of the federal bureau of investigation. After the war he served for two years as assistant superintendent. From 1925 to 1936 he was supervisor of parolees for the Illinois state board of pardons and paroles. His widow, Emily, survives.

Walter E. Schrage.

Services for Walter E. Schrage, president of the Bank of Whiting [Ind.] and a member of a well known Whiting family, will be held at 2 p. m. tomorrow in the Congregational church in Robertsdale, a suburb of Whiting. Mr. Schrage died Wednesday in St. Catherine's hospital in Hammond. He was 56 years old and lived at 1741 Brown avenue, Whiting. He had been associated for more than 30 years with the Whiting bank, which was founded by his father. He leaves his widow, Lois, a son, a daughter, and a stepdaughter.

Adolph John Pavenstedt.

Southampton, N. Y., Oct. 9 [Special].—Adolph John Pavenstedt, 87 years old, former German banker who was an intimate adviser of Count Johann Von Bernstorff, German ambassador to the United States during the World war, and who negotiated the deal by which Von Bernstorff turned over $1,700,000 to Bolo Pasha, notorious spy, died today. Pavenstedt retired after his release from an internment camp at the end of the war, and became an American citizen.

Mrs. Southward died Wednesday night after an illness of several months. She leaves a son, two daughters, and two sisters.

OSCAR L. MANN DENIES HE WED WIFE LUCINDA

Oscar L. Mann Jr., son of Evanston's first mayor, and a direct descendant of Horace Mann, the educator, yesterday denied that he was ever lawfully wed to Mrs. Lucinda McCardle Mann, who bore him three children. Mann, 76 years old, of 4022 Clarendon avenue, is a retired restaurateur.

His denial appeared in a document filed in the Circuit court by the Chicago Title and Trust company, which is seeking to learn the rightful owner of Mann's $50,000 share in the trust estate of his brother, Edwin, who died last May at the age of 75. Mrs. Lucinda Mann and Mann's present wife, Mrs. Nellie Schimmenti Mann, 51, have each laid claim to the money.

Mann, in his statement, upheld the validity of a document in which he gave his wife his share, but declared that another document, bequeathing his share to Mrs. Lucinda Mann and their son, Horace, was obtained by "fraud and duress."

Four years ago, in another suit, Mrs. Lucinda Mann, 75, testified that Mann married her before a justice of the peace in Beloit, Wis., in 1904, while she was a widow with six children. That suit was settled out of court. He married his present wife in 1928.

SEN. REYNOLDS, EVALYN M'LEAN WED IN CAPITAL

Bridegroom 57, Bride 19; His Fifth Marriage.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 9.—"I'm heavenly happy," Sen. Robert Rice Reynolds [D., N. C.] drawled in his best southern accent tonight as he headed for his fifth honeymoon in Cuba and the Panama canal zone.

The 57 year old senator took Miss Evalyn Washington McLean, 19 year old capital heiress, as his fifth wife in a ceremony at noon which was private. Newspaper reporters, photographers, movie camera men and radio commentators, however had been given due notice and were at hand to report the event, and later were served champagne at an impromptu reception.

Civil Service Read.

Even the closest friends of the bride and groom were not told in advance about the ceremony performed under the dazzling rays of the famous Hope diamond, worn by the bride's mother, Mrs. Evalyn Walsh McLean. The civil service was read in the drawing room of Friendship, the bride's family home, where as a child she played with presidents and kings.

The senator wore a gray plaid business suit, with a large white gardenia in one lapel.

Nineteen bouquets of pink, red and white carnations filled every available bit of table and mantel space in the drawing room. At one end of the room hung an oil portrait of the bride and at the other a portrait of her godfather, President Warren G. Harding.

Judge Reads Ceremony.

Under the latter portrait Judge Robert E. Mattingly performed the ceremony. The bride wore a street length dress of brown wool dotted with brown sequins. Instead of a corsage she had a single carnation tucked into the front of her dress.

Her only jewelry was a gold snake bracelet which had belonged to her grandmother. It was the traditional "something old." A handkerchief was "something borrowed" and a bit of blue ribbon "something blue."

In one hand she clutched a shiny horse chestnut, given her by her cousin, Munroe Lee, as a good luck piece. The other hand was clasped by the beaming bridegroom.

Wears Hope Diamond.

Only Mrs. McLean, cousin Lee and a small group of servants witnessed the ceremony.

The bride's mother wore a silver fox jacket over a black silk dress printed in blue. She had four diamond bracelets on one arm. The Hope diamond hung from a chain around her neck.

TRAFFIC MOVING AT SOO; PART OF CANAL CLEARED

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., Oct. 9 (AP).—The great lakes' biggest freighters, with passage to blocked off locks partially restored, steamed on today with iron ore for the steel makers after two days of idleness.

Toward midnight workmen had cleared aside much of the obstruction to the main locks of the St. Mary's Falls canal, and early today the first freighter nosed thru the channel eastward—46½ hours delayed.

Opening the way to one of the two main locks, tugs and a boom derrick pulled a submerged locomotive off one arm of the bridge span that collapsed last Tuesday and made it possible to free the other arm and let the boats thru. The locomotive carried two trainmen to death when it plunged into the canal. Meanwhile repairs were begun on the damaged bridge arm, which must be raised to permit the entry of boats into that half of the channel which is still closed.

U. S. TAX ADDS 5% TO COST OF TRAVEL TODAY

Washington, D. C., Oct. 9 (AP).—The cost of travel will go up 5 per cent at midnight tonight because of a new federal tax. The transportation tax was included in the recent big tax bill, but the effective date was made 10 days later than other excise provisions.

The tax is 5 per cent of the amount paid for passenger travel on a railroad, bus line, air line, or ship route. Ordinarily it will not apply to local busses and street cars, because tickets costing less than 35 cents are exempt. Taxicabs are exempt, too, because the tax applies only to transportation over regularly scheduled routes.

A similar tax of 8 per cent was levied during the World war, when a 3 per cent tax was placed on freight transportation, which is exempt this time.

BURGLARS GET $500 LOOT.

Burglars early yesterday took 133 paint brushes, an electric paint sprayer, 32 chamois skins, and 350 sponges, valued at $500, from the Edgewater Paint company, 5540 Broadway.

Radio Stars Aid Community Fund

SEIZE MIDWIFE ON NEW CHARGE OF ABORTION

Mrs. Fannie Piccone Venezi, 48 years old, a midwife, already under indictment on a charge of abortion, yesterday was arrested on a second charge. Seized with her by Assistant State's Attorney Samuel Papanek was Paul F. Short, 40, 2892 North Clark street, a hotel clerk, who spent four years in a medical school and one as an intern.

Prosecutor Papanek said that on Sept. 15 Mrs. Venezi took a married woman, 35, to Short, who performed an abortion. The woman became ill and was removed to a hospital. She told her husband and the family physician, who then notified the state's attorney's office. The woman said she paid a total of $20.

Mrs. Venezi and Short will be arraigned today in the Felony court. The pending indictment against her is scheduled for trial Oct. 21 before Judge Julius Miner. She lives at 650 West 55th street and has an office at 228 West 26th street.

BORLAND CHOSEN TO DIRECT NAVY DAY OBSERVANCE

Chauncey B. Borland, Chicago financier and banker, has been appointed chairman to direct Navy day activities in Chicago Oct. 27, it was announced yesterday by Commodore Sheldon Clark, president of the Navy League of the United States, which sponsors the annual observance on the anniversary of Theodore Roosevelt's birthday.

Chairmen appointed for nearby counties are County Judge Russell Keeney for Du Page county; William A. Maier of Yorkville, Kendall county; Lester J. Norris of St. Charles, Kane county; C. L. Jordan of Joliet, Will county; John Mayhew of Kankakee, Kankakee county; W. G. Peacock of Morris, Grundy county; Herman C. Litchfield of Waukegan, Lake county, and James M. McCawley of Harvard, McHenry county.

FREED MUST PAY $5 COURT COSTS FOR BEING SHOT

Judge Oscar S. Caplan in South State street court yesterday dismissed a $95 fine against Eddie Freed, former night club operator, on a charge of disorderly conduct, but assessed court costs of $5 against him.

The charge was placed against Freed after he had been wounded Sept. 11 by unidentified gunmen. Freed, who has figured before in shootings, once being wounded by his wife, Ruth, could give no reason for the latest attack.

He had been fined when he failed to appear in court a month ago, but explained to Judge Caplan yesterday that he had been under the care of physicians at the time.

Meeting Tomorrow

Miss Ruth Walliser, radio writer, director and actress, has been named chairman of the 1941 Community Fund campaign's radio committee, Mrs. Earl Kribben, chairman of the fund's women's division, announced yesterday. The radio committee's first meeting will be held at noon tomorrow at 333 North Michigan avenue. J. L. Van Volkenberg, vice president of the Columbia Broadcasting system, will be the speaker, and leading radio actresses will attend.

TOBIN, AFL AID, URGES UNIONS TO BAR RACKETEERS

Appeal Circulated Among Convention Delegates.

BY SEYMOUR KORMAN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Seattle, Wash., Oct. 9.—Another denunciation of racketeers in labor unions and a plea for their elimination was brought to the delegates of the American Federaltion of Labor today in a statement circulated on the floor of the convention. The statement was prepared by Daniel J. Tobin, seventh vice president of the AFL and president of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters, Chauffeurs, Warehousemen and Helpers.

It was printed in the current issue of the Brotherhood's official magazine and copies were at every delegate's desk today. This followed by two days Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins' address to the convention in which she called for public audits of all union books and the election of trustworthy officials for labor organizations.

Ousters Are Authorized.

Tobin's remarks referred only to his own international union, but the conditions of which he complained were evident to the delegates as existing in some other crafts. Tobin first referred to a section added to his union's constitution a year ago which provided for revoking membership of any union member found guilty of racketeering or other crimes.

"We know the local union officers fully understand this section," Tobin wrote, "but they are trying, as the slang phrase is used, 'to pass the buck' and in other instances they do not have the backbone to tell racketeers they do not belong in the organization. When men serve terms in prison for racketeering or other crimes they are not entitled to membership and they must be ordered out by the local union or else the local is entitled to no consideration whatever from the international, and the local charter may be revoked.

Honor at Stake, He Says.

"The honor and self-respect and decency of labor as a whole, and especially of our membership and their families, are at stake and should not be gambled with or endangered. . . . It is painful for the president of the international union to have to write explanations of this kind to our members, but it has to be done. This great brotherhood . . . has demanded . . . that criminals, underworld characters, and their kind be put out and refused membership."

Tobin added that a local union, No. 805 of New Jersey, was expelled last June and its charter revoked because it refused to drop as members several individuals coming under the constitutional ban.

C. C. Coulter, secretary of the Retail Clerks Protective association, was one of the delegates who received the statement. Max Caldwell, who was boss of this union in Chicago and has been ousted, is being sued for an accounting of $910,000 in funds collected in his régime.

Coulter Refuses Comment.

A reporter asked Coulter whether the public union audits recommended by Secretary Perkins would not have forestalled such a situation as the Caldwell case.

"I have nothing to say," Coulter said coldly. "I am not going to make any statements at this convention."

Delegates saw a parallel between Tobin's charges and those made by the government, in the form of conspiracy extortion indictments against George E. Browne, head of the international alliance of theatrical and stage employés, and several of his lieutenants. Browne who went on trial in New York yesterday, is reported salted for ouster as 12th vice president of the AFL and therefore automatic removal from the federation's executive council.

Speakers at the convention today included Herbert E. Gaston, assistant secretary of the treasury, Spencer Miller Jr., director of the Workers' Education bureau, and Edward J. Phelan, acting director of the International Labor organization.

Gaston, who substituted for his chief, Secretary Henry Morgenthau, called on unions to invest their funds in defense saving bonds and asked that individual workers set aside definite amounts from their pay each week for such bond purchases.

'FOOL AT THE WHEEL OF CAR AHEAD' MAY ACTUALLY BE INSANE

The automobile driver referred to as "that fool at the wheel of the car ahead" actually may be in worse mental condition than suspected by the motorists he annoys, Dr. Lowell S. Selling of Detroit told the 30th annual convention of the National Safety council yesterday.

Dr. Selling, who directs a psychopathic clinic for the Detroit Recorder's court, said he is convinced that the number of drivers suffering from mental ills which make them dangerous is far greater than supposed. He said they are not recognized until their behavior becomes bizarre. Many cases, he added, are found where the driver is technically sane yet mentally unsafe to sit at the wheel of an automobile.

Ten thousand persons have attended the convention which will adjourn today. Eight Chicagoans were elected to the executive committee yesterday and Chicago again was chosen for the 1942 convention.

Now I'm my Husband's Secretary
thanks to my electric range

That's what Mrs. C. A. Wells, 5801 North Kenton Ave., says, as she tells this story:

Busy afternoon ahead—all my husband's secretarial work; and, of course, there's cooking to be done, too. Am I glad I have an electric range! I'll just put the whole dinner in the oven and set the automatic controls.

Now I can really concentrate on this work—and enjoy it...because I don't have to worry about the cooking. Out in the kitchen the automatic timer turns on the electricity and starts my meal . . .

Dinner on time, as usual! The electricity automatically turned off at the right moment. Now the food is deliciously cooked, ready to serve—and will Mr. Wells be surprised when I tell him all his secretarial work is done.

Let an electric range do your cooking while you enjoy kitchen freedom

If you have interests outside the kitchen—if free afternoons would make your life more pleasant—you will enjoy the advantages of modern electric range cooking.

It not only cooks meals automatically, but it prepares tastier, more healthful meals. With electric cooking, precious vitamins, minerals and rich natural flavors are kept in—not cooked out.

Notice how clean it is, too. No smoke or soot to darken your kitchen walls...and pots and pans stay bright and shiny as new!

In fact, an electric range is the perfect servant—always dependable, always efficient. That's why thousands of Chicago families are enthusiastic about electric cooking.

JUDGE FREES 24 ACCUSED OF NUT MACHINE FRAUD

Rebukes Prosecutors for Handling of Case.

Twenty-four men were found not guilty yesterday of charges of using the mails to defraud in connection with a scheme to sell peanut vending machines. Judge Michael L. Igoe delivered the verdict after a bench trial in federal District court. The government has accused the men of fleecing midwest investors of $832,000.

Judge Igoe, who had heard the stories of 43 aged investors who testified that they lost all or part of their savings, roundly rebuked government attorneys and investigators for the way in which the case was presented.

Sales Made "in Good Faith."

In a short oral opinion he asserted that the government had failed to prove that Albert G. Burns, the principal defendant and salesmanager of the now bankrupt Manufacturers Research institute, 624 South Michigan avenue, had any knowledge of the finances of the company. He upheld the contention of Burns and the other defendants, all salesmen, that they made their sales in good faith and in ignorance of the precarious financial condition of the company which resulted in the investors' losses.

"I cannot find anything indicative of a fraud in the evidence," Judge Igoe said. I cannot understand how or why this indictment was drawn since most of the principals in the scheme, if there was a scheme, are not defendants and we have here only a group of salesmen."

Treasurer Called as Witness.

Judge Igoe asserted that the government had called as witnesses Fred E. Greilsheim, treasurer of the company; Miss Isobel Eggleston, who converted to cash securities taken in payment for machines, and Alfred Newman, who supervised the placing of the machines, and had placed its stamp of approval on them while it was bringing all its power to focus on salesmen who were lesser employés.

The indictment was obtained in August, 1940, by William J. Campbell, the former United States attorney who is now a district judge. It was prosecuted by Francis J. McGreal who was assigned to the case after A. Bradley Eben, a former assistant United States attorney, resigned. Attorney Charles Bellows was chief counsel for the defense.

The president of the company, Harold E. Taylor, 10907 Longwood drive, was granted a severance at the beginning of the trial three weeks ago because he is ill.

ACT TO REVOKE 2 LA SALLE NIGHT CLUB LICENSES

La Salle, Ill., Oct. 9 [Special].—Action to revoke the licenses of two night clubs in La Salle was started today when two members of the state liquor commission found wide open gambling in operation in the places. William M. Devine, commission secretary, and Commissioner Charles J. Fleck, who are making a first hand survey of La Salle county liquor law violations, ordered the owners to appear before the commission in Springfield.

Devine reported that 15 slot machines, crap and roulette tables and a bingo game weer found in operation when he and Commissioner Fleck visited Kelly and Cawley's night club which occupies two floors of a building on the city's main business street. Crap and roulette games were going when they visited the Silver Congo a half block away. Both places have two bars.

Devine reported that he was unable to get in touch with Sheriff E. J. Welter or State's Attorney Taylor Wilhelm. Both were reported out of town. Sheriff Welter ordered all gambling in the county closed last Tuesday.

Hold Ex-Convict Caught with Sawed-Off Shotgun

Joseph Kinley, a paroled convict from the Indiana state penitentiary in Michigan City, was held for federal grand jury action yesterday in bond of $15,000. Kinley pleaded guilty to a charge of possessing a sawed-off shotgun in violation of the national firearms act. Jerome Bolding, another ex-convict arrested with Kinley, was dismissed after he testified that he did not know Kinley had the gun.

Accused of Shooting

MARY CINTORINO.

New York, Oct. 9 (AP).—A farewell kiss and three revolver shots marked the end of a five year romance in Brooklyn today. Mary Cintorino, a 24 year old factory worker, was accused of shooting her sweetheart while kissing him good-by in a darkened hallway shortly after midnight because he had told her he had found another girl.

While the young man, Gus Scaletta, 27, a navy yard welder, was receiving blood transfusions for critical abdomen wounds, the girl was booked on a charge of felonious assault and unlawful possession of a weapon.

At the hospital, the wounded man's sister, Mrs. Carrie Delissio, told police that Scaletta whispered to her: "Please don't be too hard on Mary. I won't talk against her."

5 HELD TO GRAND JURY ON BOOTLEG ALCOHOL CHARGE

United States Commissioner Edwin K. Walker held five men to the federal grand jury yesterday on charges of manufacturing, possessing, and selling bootleg alcohol. The five were arrested last month in a store building at 1844 North Damen avenue which contained a 1,000 gallon still. They are Nick Valente, 3001 Jackson boulevard; William Skally, 1006 North Kedzie avenue; Sam De Rosa, 2934 Jackson boulevard; Joe Aston, 817 Hudson avenue, and Michael Morelli, 409 South Spaulding avenue.

SLAYS HIS BRIDE OF TWO WEEKS IN HOME OF A RIVAL

Peorian Arrested; Says She Was Unfaithful.

Peoria, Ill., Oct. 9 [Special]. — A bridegroom accused of killing his bride of two weeks when he found her early today in the home of a bachelor where she formerly was employed as a housekeeper, was arrested tonight after an all day hunt. He was found in a tavern.

The slaying of Mrs. Blanche Wagener, 26 years old, followed a round of taverns last night by both the victim and her husband, Irwin Wagener, 40, who were in separate parties.

Police said they learned that Mrs. Wagener's companions were an unidentified man and Mrs. Mary Rupert, 34, and Elmer Davis, 39, both Peorians. Wagener was accompanied by two other men.

They Meet at Tavern.

The two parties crossed trails in a south side tavern where Wagener talked for a few minutes with his wife, apparently voicing no objections at that time to her being escorted by another man. Wagener and his companions then left and a little later Mrs. Wagener's party entered a car and drove away.

The bride was driven to the home of John Lakota in suburban Bartonville where she had been employed for more than two years prior to her recent marriage. Mrs. Rupert and the unidentified man left the Lakota home, but Mrs. Wagener stayed.

About 2:30 a. m. Wagener went to the Lakota home and asked Lakota, who came to the door, if his wife was there. Lakota said "no," and closed the door. Wagener broke down the door, knocked Lakota unconscious, and began searching for his bride, police reported.

Breaks Into Bathroom.

She ran to the bathroom and locked herself in. Wagener broke down the door and shot her twice in the head. When Lakota regained consciousness he called authorities and told them of the slaying. Wagener is a truck driver and Lakota, 46, is a laborer at the Keystone Steel and Wire company.

Wagener appeared late this afternoon at the tavern where he and his bride had met last night. He admitted the slaying, charging his bride had been unfaithful, police said.

Convict Throws Lye

Howard Morton. Anthony Lupe.

Anthony Lupe, 43 years old, a guard for the last eight years in the Indiana state penitentiary at Michigan City, faced possible loss of his sight last night after a Negro convict had doused him with a bucket of lye and beaten him several times with a hammer. The convict, who was overpowered quickly by other guards, is Howard Morton, 34 years old, of Terre Haute, Ind., who is serving 5 to 21 years for attempted rape. The attack took place in the prison soap factory. Lupe recently had reported Morton for stealing soap and Morton had been placed in solitary confinement for two days.

LIQUOR CONTROL OFFICIAL FINDS ROCKFORD 'O.K.'

Rockford, Ill., Oct. 9 [Special].—William M. Devine, secretary of the state liquor control commission, who on Tuesday expressed dissatisfaction with liquor conditions here, decided today that things are all right, after he had been taken before the county grand jury on a subpena obtained by State's Attorney Max Weston.

Subpenas for Devine and Liquor Commissioner Charles J. Fleck were issued last night after the two men came here supposedly to confer with local and Camp Grant authorities, but could not be located.

Local officials said the commissioners told them, after the grand jury hearing, that their abrupt complaint had been a mistake. They had been interested principally in soldiers' visits to taverns, but camp officials said they considered liquor conditions in Rockford better than at most army posts.

NEW STATEVILLE WARDEN ORDERS FIRM DISCIPLINE

Edward M. Stubblefield of Brighton, Macoupin county, yesterday took over his duties as warden of Stateville and Joliet prisons. Stubblefield, who had been serving as first assistant warden in charge of the old Joliet prison since last May, was appointed to his new post several days ago by Gov. Green.

Stubblefield announced that discipline would be the keynote of his administration.

"Discipline will begin with the highest officers in the institutions and will be demanded of every employé," he said.

The new warden was elected sheriff of Macoupin county in 1926 and when his term expired four years later he was appointed first assistant warden in charge of the old Joliet prison. He held that position until 1934 when former Gov. Alf M. Landon appointed him deputy warden in charge of the Kansas state prison at Lansing, Kan.

Stubblefield remained at the Kansas prison until 1937 when he returned to manage his stock farm near Brighton.

TWO SUSPECTS IN MILEY KILLING SEIZED IN TEXAS

Fort Worth, Tex., Oct. 9 (AP).—Detective Captain A. E. Dowell tonight announced that two suspects in the slaying of Marion Miley, golf star, and the fatal wounding of her mother, Mrs. Fred Miley, at Lexington, Ky., are under arrest here and will be returned immediately to Kentucky.

Dowell said he described the men to Sheriff Ernest Thompson of Lexington in a telephone conversation and that Thompson replied: "They're the men we're looking for." The men signed waivers of extradition.

Miss Miley, 27, was killed and her mother was wounded fatally when two men, their faces masked with handkerchiefs, broke into the Miley apartment at the Lexington Country club on Sept. 28. Police theorized that the pair were after receipts from a Saturday night dance at the club, which was managed by Mrs. Miley.

CHICAGO RELIEF LOAD DROPS TO ALL-TIME LOW

Leo M. Lyons, Chicago relief administrator, reported yesterday that the city's relief load had dropped to 60,323 cases in September—an all-time low mark. He estimated the October load would be even less.

Lyons said the number of cases handled in September represented 128,461 persons, a record low figure. The 4,050 relief applications for the month marked a record low for relief intake.

The administrator said the reductions had resulted from Chicago Relief administration efforts to divert reliefers to private employment. He said the Illinois State Employment service had placed 1,200 reliefers in jobs in the last four months and the governor's committee on reëmployment an additional 650.

TEMPTING BROWN BRITTLE PIE WINS DESSERT HONORS

Here Are Best Recipes in Restaurant Contest.

A tempting looking brown brittle pie with pecan crust, entered in a dessert contest sponsored by the Chicago Restaurant Women's club yesterday, tasted equally good to the judges and won first place. The contest was a feature of the National Restaurant association convention which closes today in the American Furniture Mart.

"It's an original recipe," said Miss Jean Stewart, manager of the Abbott Hall restaurant at Northwestern university, "but about 10 persons had a finger in the pie. We've served it for a month and it's popular with both men and women."

It's Simple to Make.

Miss Mary Janulis, 27 years old, head baker, who has had 12 years' experience in restaurant cooking, baked the prize winner. She said assuringly that "it's very simple to make and any homemaker can do it if she follows the recipe."

Restaurants catering to students also won second and third places in the contest. Marshall High school lunchroom took second with a filling for chocolate ice box cake, and the University of Chicago won third with "Mrs. Nipps' cherry pudding." Honorable mentions were awarded to Harding's for a walnut fudge pudding topped with whipped cream, the Lawson YMCA for a grape chiffon pie decorated with a cluster of grapes, and Bartelme's for bridal luncheon cakes made in the shape of hoop skirts and topped with figures of a bride, bridesmaid, and flower girl.

The winning recipe follows:

Brown Brittle Pie with Pecan Crust.

¼ cup butter
⅝ cup brown sugar
⅛ teaspoon salt
1⅝ cup milk
2 tablespoons cornstarch
2 tablespoons pastry flour
3 egg yolks
¾ teaspoon vanilla
1 tablespoon butter
2 egg whites
4 tablespoons cane sugar

Melt butter, add brown sugar, and about ¼ of the milk. Carmelize to 210 degrees, and add half of remaining milk. Mix flour and cornstarch with rest of milk. Beat in egg yolks. Add to the carmelized mixture. Cook till clear. Add butter and vanilla. Beat egg whites stiff, mix in sugar. Fold beaten whites into cooked mix and pour hot into pecan crust. For each crust, blend ½ cup pecans into pie dough. Roll as usual and bake to a light brown color.

For the topping, whip a stiff meringue using 2 tablespoons or 1 ounce of cane sugar for each egg white. Spread on pie filling, smoothing down with spatula. Sift brown sugar over the top and brown under broiler.

The second place recipe:

Filling for Chocolate Ice Box Cake.

3 cakes of German sweet chocolate
3 tablespoons sugar
4½ tablespoons water
6 egg whites, beaten stiff

Put in double boiler and heat until chocolate is melted. Add yolks of six eggs. Cook for 3 or 4 minutes. Cool.

The third prize winning recipe follows:

Cherry Pudding.

1 quart drained frozen cherries
1 teaspoon baking soda
1 quart sugar
⅔ cup flour
2 eggs
¼ cup chopped pecans
4 tablespoons butter
Salt to taste

Cream the butter and sugar. Add eggs gradually, beating all until creamy. Sift flour, salt, and soda. Add ⅔ of the dry ingredients and mix. Add the rest to the nuts and cherries and fold into the other mixture by hand. Bake at 375 degrees 40 to 50 minutes. Serve with whipped cream. Serves 10.

Hurryup Casserole for Supper

When the day's work isn't quite finished, and suppertime is near, just pop this delicious hurryup casserole into the oven, and the meal is almost ready to serve. For four generous portions, use 1 medium can cooked macaroni in cream sauce with cheese, 8 frankfurters, and ¼ cup tomato catsup. Place the macaroni in shallow casserole. Arrange frankfurters in pairs over the top and prick lightly. Pour catsup over the top and bake in moderately hot over, 400 degrees, for 30 minutes. A salad of tossed greens, hot rolls, and mincemeat stuffed apples might complete the menu.

WIVES: IT'S DUTY TO MAKE THE WILD DUCK A DELICACY

Mary Meade Tells How to Prepare Game.

Don't be the woman who wails, "But how will I cook it?" when husband or friend brings home wild game this fall. There's no need for worry. You can find out all about it, and be prepared ahead of time getting a copy of Mary Meade's "How to Cook Wild Game."

This little booklet is only 3 cents at the Public Service offices, 1 South Dearborn street, and in the Tribune Tower, or will be mailed to you for 5 cents in stamps.

The booklet tells how to cook all sorts of furred and feather game. There are complete directions and several recipes for using pheasants and some of the more common birds. What's more, they give the modern method of preparing them.

AUTUMN BRINGS SOME GOOD BUYS TO FOOD STORES

Beef Is Best Bet Along Meat Counters.

BY MARY MEADE.

It's autumn in the groceries. Fall apples and grapes dominate the fruit counters; summer vegetable supplies are diminishing and winter squashes and pumpkins catch your eye, and the heavier meats are again being featured in the meat department.

Hams are back on the sales lists again. Most stores are featuring ham, and you can buy whole hams or halves; shanks, butts, or center slices. Prices for the whole ham run around 25 to 30 cents a pound; shank halves are several cents cheaper than butt ends, and the price jumps up on broad center slices for broiling.

Beef Is Best Buy.

Beef continues to be about the best all 'round buy on the market, tho pork loin roasts under 25 cents a pound compare favorably with the more tender beef roasts. Lamb is still a good buy, selling at little if any more than it has in the last two weeks.

You'll notice that with meat prices all so high, butchers are tempting you with more special prices on sundries and economy cuts. If this helps to increase the appreciation of these nutritious and unusual low-priced cuts, then there is some good in high prices after all.

You can almost count any changes in fruit and vegetable prices on your hands this week. But while there is little actual price change, there are many variations in quality and quantity that will affect your buying.

Spinach Price Unchanged.

Spinach, for instance, is selling at last week's price, but with the season waning, spinach varies greatly in quality and the smart buyer will need sharp eyes.

You get just about what you pay for when you buy green beans. The best quality is still high priced, tho you can get poorer beans for little money. Peas are still rather high priced. They may work somewhat lower next week, however, since they tend to be a little cheaper on the wholesale market.

Also of variable quality are cucumbers, tomatoes, and head lettuce. These are both reasonably priced as yet. Fine tomatoes bring good prices.

Still reasonable are prices for beets, cabbage, carrots, celery, celery cabbage, green peppers, potatoes, turnips, parsnips, and winter squash.

Sweet Potatoes Reasonable.

Sweet potatoes are quite reasonable this fall—cheaper than a year ago. And now is the time to dress up economy meats with mushrooms. This vegetable is low priced, and supplies are increasing.

Apples and western grapes are the big news on any fruit cart. Apples, which cost more this year than usual, are nevertheless an outstanding fruit buy. The fancy northwestern apples are a little cheaper this week, while prices on local apples remain steady.

As for western grapes, they're all reasonable and you can have about any type and variety your fancy dictates.

You'll still find a few peaches, a few Italian prunes, and cantaloupes on the market. Honeydews are the most plentiful of the melons available.

To take the place of these fruits, there's cherry rhubarb from California; a few quinces, and Bartlett pears, which are a bit less expensive this week-end.

Pomegranates on Market.

Pomegranates, the fruit with the pretty red seeds, are now available. Use the seeds in salads, and extract the juice for brightly colored beverages. The juice combines well with other fruits.

Avocados aren't too high to find a place in your salads. Most of them come from Florida, but some California avocados are here now.

They're high priced, but if you're really hard put for fruit variety, you might serve fresh red raspberries and strawberries, which are shipped here from California.

Oranges are even a little more high priced this week-end. And the first carload of Florida grapefruit which arrived this week sold to wholesalers at much higher prices than last year's first carload.

Danish Cabbage Tempting as Luncheon Main Dish

This cabbage is for your luncheon main dish, and a tempting lunch it will be, too.

Danish Cabbage.

[Serves four.]

1½ cups diced onions
3 tablespoons butter or bacon fat
3½ ounce jar dried beef, cut in pieces
½ cup diced green pepper
4 cups coarsely shredded cabbage
3 tablespoons chili sauce

Slowly sauté the onions in butter until yellow. Add dried beef and sauté until browned. Add green pepper and cabbage and sauté 10 minutes longer, stirring frequently. Add chili sauce and mix well. Season to taste and serve immediately.

Tuna Fish Sandwiches

Now that autumn is here, Sunday night suppers and late evening snacks call for some food that is hot and substantial, yet easy to prepare. These tempting tuna fish sandwiches will take care of the heartiest cold weather appetites. To make, spread 4 slices of bread lightly with butter. Place in buttered baking pan and set under broiler to toast to a golden brown. Blend 2 tablespoons flour with the oil drained from a 7 ounce can tuna fish. Heat until smooth and bubbling, then stir in ⅓ cup boiling water and 1 tall can evaporated milk. Cook until thickened, stirring constantly. Add flaked tuna and season to taste. Pour over toasted bread. Cover with 1 cup grated American cheese and set under broiler until bubbling hot and cheese is melted.

Here's Swell Way to Make Squashes More Delicious

Here's a tricky and delicious method of preparing those dark green accordion pleated acorn squashes. Cut the squash in halves and remove the seeds. Brush each half with a half tablespoon of butter and one tablespoon of molasses, then dust every so lightly with powdered mace and ground allspice. Bake in a moderately hot [375 degrees] oven for about 45 minutes, or until done.

There Are Cookies and Cookies—but O, Cooky!

Don't infer from their name that these cookies are just ordinary ones, for it isn't every cookie that boasts a bit of honey flavor in each bite.

Everyday Cookies.

½ cup butter
½ cup sugar
½ cup honey
1 egg
¾ cup flour
½ teaspoon soda
½ teaspoon baking powder
¼ teaspoon salt
1 cup quick cooking oats
1 cup shredded coconut
1 teaspoon vanilla
½ cup chopped nutmeats

Cream butter, sugar, and honey together until light and fluffy. Add well beaten egg, blend together. Sift flour with dry ingredients; stir well. Add oats, coconut and vanilla. Add nutmeats. Spread on greased baking sheets; bake in moderate oven, 350 degrees, for 12 to 15 minutes. Cut in bars.

LIKE CONSERVES? GRAPE-ORANGE IS ONE OF THE BEST

Conserves are probably the most elegant member of the jelly and jam family—and this super de luxe grape and orange conserve is no exception.

Grape-Orange Conserve.

1 medium orange
8 cups prepared Concord grapes
Sugar
½ teaspoon salt
⅔ cup English walnuts

Scrub orange and cut into thin slivers, measure and for each cup add 1½ cups water. Cover and let stand over night. Then bring to a boil and simmer about 30 minutes, or until the rind is tender. Wash and stem about 3½ pounds of slightly under-ripe grapes. Put in large kettle and crush. Bring grapes slowly to a boil and simmer, covered for about 5 minutes or until soft. Rub thru coarse sieve to remove seeds. Add orange and measure mixture. Add ¾ cup sugar for each cup of fruit. Add salt and cook until mixture is thick, stirring frequently to prevent burning. Add broken nutmeats and pour into clean hot jars immediately, sealing at once.

CREAMED EGGS ARE TOO TASTY TO BE FORGOTTEN

Creamed eggs are such a simple luncheon dish, that it's easy to forget to serve them at all. And creamed eggs are too good to be neglected. Make a white sauce by cooking a tablespoon or two of minced onion in 3 tablespoons of butter, then blend in 4 tablespoons of flour, 1 teaspoon of salt, and ¼ teaspoon of white pepper. Add 2 cups of milk and cook until thickened. Then add 6 hard cooked eggs, chopped. Serve on toast with a sprinkling of parsley. These are a delicious topping for cheese waffles.

First Rule for Carving: Cut Meat Across Grain

The first and foremost rule for the meat carver is to cut across the grain. This shortens the fibers and makes the meat seem even more tender than it is.

"No Light Came On"

By Alice Ormond Campbell

[Copyright: 1941: By Alice Ormond Campbell]

INSTALMENT XXIX.
SECOND DEATH.

I stood up. "I am not one bit nervous about that, Manx. That will do, you can take the tray."

"No, miss?" He stooped over the small table. "I'd have said it was embarrassing, highly so, for any one mentioned in either of these two wills.

"Any one, that is, in my lady's company just at a given time. I wasn't, as you know; but I'll not deny knowing the gist of the wills, yes, both of them. The master's was read out. My lady told me what was in hers, when she got me to sign as witness. Very awkward, you'll agree."

"Why awkward? Only the person who could have got hold of benzedrine can have anything to fear."

His bullet head turned, but not toward me. No, it was the door he was eying. He picked up his load of silver and Crown Derby and went quietly out.

I heard him speaking to Horace, who at that very moment must have come in. My head swam with relief as Horace himself pushed into the study and squashed into an armchair.

"O, God!" he groaned.

"I was burning to tell him about Manx, but how could I just then? Utterly flummoxed and self-absorbed, he had sunk his streaked head on his flabby, cushioned palms. Presently he began to speak. The questioning had gone on without a break since 5 o'clock, leaving him all in.

"And mark you, there'll be more of it tomorrow. O, Gay, what devil made my brother Hiram will me his damned money?"

I curbed a vicious desire to remind him he wasn't the only sufferer in this respect, but the remarks I did make passed right over his head. Then I asked if he'd had dinner, and my question penetrated, tho after some delay.

"Dinner! No, but let it go. I feel I never want to see food again. As a matter of fact I think that rogue said something about cold salmon on a tray."

He went on moaning about this sort of experience being a knockout for any one of his temperament.

"And look here!" He reared a flayed head. "Don't you start saying I brought it all on myself!"

"Me?" I gazed at him astonished. "But you did right! You ought to feel thankful you uncovered a perfectly beastly crime. Don't you want to see whoever committed it get punished?"

"What's that?" His glassy eyes accused mine. "By God, he's going to get his—and how!" Suddenly he wilted. "But suppose we can't ever prove who it was?"

It was a childish whine that confirmed my impression. Horace had bitten off considerably more than he could chew. The responsibility appalled him, and there was no good of me telling him the big reputation enjoyed by the Surete Generale. All he did was wag a despondent head. Manx brought in food and set it down. Horace roused and called him back.

"Is Hortense up?" he demanded.

Manx answered that he believed she had retired to her room—and as he said it he kept a steady eye on me. "Would you care to speak to her, sir?"

"No . . . no!"

Horace lowered the arresting fish fork and gave a fretful sigh. Manx waited a moment, then softly went out. For a little I watched Horace toy with the salmon mayonnaise he seemed unable to swallow, but my day had about finished me, so when the clock on the mantel struck 10 I excused myself and started to go.

"What, already?" Horace made an injured grab. "Sit a while, there's a good girl, help me calm down."

He hadn't slept for nights, he protested, and I knew it was so. I gave in, hiding my resignation, and asked if it wouldn't be a good idea to play a little backgammon. I knew he'd often had a game with Cousin Lou.

"Eh?" No! That is, I suppose so. I'll get the board."

It was a beautiful old shell inlaid board, kept in a lacquered corner cupboard. I moved the tray so we could set it between us on the stool and let Horace choose the red men. We played, then, after a fashion, at long intervals making moves. My eyes were falling shut. Several times I moved the red men, but I didn't think Horace noticed. And then I woke up. It was high time I told Horace how Hortense had called Manx a murderer and got laid out for her indiscretion. I listened, in case Manx was hanging about, decided to chance it, and made a start.

"Listen, Mr. Rentrew," I whispered. "I don't know now if I oughtn't to have rung the police, but the fact is this afternoon, right after you went out——"

What on earth had bitten him? He'd jumped, gone greasily white.

"That noise, Gay. Did you hear it."

"What noise? O, you mean a kind of bump? I thought it was outdoors."

Horace upset the backgammon board getting to the window. "Don't notice anything." He spoke from the parted curtains. "Sounded to me somewhere in the apartment."

"At the back, then. It wasn't close."

With the impact of a fist horridly fresh in my memory I followed Horace into the hall, but I didn't stop with him to look into the front rooms. I went straight to the baize door where the main hall ended and pushed it open. Then I paused. Horace joined me, grumbling that no picture had fallen down, and stood undecidedly just behind. Quite near us a door gently closed.

"Be careful," I murmured. "I'm rather afraid."

I didn't say of what, for we were only a few steps off from the two bedrooms occupied by Manx and Hortense. I was listening for a groan, but the only sound I noticed was water running in the servants' bathroom. These rear rooms overlooked a small tradesman's court walled in on all four sides by the building. An idea had come to me. I wanted to see out.

"I don't think it can be anything," Horace said, but I tiptoed ahead into the kitchen.

Horace grunted, but came along. I was leaning thru the casement window, peering far below into a sombre quadrangle lit by one iron lanterned bulb.

"No," I said, "I'm wrong."

Beneath me three blinds shot up, making livid oblongs of glare. Horace craned past me, pointing a rigid forefinger.

"Look! Down there!"

I looked again—and saw. On the dark flagstones of the little court a darker, huddled blob.

"What is it?" I'd turned cold inside. I knew.

Thru a tunneled passage the concierge came pattering in pantoufles to meet a man in chauffeur's livery, appeared from nowhere. Mutely the two gazed on the still, crumbled form. We on high heard hissing gasps, then the concierge looked up, cupped her mouth with her hands and uttered a croak.

"You ask," wheezed Horace. His throat seemed closed up.

"Who is it?" I shouted.

The chauffeur called aloft, his voice making hollow echoes:

"Mademoiselle Hortense . . . She is dead."

Inanely I'd uncorked a small bottle I'd found and was holding it under Horace's nose.

"Don't faint," I begged. "O, don't you see what this means?"

He just sagged like a dead cod. "I—I can never look at a corpse. I . . . Where the devil is Manx?"

That was so, where was Manx?" All this hullabaloo, the court down there fast cluttering with people, and our butler invisible. Pungent oil on my hands; smelling of wintergreen. Of Hortense. No Manx . . . I was about to say that it wasn't strange not finding him here when a voice spoke, and there in the kitchen doorway I saw the man himself.

"I heard, sir. Shall I go down? "I looked at him. His face was still a gray concrete mask.

"We—we'll all go down."

Horace hadn't noticed my warning nudge. He was pulling himself together most commendably tho he still shuddered and drew a dazed palm across his forehead.

"Hortense!" He seemed unable to believe. "Hold on! Manx, she was in her room? Yes, by God! And she'd locked herself in!" In futile frenzy he rattled the knob.

"No, sir, I think not. It's only stuck."

STRING ALONG WITH SPAGHETTI, A BUDGET'S PAL!

Low Cost Meals Can Solve Money Problem.

BY YVONNE CROWLEY.

When the grocery bill begins to exceed the food allowance it's time to balance the budget with a few economy meals. Low cost cereal products such as macaroni, spaghetti, and noodles, will solve many a menu problem, for these bland foods combine well with many kinds of meat, fish and vegetables.

Spaghetti or macaroni, which can be used interchangeably in most recipes, are always good served Italian style with well-seasoned tomato sauce. Besides the usual tubular shape, macaroni is also available in small forms—elbows, shells, twists, rosettes and even alphabet letters.

These cereal foods are made from hard wheat flour, rich in gluten. Since their protein content is high, they can be frequently substituted for meat in the meal. Most cooks prefer to use them as extenders for small amounts of leftovers. Many a tempting casserole dish can be made in this way.

How to Cook Macaroni.

To cook macaroni, spaghetti or noodles, drop pieces into a large quantity of boiling salted water, using about 2 quarts of water and 2 teaspoons salt for each cup. Boil 9 to 12 minutes, or until soft. [Directions on the package give definite cooking time.] Drain in strainer and pour cold water over cooked paste if necessary to remove starch and prevent stickiness. Reheat in a sauce, cream or butter, or use as desired. The food will double in bulk on cooking. Allow 1 to 1½ ounces uncooked cereal paste for each serving.

Either spaghetti or noodles may be substituted for macaroni in the following recipe:

Baked Macaroni and Cheese.

[Serves 6 to 8.]

1 8 ounce package macaroni
4 tablespoons butter
4 tablespoons flour
1½ teaspoons salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
½ teaspoon dry mustard
½ teaspoon paprika
2½ cups milk
1 cup [¼ pound] grated American cheese
1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce

Cook macaroni in boiling salted water until tender; rinse and drain. Melt butter, stir in flour, salt, pepper, mustard, and paprika. When well blended, add milk slowly, stirring constantly over low heat until mixture thickens and boils. Add cheese and Worcestershire sauce, and stir until cheese has melted. Add drained macaroni and pour mixture into greased baking dish. Bake in moderately hot oven, 375 degrees, for 20 to 25 minutes, until lightly browned. [Sprinkle with 1 cup buttered bread crumbs, if desired, before baking.]

Variations.

Macaroni with Meat: Add 1 cup chopped cooked ham, corned beef, or smoked tongue to the recipe. Reduce salt to ½ teaspoon.

Macaroni with Vegetables: Add 1 cup of any leftover cooked vegetable to the macaroni mixture.

Macaroni with tuna fish: Add one cup canned, flaked tuna fish to the recipe.

Macaroni with shrimps: Substitute one cup cooked or canned shrimps for the cheese. Add ¼ cup minced green pepper or ½ cup diced celery.

Macaroni a la king: Line bottom and sides of greased casserole with cooked macaroni; fill center with chicken a la king; top with macaroni.

Macaroni-broccoli casserole: Substitute two cups chopped, cooked broccoli for cheese; add ¾ cup mayonnaise to the sauce before adding macaroni.

These all in one dish recipes need no more than a crisp green salad, or molded vegetable salad, rolls, a fruity dessert, and beverage to make a substantial and most appetizing meal.

Creole Beef with Noodles.

[Serves six.]

1 pound lean beef, ground
3 tablespoons fat
2 cups hot water
2 teaspoons salt
1 cup diced celery
¾ cup diced onion
1 cup tomato puree, or condensed soup
½ eight ounce package noodles

Sauté meat in fat until well browned, stirring occasionally; then add water, cover and simmer 20 minutes. Add salt, vegetables and puree, and cook 20 minutes longer, or until vegetables are soft and mixture has thickened. Cook noodles in boiling salted water until tender; drain and combine with sauce in a greased casserole. Place in moderately hot oven, 375 degrees, for about 20 minutes or until lightly browned.

Spaghetti-Sausage Platter.

[Serves six.]

1 eight ounce package spaghetti
¼ cup melted butter.
3 slices pineapple
1 pound link sausages

Cook spaghetti in boiling salted water until tender. Rinse and drain and mix well with melted butter. Arrange in mound on serving platter. Surround with sausages that have been cooked until golden brown. Garnish the platter with broiled pineapple slices. Serve at once.

Spaghetti-Tuna Luncheon.

[Serves six.]

1 tablespoon butter
2 tablespoons flour
2 cups milk
½ teaspoon salt
1 eight ounce package spaghetti, cooked
½ pound pimiento cheese
1 can tuna fish
1 small can mushrooms
½ green pepper, minced
3 hard cooked eggs, sliced

Add cooked spaghetti to white sauce made of the first four ingredients. Cut cheese into small pieces, flake tuna fish and add with mushrooms, green pepper, and eggs to the spaghetti. Put the mixture in a greased baking dish, top with buttered crumbs if desired, and brown in a moderately hot oven, 375 degrees.

"Better change to McLAUGHLIN'S MANOR HOUSE COFFEE and set him up for the day!"

"Nothing upsets John like wishy-washy coffee!"

All you need to decide is whether coffee tastes good. But if it doesn't—learn why!

It's no secret that many coffees today aren't roasted at all. They're "baked"! Yes, by being rushed through those new-fangled, highly advertised indirect heaters. That actually bakes out delicate flavor oils!

But, hooray—Manor House is one coffee that's really roasted! The only way coffee can be roasted: over an open flame. Slow? Yes! Old-fashioned? Sure! But, ahhh, what glorious, fresh-roasted flavor it brings to your cup!

Be thrifty, and get the 2-lb. jar of Manor House. Its air-tight lid keeps coffee fresh as the daisies of Spring.

FRIED APPLES AND BACON...

m-m-m! What a Sunday Breakfast

AMONG all the dozens of delicious ways to serve apples—either fresh or cooked—here's one that will hit the bull's-eye with every member of your family. It's an old favorite, which many people swear is the finest Sunday breakfast known to man:

"Core and cut apples into thin slices. Next put your skillet on the stove and put in about one-half cup of water, depending upon the amount of apples to be cooked and whether the apples are soft or hard and juicy. Put the apples into the skillet, and cover. Cook for ten or fifteen minutes until the apples get spongy.

"Then stir in about a tablespoonful of lard or butter and cook without lid until the apples are slightly brown; add sugar to taste and a pinch of salt—stirring frequently so that the apples will not burn. Cook until apples are thoroughly brown. Serve with bacon, liver, sausage or chicken hash, plus pancakes or waffles."

TOP-NOTCH CUP OF COFFEE, TEA IS IMPORTANT

First Cooking Lesson Deals with These.

This is the first in a series of cooking lessons which will appear in these pages each Friday. The lessons will cover all branches of cooking and each will be a simple discussion of the fundamental rules in food preparation. It is hoped that they will be of help to seasoned cooks as well as to beginners. Today's lesson concerns tea, coffee, hot chocolate, and cocoa.

BY RUTH COOK STEWART.

Probably one of the first things any would-be cook should learn is how to make a top-notch cup of coffee or tea.

Both tea and coffee making follow the same general principles. Making either is literally a process of "soaking out" the flavor of the coffee berry or tea leaf with hot water. The quality and quantity of this "soaked out" flavor depends upon [1] the proportions of coffee berries or tea leaves and water used; [2] the temperature of the water, and [3] the length of time it remains in contact with the coffee or tea; [4] the quality and freshness of the equipment and ingredients used. From these factors come the rules which you must follow to get good coffee and tea. Here they are:

GENERAL RULES FOR MAKING COFFEE AND TEA.

1. Measurements: For tea use 1 level teaspoon tea leaves per 8 ounce cup of water. For coffee: Use 2 level tablespoons of ground coffee per 8 ounce cup of water. Use standard measuring cups and spoons. Your table china and silver do not have the same volume as standard measuring equipment.

2. Temperature and time: For tea use rapidly boiling water and let stand over tea leaves in pot for from 3 to 5 minutes. Then pour off, straining out tea leaves. For coffee time and temperature vary with the type of coffee maker used. In a drip pot boiling water is poured into the top compartment and allowed to trickle thru the grounds. In a vacuum coffee maker and a percolator cold water is used and is heated in the pot. In the best of these the water is in contact with the grounds long before it reaches boiling temperature. Follow individual manufacturer's directions for best results with vacuum pots; but whatever you do, do not allow the water to stand in the upper compartment in contact with the grounds for too long a time. Violent bubbling will warn you to turn off the heat. With percolators keep heat very low when water begins to percolate and turn off after 5 to 8 minutes.

3. Quality and freshness of ingredients: Use a good grade of coffee or tea if you want good results. In buying coffee select the grind best suited to your type of coffee maker. All teas fall into three classifications. Green tea is unfermented, has a sharp flavor and little aroma. Black tea, fermented, is milder in flavor and has a pleasing aroma. Oolong, semifermented, is something of a cross between the other two. Such terms as pekoe, orange pekoe, and gunpowder refer to the size of tea leaf only. To keep tea and coffee fresh store in airtight containers in a cool place.

Remember that "freshness" applies to the water as well. Use freshly drawn water and let it come to a full boil, then use immediately. If water is allowed to boil for any length of time it loses air and acquires a flat taste.

4. Cleanliness of equipment: Keep your coffee and tea making equipment spotlessly clean and be sure that you rinse well after washing. A slightly soapy taste ruins any brew. Many connoisseurs prefer to use only nonmetal pots, because of the slight "taste" they can detect in coffee or tea brewed in metal. Heavy pottery and earthenware pots have the advantage of keeping the contents warm longer when tea or drip coffee is made in them. Always scald out the teapot with hot water before putting in the tea leaves as a means of heating the pot.

Chocolate, Cocoa Differ.

Hot chocolate and cocoa require a different treatment. Both chocolate and cocoa have a little of the thickening power of flour or starch and must be cooked to avoid a raw taste and blended carefully with other ingredients. Milk, used in making these beverages, needs extra care too, if scorching and scum formation is to be avoided.

As in coffee and tea making, careful measuring and the use of high grade materials is important. The usual proportion is 2 squares of chocolate or ¼ cup cocoa to 4 cups of liquid. Sweetening depends on taste and from 2 to 4 tablespoons are used to 4 cups of liquid. A dash of salt and sometimes the smallest speck of cinnamon is added to bring out the rich, chocolate flavor.

The best means of avoiding that raw uncooked taste is to cook the chocolate or the cocoa with water before adding the milk. Use water for one of the 4 cups of liquid and add to it the cut-up chocolate or the cocoa. When using chocolate, heat slowly, stirring until melted, before adding sugar and salt. Add sugar and salt immediately when using cocoa. Bring this mixture to a boil, and cook for about 4 minutes, stirring constantly. Cook in top of double boiler over direct heat. Don't neglect the stirring or you'll have a scorched flavor.

Now Add Milk.

Now place over hot water and add the 3 cups of milk. To save time this may be scalded first. Add the milk gradually, stirring continually to blend well. If you stir constantly and keep the heat low, it will not be necessary to use a double boiler, but the beginning cook will find it easier to use one. When hot, beat well with a rotary beater to break up the scum that forms on top and to give an attractive foamy appearance to the beverage.

Next week's lesson will concern meat cookery. Knowing how to prepare the economy meat cuts can probably do more than anything else to help the bride keep her budget trimmed. And it's even more important to have the tender expensive cuts done to a turn, since a failure here involves a greater waste of money. Meat cookery rules are simple and easy to follow.

HERE'S FLAVORSOME TREAT FOR EVERYBODY —SPINACH IN A RING

Everybody likes his spinach in a ring mold. And here's a particularly flavorsome one. Pep it up still more with a dash of marjoram if you have some on your spice shelves.

Spinach Ring.

- 2¼ cups cooked chopped spinach
- Dash of pepper
- 3 eggs, slightly beaten
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1 teaspoon scraped onion
- 2 tablespoons melted butter

Add seasonings, eggs, and butter to the drained spinach and turn into a well greased ring mold. Place in pan of hot water and bake in a moderate [375 degrees] oven for half an hour or until firm. Serve with any cream vegetable or with a mashed squash center.

CRANBERRY TIME AGAIN!

HOME-MADE CRANBERRRY SAUCE

2 cups sugar — 2 cups water
1 pound (4 cups) Eatmor Cranberries

Boil sugar and water together 5 minutes. Add cranberries and boil, without stirring, 5 minutes or until all the skins pop open. Remove from fire and allow the sauce to remain in the saucepan until cool. Makes 1 quart.

For a thinner sauce—just bring sugar and water to a boil, then add cranberries and cook until they stop popping.

CRANBERRY ORANGE RELISH

1 pound (4 cups) Eatmor Cranberries
2 oranges — 2 cups sugar

Put cranberries through food chopper. Quarter whole oranges, remove seeds and chop. Add sugar and mix well. Let stand a few hours before serving. Makes 1 quart.

You'll like this fresh relish with chicken—hot or cold—and it's just as good with roasts or chops. Or try it in a colorful jellied salad.

FASHIONS by ANGELA

Pretty and comfortable lounging is an art. Too many huarried housewives and bushed business girls think only of the comfort angle and permit themselv s t: look a little careless, which is a bad habit even in the intimate presence of members of the family.

Be charming as well as cozy for your Sunday morning breakfast in a gown and quilted coat of matching material. The first sketch illustrates the point. It is a simple gown with a flattering V neckline of a flower printed rayon crêpe. The coat has less bulk than the ordinary quilted robe because it is just knee length and also the padding is thinner and consequently less puffy. You can find it in such colors as black, light pink or blue background with patches of bright colored flowers.

The brunch coat in the center is a very efficient item. It is intended to serve the same purpose as a house coat, with all the comfort and ease and casualness but with the added practical feature of being short skirted and not the soil gatherer for the girl who does kitchen police. There is a zipper fly-front closing just like a house coat and also a set-in waistband that ties in front. Printed rayon crêpe in a variety of colors. Under $4.

For the boudoir is a piece of feminine fluff which is a gown and coat combination. The plain untrimmed satin gown is revealingly concealed in a film of chiffon which fashions the long sleeved coat. A little bit of a train on the coat gives added grace. In blue, yellow, bridal pink or candlelight, which is a delicate creamy color with a slight blush. Under $8.

West Division Class of '85 Has 56th Reunion

A group of lads and lassies who used to go to school together met last night for a quiet reunion dinner at 72 East 11th street.

There were 12 women and six men, all on their best behavior but obviously excited, when the last call to the banquet sounded.

"Say, reporter, how come you're here?" inquired Judge George Fred Rush. "This reunion isn't news. We've been doing the same thing every year for 56 years!"

And so they have.

In those days—it was the spring of 1885—there were just three high schools in Chicago. West Division High, at Morgan and Monroe streets, drew from some of Chicago's first families, since there had been an exodus from the near loop districts after the Chicago fire 14 years before. That spring there were 86 members in the graduation class.

They'd had a lot of fun in school—the parties, sleigh rides, and the gabfests of the Irving society, which was THE literary group of the school.

One of the classmates—time has obscured just who—suggested that school friendships need not end. Why not form a club, have annual meetings?

So "The Class of '85" club was formed and last night it met for the 56th time. In recent years the talk has turned to small gossip, eulogies of members who have died. Last night was no exception.

All of those present were from Chicago and the immediate vicinity. The men were Judge Rush, Walter S. Holden, Harry A. Rice, Harry V. King, Ernest M. Kimball, and George I. Hicks.

The ladies were: Mrs. Mary Mitchell Lalor, Miss Lillian F. Dougherty, Mrs. Ida Tucker Morris, Mrs. Jessie Wilson Kimball, Mrs. Esther Friend Falkenau, Dr. Ida Putnam, Miss Jennie Lintuman, Mrs. Anna Long Merrell, Mrs. Miriam Crocker Carter, Mrs. Carrie Cuyler Wilson, Miss Frances Patterson, and Miss Anna Howard.

Ernest Kimball and his wife, Jessie, were married in 1905—20 years after they were graduated together.

According to CULBERTSON

[Copyright: 1941: By Ely Culbertson.]

Many hands that involve highly delicate decisions at duplicate bridge offer clear-cut methods of play at rubber bridge. Many a time, when playing the latter game, I have said: "I am glad that I don't have to play this hand at match-points." The hand shown below was in that category.

The bidding:

| South | West | North | East |
|---|---|---|---|
| 1 heart | Pass | 2 diamonds | Pass |
| 4 hearts | Pass | Pass | Pass |

West opened the club king. Declarer held up the ace for one round and took the club continuation. He then entered dummy with a diamond, to finesse for the trump king. West, however, gobbled up the trick with his king and, after cashing another club trick, cut the communication between declarer and his dummy by returning another diamond. Declarer then was helpless. His own last diamond was gone and, thus, in order to get a spade discard he had to attempt to cash a third diamond trick on the spot. West ruffed, however, for the fourth and setting trick.

Since this hand was played at rubber bridge, declarer's technique had been nothing short of horrible. The heart finesse was not a vital point. He could well afford to lose two club tricks and a heart, but could not afford to give up his diamond entry to the dummy while there still were trumps at large. Thus, at rubber bridge the correct play was to lay down the ace and queen of hearts as soon as possible, gladly conceding the heart king to the enemy.

Had the hand occurred in a match-point duplicate game, declarer would have had a real problem. To make just four hearts and contract, he should, of course, play as outlined, but this might return a poor match-point score if the heart king were in a finessable position. Frankly, I should not care to decide the best play at a match-point game since, by entering dummy with a diamond and successfully finessing hearts, declarer could make a grand slam. I am inclined to believe that at duplicate this risk would be legitimate, but at rubber bridge it was quite another matter.

Numerology By Evelyn Holmes

Oct. 10, 1941.

Universal day—A very energetic day so make the most of it.

Looking back—Yesterday we saw how the six-year worked in the life of Bette Davis, and now let's look at the six-year of Joe Louis, who was born on May 13. You all know that he had to make a marital adjustment. He certainly conformed to the keywords we have for six. Adjustment, reconciliation, working for harmony in relationships, reëstablishing a home, and being willing to sacrifice your own personal ends for the good of those bound to you in family ties. Sometimes, if one doesn't try to patch up or avoid family disagreements in a six-year, a seven-year brings change and loss. How did you manage your six-year? Did you give of yourself generously to hold together and beautify the home?

Maurice Leahy, editor and poet, will give a series of five lecture conferences on modern drama and poetry, particularly on the Abbey theater, beginning this evening, at the Congress hotel.

Columbus Day Observance to Cover 3 Days

Columbus day, the anniversary of Columbus' discovery of America, will be observed Sunday. Celebrations will begin tomorrow night with the annual charity ball sponsored by the Chicago chapter of the Knights of Columbus in the Palmer House.

Jacob A. Mueller, chairman, announced that the proceeds will go to the club for service men, 1122 South Wabash avenue, sponsored by the National Catholic Community Service division of the USO. More than 1,000 couples are expected to participate in the opening grand march which will be led by Leo M. Flynn, state deputy, and Mrs. Flynn, and George A. Wahl, president, and Mrs. Wahl.

The Harold A. Taylor post, No. 47, of the American Legion will unveil a bronze plaque commemorating the recent dedication of the 40 foot flag pole and flag in front of the Dearborn Plaza hotel, 1032 North Dearborn street, at 2 p. m. Sunday. Leonard Olson, past commander of the 2d district and member of the Cook County council, and Max Stein, owner of the hotel, who presented the flag and pole to the community, will speak.

The Order Sons of Italy in America, grand lodge of Illinois, will commemorate the anniversary with a dinner-dance Sunday evening in the Hotel Sherman. Nineteen hundred forty-one university and college graduates of Italian descent will be guests of honor.

Victor N. Cardosi, city attorney of Kankakee, and assistant grand venerable, will be toastmaster. Speakers will include George J. Spatuzza, grand venerable of the state grand lodge; Michael L. Rosinia, city prosecutor; and Miss Genevieve Cacciatore, 1941 graduate of De Paul university law school. Salvatore Vitello, grand trustee of the grand lodge, is in charge of arrangements.

City public offices, except those of emergency nature, will be closed on Monday in observance of the holiday. Regular courts will be closed and only a small staff will be on duty in the state's attorney's office. Federal offices and courts will remain open and regular mail deliveries will be made.

THRU THE LOOKING GLASS

The most fabulously expensive perfume ever blended in our time is in town. It's a jasmin, Egyptian version, it costs a hundred dollars an ounce and, as you might expect, it's worthy of any Hollywood superlatives you might have handy. And just in case you've had any doubts that this is an era, or at least the beginning of an era of all-out lavishness, it's having a success!

It's a swooning sort of a scent [as well it might be!] heavy, heady, and exotic. It's completely unlike any little garden-variety of jasmin you might have fancied, being far more lush and siren-ish. It accents the opulence of fine furs and fabrics and precious jewels—and the woman who can and does wear such things with an air.

The precious fragrance is in a container of appropriate magnificance, encased in the hollow center of a squared-off chunk of crystal with a high stopper held on by strips of raffia and sealed with red wax. The whole bottle is wrapped in long strips of Egyptian linen and laid reverently in a wooden box. Each bottle is hand carved; there is no uniformity as to the amount it contains. You might draw an ounce and a tenth, or seven-eighths of an ounce. You can't expect exactness.

Miss Mary Dowling Is Making Debut at Tea This Afternoon

BY JUDITH CASS.

TODAY brings the season's first urban debut tea; the others that have gone before were in the country or suburbs. The party at which Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Talbot Winston will introduce their niece, Mary Winston Dowling, will be a simple, old-fashioned one, as nearly like a home tea as it is possible to have in a club, but with accommodations for more guests than could be welcomed in the Winstons' Wrightwood avenue residence.

Mr. and Mrs. Winston and Miss Dowling will receive from 4 until 7 o'clock in the Arts club. Assisting will be five of the season's buds: Miss Dudley Winston, Miss Shirley Hopkins, Miss Lana Jelke, Miss Diana Hill, and Miss Frances Clow. Tonight Mr. and Mrs. Winston will take their niece, her assistants and their escorts to dine and dance at the Pump room.

Miss Dowling, daughter of John Dowling of San Francisco, plans to spend the Christmas holidays with her father, but probably will return to Chicago in the early spring to finish the Junior league provisional work she is undertaking. She is a fortunate young lady in that she really has two homes, for her uncle and aunt, who have no children, always have considered her as partly their child.

The bouquet of sweetheart roses she will carry today is a charming bit of sentiment, for they are her Aunt Mary's [Mary Dowling is Mrs. Winston's namesake and godchild] favorite flowers and ever since today's bud was a tiny thing she always has presented a bunch of the dainty flowers to her aunt upon special occasions. This is a very special occasion for Miss Dowling, so Mrs. Winston is giving her niece the flowers today.

Two Debuts, Threatened by Accidents, Scheduled.

Two debutantes whose plans for formal bows were jeopardized by accidents to their respective brothers fortunately are able to go ahead and plan Christmas debuts, for both young men are convalescing. Young Jerry Bowes, who was injured in an automobile accident last summer, has been brought home to Highland Park and will continue his convalescence there for two months, when he will go to the southwest. Mr. and Mrs. Jerome J. Bowes Jr. plan to introduce their second daughter, Barbara, at a tea at home on Dec. 30.

According to present plans Miss Julie Goodman will make her debut at a tea, probably at the Indian Hill club, during the Christmas holiday season. She was to have come out earlier at a tea in Winnetka at the home of her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Jasper King. This was changed, however, when Tom Goodman was injured on an airplane accident.

Miss Goodman and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur T. Goodman of Bronxville, N. Y., formerly of Winnetka, will spend the holidays on the north shore. Mrs. King departed Wednesday with Mrs. A. Ballard Bradley for a fortnight's visit with the Goodmans. Miss Julie is a student at Pine Manor.

Miss Catryna Nevius to Make Debut at Christmas.

Mr. and Mrs. Guernsey V. Nevius of Winnetka have sold their home in Ridge avenue to the Wendell Kuhns and have moved to Lincoln avenue in Winnetka. As soon as she returns from closing their home in Eagle River, Wis., this week-end Mrs. Nevius plans to set a date for the Christmas tea at which Miss Catryna will make her debut. Miss Catryna decided against going back to Pine Manor college this fall in favor of a course in photography. She's interested in aviation, too, and hopes to enter an aviation school soon.

Miss Joan Harrison, who has returned to her studies at the San Luis school in Colorado Springs, Colo., definitely is off the 1941 list of debutantes. The junior Carter H. Harrisons may present their daughter next season.

Mrs. Vail Rhodes Bucklin Jr., who has just come to Chicago to reside. While Mr. and Mrs. Bucklin are finding an apartment they are staying with the former's parents in Astor street. Pictured with Mrs. Bucklin is her Great Dane, Eric von Hexengold. Young Mrs. Bucklin was Miss Mary Constance Matthews of Pasadena until she was married on Sept. 12. Mr. Bucklin had been living in California, but he and his bride will call Chicago home henceforth. The senior Mrs. Bucklin is planning to give a tea soon to introduce her son's wife to old friends of the family.

Opera Subscription Season Opens Nov. 10 with Bizet's 'Carmen'

The Chicago Opera company's five week subscription season will open with Bizet's "Carmen," with the American mezzo, Gladys Swarthout, in the name part, on Monday evening, Nov. 10, in the Civic Opera house.

This was announced yesterday by Fortune Gallo, the company's general director, who also said the two Saturday performances on Nov. 15 would be Rossini's "The Barber of Seville" in the afternoon and Donizetti's "The Daughter of the Regiment" in the evening. Verdi's "Otello" will be produced the second Monday night, Nov. 17. Bidu Sayao, Brazilian soprano, will make her Chicago operatic debut in "The Barber."

Lily Pons, Raoul Jobin, Salvatore Baccaloni, and Irra Petina will take part in "The Daughter of the Regiment" and Gennaro Papi will conduct. Giovanni Martinelli and Lawrence Tibbett will sing Otello and Iago, respectively, in "Otello."

Already announced is the revival of Verdi's "A Masked Ball," with Elisabeth Rethberg, Jussi Bjoerling, and John Charles Thomas, for the nonsubscription performance which will open the season on Nov. 8.

Gifts of $500,000 Are Announced to Illinois Tech Fund

Gifts of more than $500,000 toward the fund of $3,100,000 which the Illinois Institute of Technology is raising for new buildings and plant were announced yesterday by Raymond J. Koch, chairman of the institute's special gifts committee. The committee has been at work for the last two weeks.

The program of the institute calls for 12 buildings and other facilities to accommodate 7,000 students. A site for the improvements has been acquired. It covers the area west of State street and east of the New York Central and Rock Island tracks and extends from 32d street to 34th street.

H. T. Heald, president of the institute, disclosed the plans for expansion last January.

Club Enlistment Meeting.

An "enlistment" meeting to enroll members in the work of its various committees will be sponsored by the Woman's City club at 2 o'clock today at the clubrooms, 410 South Michigan avenue.

County Schools Report Increase in Enrollment

Cook county elementary schools have 1,694 more pupils enrolled this year than in 1940, Noble J. Puffer, county superintendent, announced yesterday. The total enrollment is 68,497. The enrollment for high schools and junior colleges is 35,395, a drop of 905 from last year, Puffer said. Larger cities in Chicago suburbs, such as Berwyn, Evanston, Maywood, Oak Park, and Wilmette, showed decreases in enrollment.

Now Is Time to Get Your Furless Coat

BY REA SEEGER.

While shopping is at a peak, it's a good idea to snap up the smart furless coat you've decided you need to begin your winter wardrobe. There are dozens of sleek dull black affairs that hint of future ensembles with furs. Any number of coats have capes of their own that assure not only the important warmth but a swashbuckling swank copied from the Beau Brummel greatcoats of the Regency period. Double, single, and triple capes are featured with long slim sleeves also cuffed in flares to match the rippling beauty of the capes.

There are coats trimmed with thick, handsome wool braid, that are cut to fit in smoothly round a neat waistline; there are coats without belts that look like a princess one piece dress, and there are coats that accentuate a snug neckline with an upcurving outline around the throat. Tiny turnover collars of velvet match pockets and cuffs on other streamlined beauties, and decorative buttons sometimes flashing with semiprecious stones like zircons, topaz, aquamarines, and rose quartz, dramatize otherwise dull black simple models.

Dark brown, dark green, some dark grays and winter navy blue offer alternatives for the all blacks. Brilliant shades of red are also featured not only for youth but for appreciative sophisticates.

Old gold is another color in furless topcoats to rate approval. Any of these unfurred models, furs added, make costumes of great individuality, whether scarfs or muffs or capes. Muffs of velvet or the more unusual felt fabrics make other accessories for such coats.

Service Men Invited to Visit 'Mum Show at Mill Road Farm

Mill Road farm, the Lake Forest estate given to the University of Chicago by Albert D. Lasker, will observe its own Army and Navy day on Sunday, Columbus day. At that time all members of the armed forces in uniform will be admitted without charge to the chrysanthemum show.

Rear Adm. John Downes and Col. F. C. Rogers, commandants respectively at Great Lakes Naval Training station and Fort Sheridan, accepted the university's invitation in behalf of their men and announced that many had already indicated their intention to visit the estate.

On the estate are 15 huge gardens, surrounded by 92 acres of formally landscaped grounds, which provide a setting for the 50 room French provincial manor house. A feature of the show is a prize naming contest for one of the 1,800 varieties of chrysanthemums.

Sons of Revolution Lunch.

Louis A. Bowman, secretary of the Illinois Society of the Sons of the American Revolution, will address the group's October luncheon meeting today in the Hotel La Salle. Bowman will describe one of the most unusual will contests in legal history. Joseph A. Coyner is president of the society.

By Way of Report.

Ten "unspellable" words failed to stump Van Dyke Tiers on the Quiz Kids program a few nights ago, but the man who sent them in, Karl E. Kilby of Albuquerque, N. M., misspelled "odyssey" when he wrote a Chicago friend about the whole affair.

Adjustment.

A young woman who was inspecting a new women's wear shop in a Chicago department store inquired the identity of a tall man in the shop. She was told he was a member of the staff and that he was a count.

"Do they have a count to provide atmosphere?" she asked.

The man of whom she was speaking, of distinguished lineage and one time governor of a Russian province, is there to earn his living like other employés of the store, and because of previous experience in a French dressmaking establishment. We recalled upon hearing her question, a comment he had made some weeks ago. When he left Russia most of his possessions were left behind, but what few he could save and those acquired since were in a flat in London. That flat was bombed.

"Now all I have is the contents of five suitcases that I have with me in Chicago," he said. "And I sometimes think it is too much."

Instructions.

A middle aged woman entered a south Michigan avenue restaurant with a party of friends, seated herself at the bar, and ordered a martini.

"And bar-keep," she called. "Be sure you put bonded bourbon in that martini."

Variation.

Two horses were pulling a wagon down the road. One of them, observing a haystack in a nearby field, called his teammate's attention to it.

"See that?" he said.

"Yep, but it ain't money," answered the other.

Girl Regrets Unkind Act, Harsh Words

BY DORIS BLAKE.

[Copyright: 1941: By News Syndicate Co. Inc.]

"The young man I like invited me to a movie, and I accepted. After meeting me at the movie, he informed me that he hadn't enough money, and apologized to me. He said he thought he did have an extra dollar tucked away, and remembered later he had spent it for his haircut.

"He was embarrassed and I guessed that was what made me talk fresh and say things to him I should not have said. Among the things I said was that I hoped never to see or speak to him again. Then, afterward, I realized that he had no job and I was too mean for words. Naturally, he hasn't been around since, and I wonder now, what is my step. SAPPY."

Isn't it too bad, Sappy, that there isn't some kind of magic mouth bridle to stay the words we live to wish we'd never said? Most of us have done it at some time thru no better cause than injured pride and foolish hurt.

The boy did want to see you anyway, didn't he, to explain his predicament personally? Just sit down and write him about how sorry you are for a display of silly pride; that you were shocked that you could be such an unsympathetic little tyrant, especially to a boy like him.

You can tell him, too, that you didn't realize how much you liked him until you saw how your own foolish words had grieved him; that you were just a complete and nasty little self-centered prig to have so behaved. We don't think that you are that, at all, Sappy. We think of you only as a gay, young thing out to see a movie and losing your head for a moment, but with a head to realize that you should make amends now.

Looking at Hollywood by John Chapman

Hollywood, Cal., Oct. 9.—The Studio City theater, a Valley neighborhood house, was playing "Dive Bomber" the other night. And the manager got a phone call from a woman who queried, "Is Errol Flynn brave in this picture?"

Samuel Goldwyn keeps calling his Bette Davis hit "The Three Little Foxes."

Before she departed for New York Gloria Swanson told me this description of a local big shot she'd overheard at a party: "He's the only guy in the world who can eat a tomato thru a tennis racket." Veteran Burlesquer Rags Ragland, who knows all the quips, says another version is "he can eat corn on the cob thru a picket fence."

Cary Grant will be in Frank Capra's "Arsenic and Old Lace." And he'll costar with Jean Arthur in Columbia's "Mr. Twilight," which George Stevens will direct. . . . Victor McLaglen has a 1,000 ton grape crop in his vineyard, expects to sell it for $22 a ton. . . . Opening scenes of the Katharine Hepburn-Spencer Tracy "Woman of the Year" contain an almost completely accurate reproduction of the middle room in Jack Bleeck's artists and writers restaurant, including the suit of armor. But there's one technical error: The suit of armor hasn't got a dent in it, and it should have; it was a wound suffered some years ago when a certain Broadwayite got mad at the Tin Man and socked him. . . . Lou Costello, one of cinemaland's big hits, still thinks the only way to make a fortune is to own a heavyweight prize fighter. His playroom in his new house is a combination gym and movie theater. He owns and has great hopes for two heavyweights—Jimmy Dodson, 19, and a 21 year old who calls himself Kelly C. . . . When Jack Benny was announced for the cast of "Charley's Aunt" I thought it was silly business, and I was about 109 per cent wrong. Now he's announced for Ernst Lubitsch's "To Be or Not to Be," in which he will have the romantic light comedy rôle of a Polish matinée idol. So I hereby predict Benny will be 100 per cent wonderful, and hope he doesn't make a chump of me and Lubitsch.

Carmel Myers will return to films—for a small part in Republic's and Joan Blondell's "Lady for a Night." . . . Early shots indicate that Laird Cregar will have given his best performance to date as the effeminate Gestapo agent in "Joan of Paris." . . . The man is a jumbo Peter Lorre. . . . Buddy de Sylva, Paramount head, is without doubt the most unspoiled and unchanged top executive ever to hit Hollywood. He never hides from anybody and never strikes a pose. . . . Katharine Hepburn was billed as a freak a decade ago because she wore pants. Nowadays pants are slacks and women wearing 'em arouse no comment anywhere. Another sensation in mannish clothes was Marlene Dietrich, and Hollywoodians still talk of the time when Marlene, in a man's tailored suit, was in the Brown Derby nine years ago, and Bert Wheeler and the late Bob Woolsey walked in in women's attire and drove her crazy. Bert's crack was: "What was good enough for my mother is good enough for me." . . . Gary Cooper has just finished building a torpedo boat—by whittling. Whittling is Coop's favorite between shots pastime, with the exception of sleeping, but he won't let anybody make pictures of him doing it. . . . One of the bungalows in the motion picture relief fund's country house has been endowed from the will of the late Louise Closser Hale.

Maybe it will be Irene Dunne in "Frenchman's Creek." . . . Following the Broadway hit of "Best Foot Forward," Playwright John Cecil Holm has been given seven Hollywood scripting jobs. . . . RKO parties Kay Kyser and Ginny Simms today—because Kyser is heading for New York and Ginny is staying here to become a movie star. . . . When Norman Bel Geddes produced his elaborate flop, "Iron Man," several years ago on Broadway, the standout performer was a real steelworker named William Haade. Haade now gets the rôle of a riveter in Dick Arlen's "Torpedo Boat."

Mary Dowling Making Debut at Tea Today

whose program dance has been a bright spot of the fall season for the last two years has decided to postpone the party until after the first of the year, due to a crowded autumn calendar and conflicting dates. The first dance was held at the Arts club and the second at the Racquet club.

Mr. and Mrs. Otho Sprague Are Parents of Son.

Col. and Mrs. Albert A. Sprague and Mrs. Richardson Phelps, who has come from her home in Minneapolis, Minn., will be frequent visitors during the next 10 days to the Presbyterian hospital, where their first grandchild was born yesterday morning. The baby is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Otho S. A. Sprague [Anne Foley Phelps]. He has been named Albert Arnold Sprague II. after his grandfather.

"Last Report from England" is the subject of today's talk before the Chicago Council on Foreign Relations by Richard Henry Tawney. The meeting will be at 12:30 o'clock in the Grand ballroom of the Palmer House. A professor of economic history at the University of London, Mr. Tawney arrived last week from England. He and his wife, who accompanies him, have a number of friends here, as he lectured in 1939 at the University of Chicago.

Among those at the speaker's table with Mr. and Mrs. Tawney will be Richard Bentley, president of the council, and Mrs. Bentley; Robert Ross, acting consul general for Great Britain; Mr. and Mrs. Graham Hutton, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin W. Winter II., John Fennelly, Mr. and Mrs. Laird Bell, and Donald F. McPherson.

Lake View Musical Society Meeting at Luncheon Today.

The Lake View Musical society will meet at luncheon today at the Arts club to discuss final plans for a series of chamber concerts which it will present at the Goodman theater on Oct. 26, Nov. 23, and Jan. 25. Among the guests will be members of the Chicago Symphony orchestra and of the Philharmonic String quartet, including the orchestra's associate conductor, Hans Lange.

The new president, officers, and board of directors of the College club will be the special guests at the club's opening tea from 4 o'clock until 5 o'clock this afternoon. Miss Carolyn Burd will play a program of piano selections. Miss Nettie A. Baumann, Miss Helen Holt, Mrs. Harold E. Leopold, Miss Anna Louise Squire, Miss Sarah Bacon Tunnicliff, and Mrs. Charles A. Weaver will be the hostesses.

Boxes for the opening night performance on Oct. 20 of the Ballet Russe are being sold rapidly by the Council of Parents and Teachers of the National College of Education, which has taken over the house for that evening. The performance will be given in the Civic Opera house. Among those who have taken boxes are Mr. and Mrs. Norman Harris, Mrs. Burt J. Denman, Mr. and Mrs. William Sutherland, Mrs. Andrew MacLeish, and Mr. and Mrs. Philip D. Armour.

Many Dinners to Precede Benefit for Passavant.

Judging by the list of boxholders for the Passavant benefit next Wednesday night one might suppose that every one whose name makes social news will be at the Arena to see the skating stars perform in the "Ice Follies of 1942." Most of the boxholders are giving dinner parties before the performance, among them being Dr. and Mrs. Loyal Davis, the John L. Cochrans, Mr. and Mrs. Walter J. Cummings, the Charles B. Goodspeeds, the Ralph Ishams, Mayor and Mrs. Kelly, Mr. and Mrs. John Andrews King, and the Walter R. Kirks.

Also the Howard Linns, the James McMillans, the James Norrises, the James R. Offields, Mrs. George Rasmussen, the Joseph T. Ryersons, the Arch Shaws, the Ralph Shaws, the Silas Strawns, the Abner Stilwells, and Mrs. Patrick A. Valentine. The George Chappells, the Edward Byron Smiths, the John P. Bents, and the John M. Simpsons are among the young couples planning to meet for a Dutch treat dinner before the show.

Judge Hayes to Address D. A. R. Meeting Today

Judge Lambert K. Hayes of the Municipal court will speak on "Preserving Liberty Thru Education" at the first meeting of the 4th division national defense thru partiotic education committee, Daughters of the American Revolution, at 11 o'clock today at Carson Pirie Scott and company. Mrs. Frank M. Wright, chairman, will preside.

Versatile Autumn Pattern

JERKINS AND HATS.

Today's versatile pattern makes a variety of jerkin styles and also several small hats. One jerkin has surplice front; another buttons down the front and has square neckline; a third style has round neckline and pockets; a fourth has V neckline and buttons down the back. Hats are "beanie," with feathers and a visored cap.

Style No. 2500 is designed for sizes 10, 12, 14, 16, 18, and 20. Size 16 requires ¾ yard of 54 inch material each for views A and B; ⅝ yard each for views C and D.

Address orders for Clotilde patterns to Chicago Tribune, P. O. Box 537, Grand Central Annex, NEW YORK CITY, including 10 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred—wrap it carefully) for each pattern ordered. IMPORTANT! Be sure to state clearly the number of the pattern and the size desired, and write your name and address plainly. The fall and winter pattern book costs 15 cents, 10 cents if ordered with pattern.

★ Your Stars Today ★

By WYNN

Friday, Oct. 10.

Fairly good for dealing with superiors, inferiors, and the other sex today, but only on immediate and short term items. Avoid long distance and long time commitments if possible. Also, settle minor money matters. Detour contests.

Your Year Ahead.

Your year ahead from this anniversary is romantic, emotional December-April; now-Jan. 11 avoid quarrels, law; whole year more opportune, if you're ready for advancement, push ahead. Danger: Now-Oct. 13; Nov. 11-Dec. 12; May 15-24; Sept. 29-Oct. 14, 1942.

Tomorrow.

Control wild emotions; otherwise improving quite comfortably.

Do you want an individual interpretation of your own personal date? Send 10c for 1942 horoscope, 5c for balance of 1941—15c for both—to Wynn, Tribune astrologer, 286 Fifth avenue, New York, N. Y.

Wrong Career Choice Can Harm a Child

By GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

[Copyright: 1941: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

Often as I see it demonstrated, I never quite get over wondering how it is that so many intelligent, highly educated persons seem to shed their thinking capacity like a cloak when it comes to the matter of their children's school or career.

The mother, for instance, who wishes her daughter to do what those in her set do, or what she believes will get her into a certain social group, may send her, willy-nilly, to a long established, old fashioned type of finishing school. Some of these [I know this at first hand] are enmeshed in rules and restrictions, and with a system of education that dates back to the dark ages.

A mother such as this may think herself very modern, but when it comes to taking a fresh and independent viewpoint, she fails. She disregards her daughter's personality and desires. She graduated from the school herself, and what was good enough for her is good enough for her daughter. Unlike a man I know who says: "All this looking backward makes me tired. Except in age, I don't belong to the horse and buggy era, and what was good enough for my father is not good enough for me!" The daughter is spirited and artistic and the mother thinks this moth-y atmosphere will be good for her!

A boy I knew well, hating school and every academic subject there is, was sent to a big college because his father went to it.

A daughter, vigorous and free as a boy, is forced into a pattern of prim, ladylike behavior, which she cannot conform to, with constant conflict ensuing.

A youth, loving all things mechanical and forgetting clothes and baths and appearances in his absorption, is scolded and chagrined as he is being prepared fo ran uninteresting white collar job.

In each of these cases, the suffering of these young persons is acute, some of them even having nightmares related to their enforced education. Of course, antagonisms sprout between them and their parents, which is one of the most unfortunate results of all.

A more sympathetic viewpoint has been gained by some parents after reading our fully written booklet, "Understanding the Adolescent." Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for it. Address Mrs. Gladys Bevans, the Chicago Tribune, Chicago, Ill.

Crocheted French Poodle

BY ELLEN BRUCE.

If the cost of a live, pedigreed French poodle is out of reach as a playmate for the youngster, crochet such a pet from a hank of Germantown or knitting worsted. This aristocratic looking pup has all the charm and appeal of a live animal, and can withstand any and all treatment without a word of complaint. It is not a difficult crochet job, and is an ideal choice for a gift suggestion.

For instructions in crocheting the French poodle, No. 879, send 10 cents in stamps or coin to the Needlework Bureau, Chicago Tribune, 220 5th avenue, New York City.

Educators to Convene at U. of Chicago Today

The place of vocational education in the national armament program will be the principal topic at the midwest regional conference of the National Education association, meeting today at the University of Chicago. Educators and association officials from Illinois, Indiana, Michigan, and Wisconsin will attend the conference. Sessions will be held in the Graduate Education building, 59th street and Kimbark avenue.

Training School to Be Held by Montefiore P.-T.

The Montefiore Special School Parent-Teacher association will hold an all-day training school today at the school, 655 West 14th street. Juvenile protection and student aid will be discussed in the morning. After luncheon Mrs. Florence Hosch, executive secretary of the Illinois Board of Public Welfare commissioners, will discuss "Plans for a New Program at the Illinois State Training School for Boys."

Add the enjoyment of WINE to your dinner tonight!
NATIONAL WINE WEEK October 12-19
NOW—as the nation joins in observing National Wine Week—try out this pleasant custom of serving wine.
Come dinnertime, for instance, choose a light California red or white table wine—such as Claret or Chablis. Pour out medium size glasses as the main course comes to table. You'll find the flavor of wine sharpens appetites, helps make even a simple meal seem like a feast.
Try, too, offering guests small servings of nutty-flavored, amber Sherry at the appetizer hour.
Or in the evening, bring out rich red Port or golden Muscatel with crackers and cheese.
You will find California wines are sound, well-developed and reasonable in price.

HOLD WISCONSIN! WALDORF SAYS AGAIN AND AGAIN

N. U. Veterans Will Face Badgers.

Some last minute warnings regarding the strength with which Wisconsin's Badgers are expected to attack in Dyche stadium tomorrow were issued by Coach Lynn Waldorf yesterday as Northwestern's football team held the last stiff drill in preparation for its Big Nine opener.

Alf Bauman.

If the Wildcats still entertain an idea that they are not faced with a serious task tomorrow, it will not be the fault of the coaching staff, which has pointed out repeatedly that the Badgers should not be rated off last Saturday's showing against Marquette. At the same time, the players have been urged to discount in great measure their one sided triumph over a weak Kansas State eleven.

In yesterday's final offensive drill, the Wildcats' first team was composed of the same 11 veterans who faced Kansas State a week ago. George Benson was still at full back, which he took over after Don Clawson received a severe leg injury two weeks ago. Clawson has been working out all week, however, and is almost certain to play against the Badgers.

What About That Line?

Northwestern pins much of its hope for success in the group of veteran backs led by Bill De Correvont, Capt. Tuffy Chambers, and Ike Kepford. This trio played leading rôles in last year's victory over the Badgers.

The biggest disappointment of last week's Kansas State opener from a coaching standpoint was its failure to give the Wildcat line a real test. A number of positions have been overhauled since last year, and whether they have been filled successfully still remains a question mark.

The Wildcat line is built around a pair of rugged tackles in Alf Bauman and Leon Cook and two agile guards in George Zorich and Nick Burke. This quartet will be called upon to halt the rushes of Pat Harder and Bob Ray, Wisconsin's full backs. The rest of the line consists of Bob Motl and Bud Hasse, ends, and Gene Mundy, center.

Expect Sellout Next Week.

While the coaching staff remains doubtful about the Wildcat strength, there is no question regarding the drawing power of the team at the boxoffice. Ticket Manager Ted Payseur said yesterday that this year's team will play before the largest number of persons since 1929.

Nearly 40,000 will attend tomorrow's clash. The Michigan game the following week is expected to reach sellout proportions of 47,000. The Notre Dame game is already sold out, while the other two home games, Indiana and Illinois, will be witnessed by 35,000 each.

Ohio State officials informed Payseur yesterday that a capacity crowd of 70,000 will be on hand for the Northwestern game two weeks off. A full house of 55,000 is expected for the Minnesota game at Minneapolis.

NAME BADGER SQUAD.

Madison, Wis., Oct. 9 [Special].—With three days of hard work out of the way, the Wisconsin football team this afternoon began tapering off for the Northwestern game at Evanston Saturday with a long review of assignments on running and pass plays.

Coach Harry Stuhldreher announced two shifts in the starting lineup from that which opened against Marquette. Dick Loepfe, a sophomore, will start at left tackle in place of Paul Hirsbrunner, who has been moved to right tackle. Pat Harder, another sophomore, will start at full back in place of Bob Ray.

The following 36 players were named tonight by Stuhldreher for the Northwestern trip, with the first named as probable starters:

ENDS—Lyons, Schreiner, Kreick, Hanzlik, Stupka, Milauc, and Mead.
TACKLES—Loepfe, Hirsbrunner, Baumann, Wasserbach, Harter, and Lopp.
GUARDS—Boyle, Koehler, Vogds, Makris, Riordan and Walgenbach.
CENTERS—Thornally, Vranesh, and McKay.
QUARTER BACKS—Farris, Diercks, Anderson, and Bronson.
HALF BACKS—Hoskins, Damos, Sellinger, Granitz, Miller, McFadzean, and Riewer.
FULL BACKS—Harder, Ray, and Calligaro.

HARMON PLANS PRO FOOTBALL DEBUT OCT. 19

Ann Arbor, Mich., Oct. 9 (AP).—Tom Harmon, former Michigan half back, said tonight he would play with the New York Americans professional football team in New York Oct. 19 against Columbus. Harmon said he had agreed with an official of the New York team to play in the game, but no contract had been signed. Harmon declared radio work still was his principal interest, but admitted that he had been getting the urge to play again. "I think I'll take a crack at this one and see how it turns out," he said. "It's the only thing definite I have in mind right now."

Harmon has been broadcasting University of Michigan games this fall for a Detroit radio station.

MINNESOTA LINE HEAVY BUT SLOW, BIERMAN MOANS

Fears Illini Speed Will Harass Gophers.

Spend Night Here

THE Illinois football squad of 35 players and coaches arrived in Chicago last night and established headquarters in the Palmer House. Coach Bob Zuppke said the Illini would leave early this morning and arrive in Minneapolis early enough to work out in Memorial stadium for their Big Nine opener against Minnesota tomorrow afternoon.

[Pictures on next page.]

BY WILFRID SMITH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Minneapolis, Minn., Oct. 9.—Bernie Bierman, head coach of Minnesota's defending conference champions, pensively watched his varsity drill this afternoon against the football plays he anticipates Illinois will employ here Saturday in their Big Nine opening game. A chill, brisk wind swept thru the empty stadium and curled against the south embankment where a score of shivering spectators watched the golden jersied Gophers review their lessons.

The gray, autumnal sky was a proper background for Bierman's thoughts. Minnesota has won 10 consecutive games, beginning with the final game of the 1939 season and continuing thru the conquest of the University of Washington two weeks ago. Saturday the burly Gophers, overwhelmingly favored to retain their Big Nine title, meet Illinois. Last fall the Illini did not win a conference game, and the remnants of that eleven and some untried sophomores will carry on.

Fearful, and Tells Why.

In spite of these facts and Minnesota's decisive victory in Seattle, Bierman is apprehensive of Saturday's result. He carefully listed his reasons. He says:

"Minnesota's linemen are slow. Their superior weight may be discounted by faster starting charges by Illinois. Moreover, much of the weight advantage is excess fat. This team has not conditioned itself properly. The boys did better when they had to grab a sandwich instead of filling up with food at the training table the Big Nine now permits.

"Minnesota had several fortunate breaks last year to remain undefeated. Three or four games could have been lost as easily as they were won," Bierman continued. "We now have only one new back to help the veterans. Herman Frickey will help, but we lost George Franck by graduation. Gradually we are becoming poorer and poorer in back field material."

Praises Illini Backs.

Then the Minnesota coach, who scouted Illinois last Saturday, turned to appraisal of that squad.

"Illinois is much faster than my team. On a rainy afternoon the Illinois backs showed me accurate, clever ball handling which I'd take for my club on a dry field. Illinois has plenty of material except at guards and tackles. It will run much deeper in the back field and it more than matches us at the ends and at center."

Bierman is a stern taskmaster Since return from the University of Washington, so we were told today, no Bierman-coached squad ever has been worked harder.

Perhaps Bierman and his assistants, over whom the pall of gloom also has settled, are unduly pessimistic. The fact remains, however, that more time has been spent preparing a defense against Illinois plays than was accorded any previous opponent in the Bierman era.

The burden of public support rests heavily on the coaching staff. Bierman admits this readily. Nor does the thesis that Minnesota cannot lose because superior line play will control the ball solace him. His Thursday nightmare of what may happen will grip him until the kickoff.

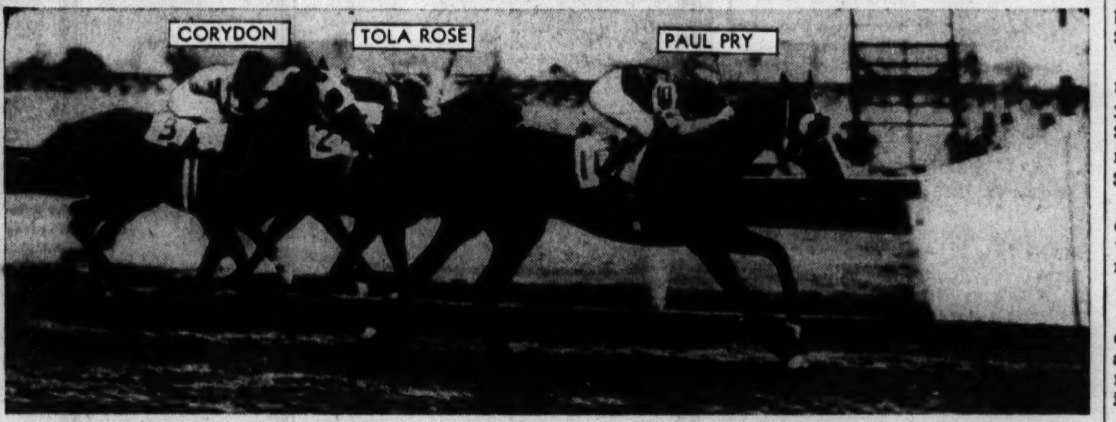
This Is No. 5 in Jockey's Victory Parade



Jockey Alfred Robertson, 30 year old Scotch jockey, scores his fifth victory of the day at Jamaica yesterday on Paul Pry in the sixth race. In the seventh, Alf brought home Starlike to make it six for the afternoon. Robertson and Paul Pry made up 40 lengths to beat out Tola Rose by a length. Corydon was third. ## Those Passing Irish Move on Georgia Tech

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Toledo, O., Oct. 9.—A Notre Dame football squad of 35 players today boarded a train at South Bend and headed for their first away-from-home contest under the direction of Frank Leahy—Saturday's battle in Atlanta against Georgia Tech, one of the oldest of all Irish rivals.

Leahy and his assistants, Joe McArdle and Ed McKeever, reported the lads in good condition. The ailing members of the cast—Bernie Crimmins, with a damaged rib cartilage; Bob Hargrave, with a bruised knee, and Bob Maddock, victim of a charley horse—are fit and ready again, and both Crimmins and Maddock will start in their regular guard positions.

Leahy Worries Just a Little.

So much for the physical side of the boys who have won their games against Arizona and Indiana with comparatively little difficulty. Their mental outlook is another item, however, according to Leahy, who said he sensed a mood of satisfaction in the second team's conduct against a freshmen eleven in an hour's scrimmage Tuesday. The boys were so content with themselves, in fact, that they allowed the frosh to trim them, 6 to 0. Yesterday afternoon found the freshmen rushing Angelo Bertelli, Notre Dame's newly found sophomore passer, in an embarrassing fashion, altho Leahy said today that the ground game of the varsity had improved notably.

Mention of Bertelli, who in the first two games has completed a total of 18 passes in 28 attempts for an aggregate profit of 278 yards, moved several citizens to ask Leahy today about the young men who form Angelo's defense while he is pitching. It has been evident in the Arizona and Indiana games that the sophomore hurler is so well guarded up front that he has had time to examine the seams of the ball, the trademark, and otherwise conduct himself with complete nonchalance.

Blocking Style Is Changed.

Mr. Leahy, being the intent, serious young man he is, proceeded to give a Pullman demonstration of the sort of blocking that has enabled Bertelli to get well set and to spot his receivers. It's a higher type of block than recent Irish teams have used. Leahy pointed out that the Irish forwards are being taught to retain their footing longer than the average lineman is accustomed to.

The important point in the block is that after the first contact with opponents the coaches stress a quick mental reaction, which permits them to keep their feet and provides them with the chance to drift with an opponent who may shift in an effort to cut in and rush the passer.

Angelo's Well Protected.

The 1941 Irish who have been designated as Bertelli's defenders are Quarter Back Harry Wright, Tackles Paul Lillis, the captain, and Jim Brutz; Guards Crimmins and Maddock and Center Walter Ziemba. Full back Dippy Evans also has a blocking assignment, unless he's detailed as a pass receiver. Seven times of 10, however, only three men go down field as potential catchers. They are Steve Juzwik, right half back, and the two ends—Bob Dove and George Murphy.

This is the same type of defensive pocket for the passer that made Charley O'Rourke of Boston college one of the 1940 season's leading heroes under Leahy. In a span of 11 games, Leahy recalls only two occasions when the wall failed to hold and resulted in losses. On one of these occasions, against Tennessee, O'Rourke himself was to blame, leaving the pocket in a search of a receiver and being spilled for 10 yards by a Volunteer tackle. The other time found big Al Blozis of Georgetown crashing thru to drop O'Rourke, even tho the Boston college man blocking him had spilled the big man. Those making the trip are:

ENDS—Dove, Bolger, Smith, Murphy, Kovatch, Barry.
TACKLES—Brutz, Ebli, L. Sullivan, Capt. Lillis, Rymkus, Hines.
GUARDS—Maddock, McBride, Filley, Crimmins, Laiber, Riordan.
CENTERS—Ziemba, Brock, Lanahan, Kudlacz.
QUARTER BACKS—Wright, Hargrave, Ashbaugh, Patten.
HALF BACKS—Bertelli, Warner, Hogan Juzwik, Earley, R. Creevy.
FULL BACKS—Evans, C. Miller, McNeill.

N. U.-WISCONSIN GAME TOMORROW WILL BE ON W-G-N

Bob Elson will broadcast a play-by-play account of the Northwestern-Wisconsin game tomorrow afternoon at 1:45 p. m. on W-G-N as the first of seven football broadcasts to be aired this season. The broadcast schedule follows:

Oct. 11—Wisconsin at Northwestern.
Oct. 18—Michigan at Northwestern.
Oct. 25—Northwestern at Ohio State.
Nov. 1—Michigan at Illinois.
Nov. 8—Indiana at Northwestern.
Nov. 15—Notre Dame at Northwestern.
Nov. 22—Illinois at Northwestern.

Elson will be assisted by Grayle Howlett, W-G-N sports editor.

Unbeaten Illinois College Eleven to Face Millikin

Jacksonville, Ill., Oct. 9 [Special].—The Illinois college football team, with two nonconference victories, meets Millikin Saturday in the first Illinois college conference battle of the season. The teams will enter the game with unbeaten records—Illinois college with victories over Carthage and Hanover [Ind.] colleges, and Millikin with triumphs over Cornell college of Mount Vernon, Ia., and Monmouth.

Battle with Montgomery Is Test for Day

BY FRANK MASTRO.

Bob Montgomery, Negro boxer of Philadelphia, will jeopardize his rating as No. 1 lightweight contender in a 10 round windup bout of the opening show of the indoor season in Chicago Stadium tonight. Montgomery was promoted by the National Boxing association after he had beaten Lew Jenkins, recognized as 135 pound champion by the New York athletic commission, in Madison Square Garden last May 16.

Since the NBA ratings were released, however, Montgomery has added to his prestige by conquering Mike Kaplan, second leading welterweight challenger, on Sept. 8. This was Bob's ninth straight success and kept his 1941 record clear of defeats.

Fans Like Bob's Chances.

As a result, the 22 year old native of Sumter, S. C., is picked by fans to deal Day his first defeat in this territory since he lost a split decision to Sammy Angott two years ago. Montgomery predicts he will score a knockout within five rounds, a forecast which may come true, since Davey is as unpredictable as some of Joe Louis' opponents have been in recent months.

Altho Day never has been counted out he was stopped by Henry Armstrong in the 12th round in Madison Square Garden March 31, 1939, after being sent to the canvas for no count in the final period. However, he has come close to suffering a knockout several times. For example, in his last appearance in the Coliseum nine months ago Billy Marquart floored Day for a nine count in the second round.

It's a Pretty Fair Record.

That was Davey's 63d success in 75 matches during a 10 year campaign. He has fought four draws and has lost eight bouts.

Day, who is 29 years old, probably is facing his last big opportunity to cash in on his natural fighting ability and he realizes it.

Sam Pian and Art Winch, managers of Day, who refused to second their recalcitrant protégé in the Marquart battle, will be in Davey's corner this evening, as will Trainer Joey Medill.

Joe Louis, a friend of Montgomery, will attend the show after appearing in an exhibition bout at Chanute field, Rantoul, Ill., this afternoon. Day and Montgomery will enter the ring at 10 o'clock, Promoter William R. Rand said yesterday. This is to enable a national radio chain to broadcast the bout.

Kogon Meets Castiglione.

A 10 round semi-windup between Julie Kogon, New Haven, Conn., lightweight, and Nick Castiglione of the west side will follow. Preliminary matches:

Joey Pirrone, Cleveland, vs. Stanley Poreda, Detroit [6], 138.
Harry Tenney, Cleveland, vs. Robert Earl, Chicago [6], 138.
George Silvasy, Pittsburgh, vs. Mike Sopko, Indiana Harbor [6], 155.

American, Wilson Meet Tonight on Spencer Field

Two north side football rivals, the American College of Physical Education and Wilbur Wright Junior college, will meet tonight in Spencer Coals park, 4200 North Central avenue. The kickoff is set for 8:15 o'clock.

ALF ROBERTSON HAS FIELD DAY ON OUTSIDERS

Misses in Only One Jamaica Race.

New York, Oct. 9 [Special].—Alfred Robertson, for years one of the world's foremost jockeys, rode to greater fame at the Jamaica race track today when he drove home six winners on the seven race card. Every one of the little Scotsman's winning mounts paid large prices and a $2 parlay on them would have netted $4,140,434.45!

Getting down a little more to the realm of reality [and the limits of your bookie's bank roll], a straight $2 wager on each of Robertson's winners would have brought a bettor $148.30.

However, the odds would be driven down at the track if the money continued to be poured back on each race which Robertson won.

Can't Win 'Em All.

Just to prove he is human, however, Robertson's mount, Picture Hat, a 25 to 1 shot, in the 10 horse fifth race, never was in contention and finished ninth.

Robertson, who won the last race on Wednesday's card, took the first four in a row today, ran out of the money in the fifth and then came back to take the sixth and seventh.

It was the second time in his long and brilliant career that Robertson had won six out of seven. In 1928, he turned the trick while riding at Oriental park in Havana. He has scored numerous doubles and triples.

His winning mounts today and their prices were:

First—Sorgho, $15.80, $8.20, $4.90.
Second—Running Lights, $29.30, $17, $9.10.
Third—Sun Galomar, $23.40, $14.40, $7.
Fourth—Grand Party, $20.80, $6.40, $4.30.
Sixth—Paul Pry, $12.70, $6.20, $3.90.
Seventh—Starlike, $46.30, $12.70, $8.

Only a Few Have Done It.

In world turf history Robertson takes his place alongside Fred Archer, England's most successful jockey, who enjoyed at least two six-winner days during the eighties, and Gordon Richards, England's No. 1 rider for the last 13 years. Richards had 12 in a row in 1933, one on Oct. 2, six on Oct. 3, and five on Oct. 4.

On United States tracks a select few have surpassed or equaled Robertson's record for one day. Among them are Earl Sande, with six out of seven at Havre de Grace in 1919; J. Sylvester, with seven out of eight at Ravenna Park in Ohio in 1930; Basil James, with six out of seven at Tanforan in 1938, and Johnny Adams, with six out of seven at Bay Meadows, also in 1938.

Three Lead from Start.

Noted for his splendid judgment of pace, Robertson's victories ranged from a three-quarter mile sprint opening the card to a mile and five-eighths route in the sixth. He lifted three of his mounts into the lead at the opening wire and kept them there. The other three he brought from far back, nursing them thru the dust of the leaders and seizing the front spot entering the stretch.

In the first race, a three-quarter mile sprint for 2 year old maidens, Robertson sent Sorgho in front at the start, beat off the stretch challenge of another long shot, Go-Gino, and won by two comfortable lengths.

On Running Lights in the mile and sixteenth second, an event for 3 year olds and over which had not won since Aug. 30, Robertson again seized the lead immediately, rustled up a three length advantage over Wooden Indian in the stretch and then outlasted him.

Another Rally Wins.

In the mile and an eighth claimer third for 3 year olds and up, Robertson had to bring Sun Galomar from third spot, four lengths behind the pace-setting Ring Star at the half. Robertson trailed by a neck at the three-quarters, but burst into a two length lead going into the stretch. Inconceivable, a 15-1 shot, came out of nowhere at the wire, however, and a photo finish imperiled Robertson's victory streak. The camera gave Sun Galomar the race.

Robertson, aboard Grand Party, led all the way in the fourth, the three-quarter mile Jacobite purse for 3 year olds and upward. He had a two length edge over the mildly contending Silver Bird at the finish.

He Comes Back in Sixth.

After having no chance in the fifth, Alf came right back in the sixth. Aboard Paul Pry in the $5,000 Missionary handicap for 3 year olds and up, Robertson trailed thruout the mile and five-eighths until the turn into the stretch, when the gelding moved into third place. Under Alfie's vigorous urging, Paul Pry tore down the stretch, overtaking Tola Rose and Corydon for a two length triumph.

Again in the seventh, Alfie had to come from far back. Starlike was just another also ran thru most of the mile and sixteenth route. Turning for home, Alfie drove the filly into the third spot behind the pace setting Poppadeets and Peep Show, and hustled Starlike past the fading leaders for a one length victory.

Sorgho and Running Lights paid $259.60 in the daily double.

THIS IS 1941—SO T.C.U. EXPECTS TO DEFEAT INDIANA

Frogs Develop Great Teams Every 3 Years.

Fort Worth, Tex., Oct. 9 [Special]. —If this were not 1941 Texas Christian university football fans would not expect the Horned Frogs to defeat Indiana at Bloomington, Ind., Saturday afternoon. After all, the Frogs haven't shown much in their two victories over Tulsa, 6 to 0, and Arkansas, 9 to 0.

Kyle Gillespie is quite a pitcher and Dean Bagley is quite a runner, altho his 154 pounds were not put together for 60 minute football. He's a spot runner—and that's all. The rest of the lineup probably will not interest All-American selectors.

First Baugh, Then O'Brien.

But this is 1941 and T. C. U. followers hope 1941 will take its place in a three year victory cycle that started in 1929 when Francis Schmidt coached the Frogs to the Southwest conference championship.

Every three years after that the T. C. U.'s have been big Frogs in the football puddle. In 1932 they won the conference title again; in 1935, with Sammy Baugh throwing touchdown passes, they beat Louisiana State in the Sugar Bowl and in 1938, with Davey O'Brien in Baugh's hurling spot, the Frogs were undefeated and untied in 10 games and also whipped Carnegie Tech in the Sugar Bowl.

Lo! The Poor Cubs.

If the cycle holds up, the T. C. U.'s will be quite a team this fall. Meanwhile Texas Christian fans keep their fingers crossed and try not to remember what happened to the Chicago Cubs, who had a three year pennant cycle, too, from 1929 . . . until 1941.

HOOSIERS POLISH PASSES.

Bloomington, Ind., Oct. 9 [Special]. —Coach Bo McMillin put the accent on offense today in the Indiana university football team's last strenuous drill for its homecoming engagement against Texas Christian Saturday.

More effective protection for the passer was one of the chief objectives as the Hoosiers polished their overhead attack after rehearsing ground plays. In the aerial blocking drill, two veterans, Guard Al Bragalone and Quarter Back Eddie Herbert, incurred minor injuries but are expected to play Saturday. Russell [Bud] Harrell, Indianapolis sophomore, looked good in a tryout at quarter back. A shoulder injury, suffered three weeks ago, had kept him on the bench. The squad will go thru a light practice session tomorrow afternoon.

J. L. GILLS ISSUE CHALLENGE; THEN HIT 3,367 SERIES

The Joseph L. Gill bowlers, who are leading three major leagues and yesterday issued a challenge to any team that will meet them, rolled one of the season's highest totals, 3,367, in winning three games from the Heilman Old Style Lagers in the Randolph league last night. The Gills started with 1,143, then added 1,131 and finished with 1,093. Their individual totals ranged from Eli Maricich's 638 to George Hoegh's 719. Other high totals in the league included the Mineralites' 3,129; Furman Funerals' 3,111, and J. J. Butlers' 3,121. Scores:

The annual International Outdoor Sportsmen's show will be held in the International Amphitheater Feb. 21 thru March 1. This was announced yesterday by F. W. [Nick] Kahler, manager of show.

SMILIN' JACK—CONFRONTING A FRONT

Gophers Slow, Illini Speedy, Bierman Wails

complished here 25 years ago intensifies the fear of defeat. Just a quarter of a century ago—Minnesota's end coach, Albert Baston, played in the game—an Illinois team unexpectedly trounced the Gophers and knocked them out of a Western conference title. It is the granddaddy of all upsets in Big Nine football.

Before the Illini walloped the Gophers, Minnesota had piled up 169 points against three nonconference opponents and had whipped Iowa, 67 to 0. After Illinois whipped Minnesota, 14 to 9, the Gophers trampled on Wisconsin, 50 to 0, and Chicago, 49 to 0.

Bierman's thoughts this afternoon dealt with the plethora of flanker plays, razzledazzle, and passes with which in recent years the Illini upset Southern California [19 to 0 in 1935] and Michigan [16 to 7 in 1939]. He nervously twirled his whistle as he watched his players defend against such of these stratagems his scouts have learned.

Weak Against Passes.

Minnesota has a historical lack of defense against forward passes that matches the type of dreadnaught material in the Minnesota line. Nebraska and Notre Dame have furnished recent examples. Four years ago the Cornhuskers whipped a superior foe, 14 to 9, using three completed forward passes in five attempts to do it. One set up the first touchdown, the last scored the winning touchdown.

Again, in 1938 Notre Dame whipped Minnesota, 19 to 0, and the second and third touchdowns were accomplished by elementary long forward passes.

Finally, of course, Minnesota has a sincere regard for the Illini fighting spirit. It is conceivable, given a majority portion of the luck, that Illinois spirit and Illinois passes will produce another miracle. Lavere Astroth, Dick Good, and Johnny Worban are prepared to throw the passes.

STAN SZUKALA, DE PAUL COACH, TAKEN BY DRAFT

Stan Szukala, freshman basketball coach at De Paul university, has been notified by his draft board to report for induction next Wednesday, Athletic Director Paul Mattei said yesterday.

Szukala, who was an all-American forward when he was graduated in 1939, is the third member of the De Paul coaching staff to be called to military service. He follows Tom Haggerty, former varsity coach, who is now a major in the anti-aircraft division, and Bob Neu, ex-academy coach.

Neu will be replaced by Ray Adams, former De La Salle coach, according to an announcement made recently. Adams, who has played professional basketball for the Chicago Bruins, received his degree from De Paul in 1936.

Boy Makes Touchdown, Dies from Heart Attack

Dunlap, Tenn., Oct. 9 (AP).—Clark Green, 17 year old senior, died in the dressing room here today shortly after scoring the last touchdown in Whitwell's 19 to 0 victory over Sequatchie Valley High. A physician said he died of a heart attack and had suffered no injury in the game. The youth was still in his uniform when he succumbed.

They Have a Date with Gophers Tomorrow

Joe Pawlowski, an Illini guard (left), and Alex Agase, sophomore tackle, are none too pleased with The Tribune's prediction on tomorrow's score. They do NOT believe the Gophers will win by 27 to 7.

Yale to Face More Passes—Pennsylvania's

New Haven, Conn., Oct. 9 (AP).—Yale's football team, realizing it was slightly less than a ball of fire against Virginia's passes last week, expects to meet an even better overhead offense when it faces Penn here Thursday. So the Elis went all out today polishing up their pass defense. At the same time Ed Taylor, Jack Ferguson, and Floyd Fay practiced pitching for Yale's own account.

PASSES TROUBLE VIOLETS.

New York, Oct. 9 (AP).—It seems Coach Mal Stevens has heard about the Texas Aggies' high geared attack, so for the fourth straight day he sent his New York University Violets thru a long defensive drill today. The team did pretty well stopping Aggie running plays, but when the reserves took to the air with the Texas' pass plays the Violets wilted. The Aggies visit here Saturday.

PASS, PASS, PASS AT COLUMBIA.

New York, Oct. 9 (AP).—Coach Lou Little is sure his Columbia squad and the Princeton Tigers will fight an air battle most of the way at Princeton Saturday. Accordingly he had Paul Governali tossing the ball in a passing workout today—for so long the half back asked if he was pitching a doubleheader.

HARVARD GETS FUNDAMENTALS.

Cambridge, Mass., Oct. 9 (AP).—Harvard got down to hard work and spent hours polishing up fundamentals today. Tackling and blocking workouts and signal drills took up most of the time and then the first three teams battled the reserves in a dummy scrimmage in preparation for the Cornell game here Saturday. Word was that two of the most important replacements — Bill Barnes, left end spare, and second string quarter back Ted Lyman—would not be available to meet the Big Red. Both are injured.

B. C. SEES CLEMSON PLAYS.

Newton, Mass., Oct. 9 (AP).—Boston college had a long dummy scrimmage against the freshman team using Clemson passing plays today. Afterward, Coach Denny Myers had the squad sit thru showing of the movies of the 1940 Cotton Bowl game in which Clemson beat the Eagles, 6 to 3. Clemson plays here Saturday.

BLAIK FEARS V. M. I.

West Point, N. Y., Oct. 9 (AP).—Red Blaik, the Army coach, would like to have V. M. I. leave its first team home when it meets Army here Saturday. Blaik figures the V. M. I. first string is "one of the best we'll be called upon to play this year." He feels if Army can get by the southerners' varsity, his boys should win.

BEARS TAKING NO CHANCES; DRILL IN RAIN FOR CARDS

Coaches Can't Forget that Upset Last Year.

BY EDWARD PRELL.

Those enthusiasts who have been bragging about the Bears' wonder team all fall should have seen the pro football champions yesterday. They were all wet. Oddly enough, the fact they were all wet might be a tip-off on why they are great. How many football teams would have gone thru a methodical two hour workout in a rain such as was falling on Wrigley field?

Sure, the Bears got wet, but the coaching philosophy of George Halas and his aids is that there is something to be done each day, rain or shine, in preparation for that usual Sunday victory. The champions are playing the Cardinals Sunday in the north side park and their work, despite yesterday's miserable weather, is a tip-off of the esteem in which they hold Jim Conzelman's luckless warriors.

Cards Duck the Rain.

The Cardinals were a bit more fortunate. They moved inside to the fieldhouse at the University of Chicago for their day's physical work. This isn't to be taken that the Cards aren't he-men like the Bears. The latter had no choice. It was either work outside and get wet, or not work at all. The Bears had no alternate indoor sanctuary.

Yesterday afternoon a constant stream of huskies paraded thru the lobby of the Hotel Windermere, Coach Conzelman's quarters. They came in groups—guards and tackles, ends and centers, blocking backs, and backs—for a series of meetings on strategy to be employed in the tremendous task of attempting to bring the Bears' 12 game winning streak to a close.

Just what were his thoughts about Sunday, Conzelman was asked.

"At best, it's a hit or miss proposition, stopping a club like the Bears," he admitted. "Our biggest problems are to keep Ken Kavanaugh from long passes, and to stop the Bears' running attack. Next to Don Hutson, Kavanaugh is the most gifted pass receiver in the National league. We'll be watching this McAfee fellow, too, hoping our kickers' aim is good enough to boot the ball as far away from him as possible. We don't want this boy to get a start in the open."

How About an Upset, Jim?

Did Cozelman think his team could repeat its stunning 21 to 7 upset of last year over the big, bad Bears?

"I'm afraid they're better prepared this time," said Jim. "We happened to catch them flat-footed last year. They still were celebrating their victory over Green Bay. But we're going to do everything we can."

The Bears' biggest problem for this game, and the succeeding ones, would seem to be guarding against overconfidence born of their smashing victories. Those who have seen the consummate ease with which the champions scored touchdowns against Green Bay and Cleveland perhaps wonder why the Bears waste time practicing. In fact, some probably think there should be a law against it.

No team, tho, can allow itself to become lazy or contemptuous of its rivals. Opponents have tried every conceivable type of defense against the Bears this season. They have to be able to suit their attack to the defense. Against the Packers, for instance, the Bears passed only six times because Curley Lambeau's fellows usually were using a five man line to gain more pass protection. The Rams used a 6-3-2 setup, which in effect gave them a nine man line, so the Bears opened up with passes.

Stydahar Prances Around.

The Cards probably will waste little effort trying to dent the powerful line of the Bears, and make their bid for victory with a bold passing game. The champions haven't been too effective stopping Green Bay and Cleveland passers, but, unfortunately, the Cards have no Cecil Isbell or Parker Hall.

Joe Stydahar, who suffered an injury to his right leg early in the Cleveland game, pranced around in the rain and probably will be ready to appear in his 11th battle against the south siders.

POLO AT IOWA STATE.

Packers Face Fight to Stay in Title Race

Green Bay, Wis., Oct. 9 [Special].—The Green Bay Packers, beaten by the Chicago Bears and narrowly escaping a setback from the Chicago Cardinals, hope to regain their stride Sunday in Milwaukee against the Brooklyn Dodgers.

It will be the first meeting between western and eastern section title contenders. The Packers have won three and lost one, while the Dodgers have won two and lost one. Their defeat came last Sunday by Washington, 3 to 0. Both teams, then, will be fighting to stay in the championship running.

The Packers, after losing to the Bears two weeks ago, 25 to 17, pulled last Sunday's game out in the final minutes against the Cardinals, 14 to 13. The Packers have games with Brooklyn, Cleveland, and Detroit before meeting the Bears in Chicago on Nov. 2. The Packers must win these three to be in a position to challenge the Bears for at least a tie for the lead when they meet.

Sunday's is the first meeting between Curley Lambeau and the Dodgers' coach, Jock Sutherland, now in his second season in the National Football league.

EDISON PARK PLAYS SUNDAY.

The Edison Park football team will renew an eight year rivalry with the Winkler A. C. eleven Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock on the Edison Park field.

The Central Lions club of Chicago yesterday bid farewell to a fellow member who leaves soon to join the army as captain in a chemical warfare division and, at their meeting in the Sherman hotel, honored him for his contributions to the administration of boxing. He is Joe Triner, former president of the National Boxing association and former chairman of the Illinois Athletic commission, which governs boxing in this state. Triner was presented the Lions trophy.

Tuskegee and Wilberforce Clash Tonight

A friendly feud will be renewed tonight at 8:30 o'clock when the Wilberforce and Tuskegee institute Negro football teams meet in Soldiers' field.

A crowd of 20,000 is expected to attend the contest, 12th in a series begun in 1928 and interrupted only in 1932 and 1937, when the two schools did not meet. With the exception of the opener in 1928, which was played in Tuskegee, Ala., all the games have been played in Chicago. All have had the spacious confines of Soldiers' field as a backdrop with the exception of the 1934 contest, which was played in Mills stadium.

Wilberforce Leads Series.

The Tuskegee eleven, coached by Cleve L. Abbott, arrived in Chicago Wednesday and held a limbering up drill yesterday in Washington park. Its opponents arrived from Wilberforce, O., yesterday and held a brief practice in Soldiers' field shortly after their arrival.

Wilberforce leads in the series, five games to three, and holds the distinction of having run up the largest score of the series. It won the 1938 game, 25 to 6. All other games have been close, however, and of three tie games played, two were scoreless.

List Two Chicagoans.

In 1931 Wilberforce scored a 15 to 6 victory and in 1934 it won, 13 to 0. In addition to the 1938 triumph, these were the only games in which either team beat its opponent by more than a single touchdown.

The Wilberforce squad includes two Chicagoans. They are James Hart, senior right half back and captain of the Ohio team, and Clarence Armstrong, substitute end, who prepped at Morgan Park. Hart played at Du Sable High school.

MARQUETTE OFF FOR GAME WITH MICHIGAN STATE

Squad of 34 Entrains for East Lansing.

Milwaukee, Wis., Oct. 9 [Special]. —A squad of 34 Marquette players, following a heavy afternoon drill here, entrained tonight for Saturday afternoon's game with Michigan State at East Lansing.

Slight injuries were reported by three regulars—Center Mel Maceau, Tackle Dick Brye, and Quarter Back Bobby Dams—but Coach Tom Stidham expects all of them to be ready to play against the Spartans.

The Hilltopper coaches are worried about Michigan State's attack and devoted considerable time to defense in practice today.

Players making the trip include:

Centers—Bob Fritz, Mel Maceau, and Marty Silovich.

Guards—Irv Cohen, Joe Kinsye, Bill Fugate, George Groves, Chuck Reger, Irv Tarnow, and Chuck Beyer.

Tackles—Les Kalchik, Al Klug, Bob Weingart, Warren Carity, Dick Brye, and Chuck Preifer.

Ends—John Harrington, Ray Kuffel, Bob Paeschke, Franklin Schweers, Ray Carlson, and John Hildebrandt.

Quarter backs—Harold Eisner, Warren Hall, Al Vogt, and Bobby Dams.

Half backs—Bob Heckel, Bob McCahill, Jimmy Richardson, Clair Voss, Johnny Goodyear, and Bob O'Hagan.

Full backs—Doug Renzel and Fred Rice.

STATE POLISHES ATTACK.

East Lansing, Mich., Oct. 9 (AP).—Michigan State took another sharp look today at formations used by Marquette in polishing off University of Wisconsin last week and then went about polishing their own scoring plays. Only one State player who started against Marquette last year is expected to be in the lineup here Saturday. He is Quarter Back Willie Davis.

John Rigney, Miss Comiskey Are Married

Dorothy Comiskey, treasurer of the Chicago White Sox, was married yesterday morning to John Dungan Rigney, star right handed Sox pitcher. The ceremony was performed in St. Thomas the Apostle church, 55th street and Kimbark avenue, by the Rev. Joseph O'Donnell. Witnesses were members of the bride's and groom's family.

Immediately after the ceremony the couple left by automobile for a honeymoon in Eagle River, Wis., according to Mrs. Grace Comiskey, the bride's mother.

In obtaining the marriage license yesterday morning in the office of County Clerk Michael J. Flynn, Rigney said he is 26 years old and gave his address as River Forest. Miss Comiskey said she is 24 and gave her address as 5120 Hyde Park boulevard.

Rigney, after being classified 1-A, was rejected by the army on June 20 because of an ear infection and was reclassified 4-F. Previously Rigney had asked for a 60 day deferment in order to save enough money with which to be married and support his wife while in the army.

Hirsch Seeks Fourth Straight Tonight—and Tie with Fenger

BY JAMES SEGRETI.

Fenger High, 1940 city champion and holder of first place in the south division of the Public School league, may be forced to share its lofty position late tonight. Hirsch, the newest threat to Fenger's march to another zone championship, will seek its fourth consecutive victory against Calumet on Shewbridge field, 74th and Aberdeen streets, at 8:30 o'clock. Fenger's squad, which drew a bye in this week's schedule, will be among the 4,000 expected to see the game.

Coach Chuck Palmer and his Fenger players will have more than a passing interest in the Hirsch-Calumet contest. Fenger, which has scored 121 points in winning four games, will meet Hirsch on Oct. 18 for the sectional lead if Calumet is successfully passed by Hirsch. The game tonight will be part of a double header in the south side stadium, South Shore facing Harper in the opener at 6:45 o'clock. Three other league games will send Foreman against Marshall in Hanson park; Lindblom against Du Sable at 83d street and Yates avenue, and Englewood against Gage Park in Normal park, 61st street and Racine avenue.

Plans were started yesterday for the eighth annual presentation of the All-City championship game between the winners of the Catholic and Publice School league titles under the sponsorship of Chicago's own Christmas benefit fund. . . . The game will be played in Soldiers' field on Nov. 29. . . . Ticket sales will open within two weeks, according to Harry O'Rourke. . . . Fenger won last year's contest from Leo, 18 to 0. . . . Loras academy of Dubuque, Ia., holder of a string of nine straight victories, will help St. Philip celebrate homecoming day in St. Philip stadium, Van Buren and Albany streets, Sunday afternoon. . . . Among the alumni who will attend are Judge Roger J. Kiley, Albert J. Horan, chief bailiff of the Municipal court, and Ald. Joseph Gillespie of the 29th ward. . . .

The executive committee of the Illinois High School association will meet in the La Salle hotel Monday. . . . It is expected to recommend the lifting of Fenger's suspension and allow the Public School league to join the group as a unit. . . . Heretofore, Chicago schools joined the association individually. . . . The IHSA annual meeting will be held in Champaign, Nov. 6, 7, and 8. . . . Another recommendation may be reducing the age limit from 20 to 19. . . . Capt. Bob Evans, De Paul left half back, is a brother of Dick Evans, former University of Iowa end who is now a member of the Chicago Cardinals. . . . Bob Evans and Joe Hoban, right half back, were the only veterans who returned to De Paul's squad this season. . . .

Calumet City and Thornton will meet tonight in Harvey to decide the leadership of the South Suburban league. . . . Argo will attempt to score its second victory against Kankakee on the latter's field in another league contest. . . . Freeport and Joliet, tied for the lead each with two victories, headline the Big Eight conference program tonight. . . . The game will be played in Freeport. . . . Roosevelt academy of Aledo, Ill., new member of the Midwest Prep conference, will play its second league game against Morgan Park Military academy on Abells field tomorrow afternoon. . . . Followers of the Big Twelve conference predict the winner of tonight's Champaign-Danville game on the latter's field may decide the 1941 championship.

Kuzma Will Start Against Pitt Tomorrow

Ann Arbor, Mich., Oct. 9 [Special]. —With two exceptions, Michigan probably will start the same team against Pittsburgh Saturday as started the first two games of the season.

It now appears that Tommy Kuzma of Gary, Ind., a sophomore, has clinched the starting job at left half back, relegating little Dave Nelson to the No. 2 spot, and that Sophomore Mervin Pregulman will pair up at guard with Bob Kolesar.

According to Coach Fritz Crisler, Kuzma and Pregulman have won starting assignments because of their fine showing in the first two games. Pregulman played much of those games, relieving Bill Melzow at guard, and Kuzma has made three of the four Michigan touchdowns this season as well as leading the backs in ground gained from scrimmage.

White Out of Game.

Crisler said Paul White, another star sophomore half back who has a shoulder injury, probably will not be able to play Saturday.

The coaching staff focused its attention on the specialty men in today's drills, still seeking a capable place kicker to convert touchdowns into extra points as well as giving considerable work to the passers and punters.

PITT SQUAD LEAVES.

Pittsburgh, Pa., Oct. 9 (AP).—The Pitt Panthers, who showed promise in dropping their opening game last week, left tonight for Ann Arbor to battle undefeated Michigan Saturday.

Coach Charley Bowser has put his squad thru three tough workouts since its 6 to 0 defeat by Purdue. Pitt is at full strength except for Edgar Jones who injured his thigh against Purdue and is not expected to play Saturday. He is the team's best passer.

DE KALB BEATEN IN STRETCH DUEL BY BOOK PLATE

Favorite Weakens Badly at Hawthorne.

BY HOWARD BARRY.

De Kalb showed his customary early speed in yesterday's Hawthorne mud, and he also displayed his usual weakness in the final drive. Mrs. G. H. Emick's Book Plate, racing at better than 8 to 1 odds, came alongside this 8 to 5 favorite in the last furlong and went on to beat him by a neck in the six furlong Hamburg purse, main event of a damp and gray afternoon.

Doublrob, which had delivered several exceptionally fast performances during the Washington Park meeting, was able to get no better than third yesterday.

The regulars who demonstrated their immunity to weather conditions by turning out for the program decided that De Kalb might have acquired new courage, judging by the way he had performed in his last previous start.

Book Plate Scores at 8 to 1.

So they backed him stoutly while Book Plate, which had been third to De Kalb on that occasion, was getting in at 8 to 1. A switch in weights was all in favor of De Kalb, Book Plate picking up five from his last start and his rival dropping five.

The three money horses had the race pretty much to themselves. De Kalb opened up an advantage of four lengths on the swing around the turn while Book Plate was running second with Doublrab close behind him. Soon after the stretch run began Book Plate shook off Doublrab under Warren Yarberry's strong urging. Continuing well, he moved up on the outside of the weakening De Kalb and got to the front in the last sixteenth. His mutuel payoff was $19, $8 and $4 across the board.

Mud Runners Do Well.

Thru most of the program the mud runners were going pretty well to form, tho a 90 to 1 shot, Bobloy, managed to break into the money in the fourth race, paying $20.80 to show behind Big Lee and K. Rounder.

This event brought out a field of seven 2 year olds, several of which had competed in fair company on a few previous occasions. Teco Tack was established as the even money favorite, largely because Steve Brooks was riding him, despite the fact that this juvenile filly never had run in the mud in the five previous starts of her career.

Teco Tack made a brief show of speed and then dropped out of this six furlong dash. Meanwhile, Big Lee was staying close to the early pace. He moved to the front approaching the stretch and held K. Rounder safe in the final stages.

Bobloy Closes Strongly.

Thruout the stretch run, the 90 to 1 shot, Bobloy, closed strongly to take third. The winner was a 5 to 1 shot, returning $12, $5.80, and $4.40 across the board.

Brooks was finding that the muddy going made it much more difficult for him to close gaps in the stretch with his customary strong finishes. He brought in the winner of the second race, Millmore, at 4 to 1 odds, to make up the second half of a daily double worth $67.80.

JUDGE REFUSES U.S. PETITION TO DISSOLVE ALCOA

Denies Government Suit in Entirety.

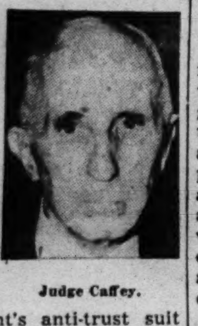
New York, Oct. 9 (AP).—The government's petition for dissolution of the Aluminum Company of America and the so-called trust which it alleged Alcoa and 24 corporate codefendants comprised was denied today by Federal Judge Francis G. Caffey.



Judge Caffey.

Petitions for injunctions against any or all of the defendants named in the government's anti-trust suit likewise were denied, and Judge Caffey, in doing so, praised Alcoa's board chairman, Arthur V. Davis, for building the company "into what it is today."

Absolved of All Charges.

"The evidence compels the conclusion," the court's dictated decision said, "that it has not been shown that Alcoa is guilty of any violation of the Sherman act as was charged in the government's bill; that the government has failed to prove its charges in any of the three phases into which it divided the case, namely: one, monopolization; two, conspiracy; three, misconduct."

Judge Caffey traced the history of Alcoa, declared that there appeared to exist in this country adequate supplies of bauxite and waterpower [only requisites for production of aluminum] available to any one, and added:

"Under these circumstances and for other reasons in my judgment, it would be greatly contrary to the public interest to dissolve or rejoin Alcoa. There is no warrant in fact or in law for dissolving or enjoining Alcoa.

Hopes There Will Be Appeal.

"I have assumed, since I found out what the case before me was, that whatever the decision, there would be an appeal. That is a great comfort to me, recognizing as I do my responsibility, altho I think my decision is right."

Judge Caffey's opinion had taken five hours dictation daily since Sept. 30. It was spread upon 680 pages of minutes, including some 170,000 words.

The case, lasting more than two years, was the longest trial in history.

WARNS SOUTHERN ELECTRIC POWER CRISIS IMPENDS

Washington, D. C., Oct. 9 (AP).—The Federal Power commission said tonight "civilian curtailment" in the use of electric power in the southeast, center of aluminum and other important arms material production, might become necessary due to a power shortage caused by protracted drought.

A conference of state public service commissions and utility engineers of the area was called for next Tuesday in Charlotte, N. C., to consider the power problem.

Commission engineers said that without rain, acute conditions might be expected by Nov. 1 in Tennessee, Georgia, Alabama, and Mississippi, and in the other southeastern states by Dec. 1.

Propose Pooling Facilities.

Montgomery, Ala., Oct. 9 (AP).—Sixteen southern public service commissioners and utility executives agreed at a conference here today that a critical electric power shortage would develop in the southeast by Nov. 1 unless heavy rains came quickly. Imposition of a curtailment program by the Federal Power commission was forecast but the group adopted a resolution asking that all power resources of the region be pooled before that step was taken.

West Side Trust to Pay 16 Per Cent to Depositors

A 16 per cent repayment to depositors of the West Side Trust and Savings bank was authorized yesterday by the state auditor. The payment amounts to $526,610 and is the third made since the bank closed. The total repaid is 35 per cent. A payment of 5 per cent amounting to about $103,000, to depositors of the Woodlawn Trust and Savings bank, also was authorized. This is the fifth payment since the bank closed and brings the total distributed to 48½ per cent.

Walgreen Co. Announces Larger Christmas Bonus

The Walgreen company, national drug store chain with headquarters in Chicago, announced yesterday that it will make a Christmas distribution of $250,000 to its employés, the largest in its history. The company formerly gave a $5 holiday gift to employés with more than a year's service. This year's gifts will range to $25.

War News Blamed for Break in Stock and Grain Markets

Steels Lead Slump

New York, Oct. 9 (AP).—A selling movement which started in stocks and spread to commodities sharply pared quoted values in leading speculative markets today. It was touched off by war bulletins that, for many financial observers, carried a suggestion of impending collapse of the Russian resistance to the massive German drive.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks recorded a net decline of .6 of a point at 41.8. This duplicated Tuesday's slide.

Domestic News Cheerless.

Domestic news contained little balm for Wall street's war worries. Adding to apprehension over the effects of government controls on business was the decision of the Supply Priorities and Allocations board to take complete control over new construction, a step designed to discourage nonarmament projects. Of similar color was the Washington report the federal reserve board was considering another twist on the screws holding down consumer instalment credit.

Stocks down fractions to 2 or more points at the close included United States Steel, Bethlehem [at a new year's low], Youngstown Sheet, United States Rubber, Douglas, Boeing, United Aircraft, Western Union, Dow Chemical, du Pont, Santa Fe, Great Northern preferred, and Texas Corporation. Eastman Kodak dropped 4.

CHICAGO PRICES FALL.

Of 111 issues traded yesterday on the Chicago Stock exchange, 77 declined, 31 closed unchanged, and only three advanced. Transactions totaled 27,000 shares. Northwest Airlines reached a new 1941 high at 12⅞, but closed at 12⅝ with a net decline of ⅛ point.

Volume leaders were Libby, McNeill & Libby, 2,300 shares, unchanged at 5½; Chicago corporation, 1,950 shares, off ⅛ to ⅝; Commonwealth Edison, 1,050 shares, off ⅝ to 25⅝; General Motors, 700 shares, off ½ to 39⅞, and General Electric, 600 shares, off ⅜ to 30¼.

Soy Beans Fall, Too

A wave of selling orders hit the grain, soy bean, and lard markets yesterday and forced a decline to the lowest prices in a month or more. Russian war news, weakness in securities and uneasiness over price control maneuvers in Washington furnished the background for the selling, brokers said.

Closing sales on all commodities were about the bottom with wheat futures off 1¾ to 2¼ cents a bushel with December at $1.18½ on the Chicago Board of Trade. Corn and oats each lost 1⅝ to 1¾ cents. Rye finished at a decline of 2⅝ to 3 cents and soy beans closed 3⅛ to 3⅝ cents lower. Beans for May delivery which sold at $2.02 a bushel on Sept. 13, dropped to $1.69¾ yesterday.

Lard Joins Broad Decline.

Lard futures which have been showing considerable resistance to selling pressure recently closed 40 to 50 cents per hundred pounds lower. A department of agriculture estimate issued Wednesday showing a cotton crop of over 11 million bales was taken as indicating there would be more cottonseed oil available than had been anticipated. This was also a factor in depressing the price of soy beans, brokers said.

Holders of December grain contracts were said to be showing uneasiness due to the extremely large discounts in cash markets compared with the future contract.

Grains Sell at Big Discount.

Choice quality cash wheat at Minneapolis sold 7 to 10 cents under December price compared with a cost of about 3 cents to carry the grain from now until Dec. 1, while No. 2 yellow corn at Chicago is quoted at 7¼ to 8 cents under the future. Inability to secure storage room for the cash grain is said to be responsible for this unusual situation.

A steamer with 185,000 bushels of Canadian wheat is expected to arrive here today from Fort William on its way to Gulf of Mexico port. The wheat will be turned into flour for export to British possessions in the West Indies and Central America.

OPM DISCLOSES DRIVE AGAINST 'MISUSE' OF PRIORITIES RATINGS

Washington, D. C., Oct. 9 (AP).—The imminent start of the Office of Production Management's threatened drive against aluminum foundries and other companies misusing aluminum priorities appeared today in disclosure that a half dozen company officials have been hailed to Washington for hearings which may lead to stern action.

One large Chicago consumer of aluminum was in the group, it was said, but OPM officials declined, pending a hearing today or tomorrow, to identify any of the firms or specify the alleged violations.

For several weeks, officials said, auditors from the compliance section of OPM's priorities division have been investigating the books and inventories of firms purchasing aluminum under arms priority ratings. A number of violations have been reported.

Wage-hour division inspectors, at the request of Priorities Director Donald M. Nelson, yesterday began a coast to coast survey of hundreds of aluminum foundries in quest of evidence of inventory hoarding and the diversion of aluminum obtained for purported arms use into nonessential civilian channels.

There was indication that OPM might shortly begin to use what is virtually its only punitive weapon—the cutting off of allocations of materials to offending companies.

Bank Clearings Decline, but Exceed Last Year

New York, Oct. 9 (AP).—Bank clearings in 23 cities during the week ended Wednesday totaled $6,818,209,000, an increase of 30.9 per cent over the $5,210,348,000 a year ago, Dun & Bradstreet reported today. In the preceding week the aggregate was higher by $145,126,000. Chicago clearings totaled $379,600,000, an increase of 29.3 per cent over the parallel 1940 week.

Ecuador Acts to Obtain Export-Import Bank Loan

QUITO, Ecuador, Oct. 9 (AP).—The Ecuadorean congress has authorized the government to contract for a loan up to 30 million dollars with the Export-Import bank in Washington, D. C.

SALES SOAR 34% IN RUSH TO BEAT DEADLINE ON TAX

Customers rushing to buy merchandise before new federal excise taxes went into effect on Oct. 1 boosted last week's department store sales thruout the country 34 per cent above the corresponding 1940 week, the federal reserve board reported yesterday at Washington, D. C. Sales were the highest of any week of the year.

Chicago sales were up 34 per cent from last year and 12 per cent from the preceding 1941 week, the Federal Reserve Bank of Chicago said. Sales in the 7th [Chicago] federal reserve district were 40 per cent larger than in 1940 and 7 per cent larger than in the preceding 1941 week.

For the four weeks ended Oct. 4, compared with the corresponding 1940 period, sales nationally were up 19 per cent, Chicago sales were up 20 per cent and 7th district sales 22 per cent.

By federal reserve board districts, percentage increases in the week ended Oct. 4 over a year ago, were: Boston, 22; New York, 32; Philadelphia, 30; Cleveland, 45; Richmond, 25; Atlanta, 25; St. Louis, 38; Kansas City, 35; Dallas, 27; San Francisco, 31 per cent.

RETAIL PRICES OF FOOD HIGHEST SINCE EARLY 1931

Washington, D. C., Oct. 9 (AP).—The department of labor today reported a sharp rise in retail food prices between mid-August and mid-September, saying that "the cost of food for the moderate-income family was up 2.6 per cent."

The advance was countrywide, the department said, and affected most of the important foods except fresh fruits and vegetables.

At mid-September levels, the department reported, retail food costs were 110.8 per cent of their 1935-'39 average, highest since January, 1931. Since March there has been an increase of 12.6 per cent.

The bureau of labor statistics reported an increase of 0.4 per cent in the general level of wholesale commodity prices for the week ended Oct. 4, following a decline in two previous weeks. Sharp advances in prices for foodstuffs and some farm products raised its commodity index to 91.6 per cent of the 1926 average. A year ago the index stood at 77.8.

CANADA COUNTS HER WAR COSTS AT 2¼ BILLIONS

Revenues Cover 77% of Expenditures.

The cost of the war to Canada from Sept. 1, 1939, thru Aug. 31, 1941, including the financing of British war expenditures in Canada, totaled 2 billion 225 million dollars, it was disclosed yesterday in a survey of the dominion war effort made by Wood, Gundy & Co., Ltd., a leading Canadian investment house.

During the war period total Canadian financial requirements included: Canadian direct war expenditures, 1 billion 320 millions; nonwar expenditures, 940 millions; financing British war expenditures in Canada, 905 millions, and maturing obligations, 455 millions, a total of 3 billion 620 million dollars.

Securities Provide Funds.

Funds obtained to meet this included 1 billion 745 millions from revenues and 2 billion 380 millions from the sale of new securities. There was a remainder of 505 millions, mainly represented in various cash balances. Of the total direct war and nonwar expenditures, approximately 77 per cent was covered by current revenue.

"After two years of active participation in war, Canada enters the third year in sound financial condition for an even more vigorous contribution," Wood, Gundy & Co. commented. "Activity covering war requirements has virtually eliminated unemployment. Unprecedently high taxation has diverted to the government a larger portion of an increased national income. Economic coöperation with the United States has been further consolidated thru coördination in many phases of war production and in defense plans."

Table Indicates Progress.

The following table, which compares the first seven months of 1941 with the corresponding 1939 period, indicates the progress made by Canada in its war effort:

[Last three ciphers omitted.]

| Activity | 7 months, 1941. | 7 months, 1939. | Pct. gain. |
|---|---|---|---|
| Natl. income.. | $3,004,000 | $2,493,000 | + 20 |
| Pig iron prod. [tons] | 727 | 356 | +104 |
| Steel prod. [tons] | 1,345 | 691 | + 95 |
| Elec. power [k. w. h.] | 18,394,000 | 15,950,000 | + 15 |
| Car loadings... | 1,807 | 1,345 | + 34 |
| Imports [all countries] | $ 773,000 | $ 379,000 | +104 |
| Exports [all countries] | $ 891,000 | $ 485,000 | + 84 |
| Exports to U. S. | $ 312,000 | $ 172,000 | + 81 |
| Imports from U. S. | $ 541,000 | $ 240,000 | +125 |
| Exports to United Kingdom | $ 388,000 | $ 184,000 | +111 |
| Imports from Unit. King'm. | $ 75,000 | $ 66,000 | + 14 |

The survey discloses also that bank deposits increased from 2 billion 391 millions as of July 31, 1939, to 2 billion 498 millions on July 31, 1941.

The general wholesale price index, using 1936 as 100, was 92 on Aug. 31, 1941, compared with 72 on Aug. 31, 1939, up 28 per cent. The cost of living index, using the period 1935-'39 as 100, was 112 on Aug. 31, 1941, compared with 101 on Aug. 31, 1939, an increase of 11 per cent.

In United States Terms.

The investment house translates the Canadian war effort, with the nation's 11 million 500 thousand population, into what it would have been on a basis of the United States' 130 million population. Among the items mentioned were the following:

| | Actual Canadian effort. | On basis of population of 130 million. |
|---|---|---|
| Public war loans | $1,415,000,000 | $15,995,000,000 |
| Financing for British | $ 905,000,000 | $10,230,000,000 |
| British commonwlth. air train'g plan, Canada's shr. 64 pct. of total cost | $ 531,000,000 | $ 6,002,000,000 |
| Shipbuilding program | $ 320,000,000 | $ 3,617,000,000 |
| Equipment for armed forces | $ 100,000,000 | $ 1,130,000,000 |
| Army vehicles delivered | 135,000 | 1,526,000 |
| Airplanes at present 40 per wk. rate: annual prod. | 2,080 | 23,500 |
| Shipyard employés | 20,000 | 226,000 |
| Aircraft employés | 30,000 | 339,000 |
| Total armed forces | 470,000 | 5,313,000 |

Discussing collaboration with the United States, the investment house says Canada is selling to America under the Hyde Park agreement additional defense materials and some articles of war which are expected to reach a value of 200 to 300 million dollars for the 12 months ended April 30, 1942.

Plant Seizure Threatened by Federal Board

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

A charge of noncoöperation with the Defense Mediation board was leveled against Air Associates, Inc., Bendix, N. J., yesterday by a board official who said the government might seize the plant if recommendations for settlement of a CIO strike were rejected.

Meanwhile, operations were crippled at the south's largest steel plant, the Fairfield works of the Tennessee Coal, Iron and Railroad company, near Birmingham, Ala., and at the Buffalo [N. Y.] Forge company, which has $13,470,000 of armament orders. The steel plant resumed operations last night and agreement was reached for a return to work this morning at the forge plant.

Frank P. Graham, chairman of a mediation board panel considering the CIO strike at Air Associates, asserted that F. Leroy Hill, company president, and Walter Chalaire, attorney, had walked out of hearings on the case in Washington, D. C., Wednesday.

Graham, president of the University of North Carolina and the public's representative on the panel, asserted:

"This company has not exhibited toward either this certified union or the board that attitude of coöperation to which the public is entitled on the part of a company whose operations are essential to the defense of the nation."

Federal Seizure Hinted.

He declared that if the management rejected or ignored the board's recommendations the case would be sent to the Office of Production Management for consideration of further action. And such action, he said, might include federal seizure of the plant, which holds 5 million dollars in contracts for aircraft parts.

The recommendations urged upon the company and the CIO United Automobile Workers were:

That the strike be called off immediately; that all strikers, upon their application, be returned to their jobs without discrimination, and that management and union representatives return to Washington for further hearings toward a "speedy and reasonable agreement" on a collective bargaining contract.

Hill denied he and the attorney had walked out of the conference, declared he was "perfectly able to operate this plant at full capacity," and expressed a willingness to continue negotiations.

Major Steel Units Reopen.

All major units of the Birmingham plant resumed operations last night after the management announced the mills would be kept open and the CIO sent its members thru AFL picket lines. Eleven thousand workers had been affected by a walkout of AFL unionists starting early in the morning in protest against a union card inspection drive begun at the plant gates by CIO members. The AFL contended this constituted efforts to "force us to affiliate."

Federal Labor Conciliator Thomas M. Finn announced settlement of the Buffalo Forge strike and said 800 production workers would return to their jobs today. Finn said the company had agreed to rehire three workers whose discharge was one of the reasons given for the strike by the CIO steel workers' union. Wage increases are also demanded.

October Figures Dip

Revenue freight loadings by railroads during the week ended Oct. 4 totaled 917,516 cars, a decrease of 1,994 cars, or 0.2 per cent, from the preceding week in which shipments reached the highest total since late in 1930, the Association of American Railroads reported yesterday. It was the sixth week this year, however, in which loadings exceeded the 900,000 car mark.

Freight shipments last week were up 111,512 cars, or 13.8 per cent, from the same 1940 week, and 87,414 cars, or 10.5 per cent, from 1939.

Green Assails Wasteful Use of Tax Money

Gov. Dwight H. Green warned officials of 160 life insurance companies yesterday of the effects of wasteful government spending on the insurance industry and told them that the constitutional form of government has been challenged in America.

The governor, in an address at the annual meeting of the American Life convention in the Edgewater Beach hotel, termed the resources of insurance companies an "economic bulwark" and asserted that any harmful acts of government which are felt by the insurance industry thru excessive taxes, financial restrictions, and wasteful spending "strike at the happiness and security of countless homes."

Hold Savings of 60 Million.

He observed that there are more than 60 million life insurance policy holders in the nation and said:

"The money of policy holders, invested wisely, has financed industry and agriculture, and has contributed greatly to the highest standards of living enjoyed by any people in the world. I know of no business more sensitive to the acts of government than life insurance. Taxation and financial restrictions—even wasteful spending as a form of inflation—are reflected immediately not only in the companies themselves but in the affairs of policy holders as well.

"If the government creates a trend toward lower investment earnings, then life insurance companies may be compelled to increase rates, or decrease participation dividends. Increased taxation lessens the value of property, and governmental extravagance weakens the stability of other investments."

Urges Minimum Taxation.

The governor cautioned against overburdening the people to the point where taxes "consume their earnings and destroy their faith and courage."

"There is one way," he said, "to make government a solvent and going concern. That way is not by resorting to the easy expedient of excessive taxation. Government—whether national or state—should be administered for the common welfare by applying the sound principle of keeping expenditures within assured revenue, and by imposing taxation to produce only the necessary minimum of revenue.

Dr. Marcus Nadler, professor of finance at New York university, told the convention that the first duty of insurance companies to themselves and their policyholders is to fight the forces of inflation which he said are threatening to engulf the nation. He said the main danger sources of inflation are the demands of organized labor for higher wages and the demands of farm leaders for higher farm commodity prices.

A dinner-dance closed the convention's four day meeting.

OPM DECREES FULL PRIORITIES ON STEEL SCRAP

Act Aimed to Avoid Plant Closings.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 9 (AP).—Donald M. Nelson, director of priorities of the Office of Production Management, today placed iron and steel scrap under full priority control. The OPM said the action was taken to avert a situation which it said threatened to shut down or curtail the operation of steel mills, working at full capacity on armament orders, and relieve serious day to day shortages.

Donald M. Nelson.

Under terms of the order Nelson is authorized to issue specific instructions for deliveries of scrap, even designating the source, destination, or amount to be delivered to or acquired by any person.

Act Against Hoarding.

OPM steel officials indicated the action was expected to prevent hoarding of scrap and would permit Nelson to take excess supplies from mills which report excess amounts of scrap on hand.

The order provides that producers, dealers, and brokers, and consumers of iron and steel scrap must make monthly reports to the priorities division, beginning Nov. 15, as to scrap inventories, purchases, production and sales, receipts and consumption of metal. On the basis of these reports, it was indicated, a general policy for the distribution of scrap under mandatory orders will be developed.

Control of deliveries becomes effective Saturday.

Dealer to Make Refunds.

Meanwhile, Price Administrator Leon Henderson said that one of the nation's largest brokers and dealers in scrap had agreed to refund to buyers all amounts it had collected in excess of established ceiling prices on every such sale the company had made since Sept. 2.

Henderson said the company's action was a result of the first direct step by the price administrator's office to compel strict compliance with the scrap price schedule.

Since the dealer had agreed to make full restitution and prevent future discrimination in sales, Henderson's office did not make public the name of the company.

A Five-Question Quiz on Your Will

YOUR WILL is the cornerstone of your estate structure. And if the property you leave is to accomplish the purposes you intend, your Will should be most carefully planned, drawn by your lawyer, and kept up-to-date.

Try this check-up on your own Will:

1. Does it make essential provisions for the payment of estate and inheritance taxes, as well as other necessary expenses?
2. Does it consider recent births, deaths or marriages among those for whom you wish to provide?
3. Does it protect your estate against paying more taxes than are necessary while your immediate family is benefiting from the property you leave?
4. Does it set up well-planned trusts to favor your wife and children over more distant relatives and other beneficiaries?
5. Does it name a competent, experienced executor and trustee to settle your estate and manage the trust funds?

With a negative answer to any one of these questions you should consider corrective measures at once.

Officers of our Trust Department will be glad to talk with you and your lawyer about your own estate situation at any time—in confidence and without placing you under the least obligation. Our estate planning experience may prove to be valuable in helping you bring your program in line with present day conditions.

EASTERN, UNITED AIR SHOW PROFIT GAINS IN AUGUST

Report Revenue Figures to Federal Board.

Larger net incomes for last August than in the 1940 month were reported yesterday by two air transport systems—Eastern Air Lines, Inc., and United Air Lines Transport corporation.

In a report to the civil aeronautics board, Eastern Air listed August profit, after taxes, at $85,134, compared with $25,311 in August last year. In the 1941 month the company received $165,167 for carrying mail, and its passenger revenues totaled $909,815. Express revenues amounted to $28,785.

Pullman Car Net Dips.

United Air Lines reported to the board an August, 1941, profit of $416,414, compared with $326,381 in the 1940 month. Passenger revenues in August of this year were $1,635,920, mail pay amounted to $358,596, and the company received $78,496 of express revenues.

Pullman company, sleeping car subsidiary of Pullman, Inc., announced a decline in August profit to $232,734, from $302,622 in the corresponding period a year earlier. For the eight months ended with August, however, net income increased to $1,788,455, from $1,734,784 in the first eight months of last year.

The company increased its federal income tax provision to $123,538 for August, from $92,958, and the eight month provision was raised to $566,265, from $481,507 a year earlier.

Commodities

Commodity futures prices sagged yesterday under a wave of selling said to have been brought on by the news of the German drive into Russia. Cotton rallied to close 20 to 50 cents a bale lower after an early slump had carried prices down as much as $1.40 a bale. Cottonseed oil fell 0.20 to 0.23 cent a pound in sympathy with related declining staples.

Coffee futures ended 0.15 to 0.20 cent a pound lower, and world sugar was down 0.04½ to 0.07 cent a pound under active liquidation. Wool was down 0.7 cent to 1.2 cents a pound, and cocoa and hides followed the trend.

1½ BILLION MORE FUNDS VOTED RFC BY SENATE GROUP

Jesse Jones Says He'll Be Back Again Soon.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 9 (AP).—The senate banking committee today approved a 1½ billion dollar increase in borrowing power for the Reconstruction Finance corporation after Jesse Jones, federal loan administrator, testified that the RFC would need still more funds for the armament program within three months.

"We'll be back up here again in 60 or 90 days for more money," Jones declared, after explaining that about 1 billion dollars was needed to expand steel production in this country.

Already Voted by House.

The 1½ billion increase, already approved by the house, Jones said, would raise the total RFC borrowing power to slightly more than 8 billion dollars, of which about 5 billions has been loaned or committed for arms activities.

He relayed an OPM estimate that "we will be short about a million tons of copper during the next year," altho RFC agencies, he said, now were buying "every pound of strategic metals produced in this country and South America."

The copper discussion arose when Sen. Alva Adams [D., Colo.] said that RFC agencies were "frankly evading the law" by bringing in copper and other materials without paying import duties.

Defends Duty Free Imports.

The RFC originally sought this power for itself in the pending bill after Jones testified that defense agencies were using the navy's power to purchase supplies and bring them in duty free. When western congressmen interested in mining and other raw materials objected, administration leaders withdrew this request.

Jones denied use of the navy's authority was an evasion of import laws, contending that for a government agency to pay import duties was "taking money out of one pocket and putting it in another."

Reject Truax-Traer Plea for Coal Price Reduction

Washington, D. C., Oct. 9 (AP).—The bituminous coal division denied today a request of the Truax-Traer Coal company, Chicago, for a 10 cents a ton reduction in the minimum price for coal produced at its mines in southern West Virginia for sale to Pickands Mather & Co., Minneapolis, Minn., dock operator selling to the Minneapolis Gas Light company. Truax-Traer said such a reduction was necessary to prevent the coal from being displaced by coal from Kentucky.

People and Events

R. F. Meardon, formerly general foreman at New York for American Airlines, Inc., has been promoted to maintenance supervisor for the central division of the company with headquarters in Chicago.

R. F. Meardon.

Lawrence Howe, partner in the investment firm of Shearson, Hammill & Co., has been elected to the board of governors of the Chicago Stock exchange to fill a vacancy. He will serve as a nonmember governor until the annual election of the exchange in June, 1942.

Noble M. Kean, assistant general passenger agent for the Chicago and North Western Railroad company at Chicago, will be the guest of honor at a luncheon of the City Passenger Agents' Association of Chicago in the Congress hotel next Tuesday.

The Ohio Society of Chicago, whose members include prominent Chicago business men born in Ohio, held its regular monthly meeting yesterday in the Hotel Sherman. Among those members attending were Charles G. Dawes, former vice president of the United States; Edward Engel, president of the Santa Fe railroad, and Harry B. Gear, vice president of the Commonwealth Edison company.

The Arthur Dixon Transfer company will hold its annual meeting tonight. Fifteen company drivers who have not had an accident within the last five years will receive awards.

Garth Bentley, president of the Industrial Editors' Association of Chicago, has been elected president of the newly organized National Council of Industrial Editors' association.

OPA ELEVATES ZINC CEILING TO EXPAND SUPPLY

Washington, D. C., Oct. 9 (AP).—Price Administrator Leon Henderson announced today that a maximum price schedule on zinc, increasing the level one cent, was in preparation and would be issued shortly. He said that "prime western" zinc would be raised to 8¼ cents a pound, F. O. B. East St. Louis, and "high grade" zinc to 9¼ cents.

Present prices have prevailed under an informal understanding with zinc producers since October, 1940. Henderson said that so far as the Office of Price Administration was concerned the new maximums, with appropriate differentials for other grades, could become effective at once.

"This action represents a case where study by the OPA disclosed that a price increase is necessary to expand supply," the administrator said.

MARGIN OF RAIL PAY OVER OTHERS PLACED AT $300

Dr. Yntema's Testimony Is Given for Roads.

Railway employés during the period 1938 to 1940 were paid $300 a year more than workers in other industries, Dr. Theodore O. Yntema, professor of statistics in the school of business, University of Chicago, testified yesterday before the President's fact finding commission in Kimball hall.

Dr. Yntema supported the railroads' contention that their workers are better paid than those in other industries. The railroads are resisting demands for wage increases. Dr. Yntema, who based his statements on statistics furnished by the railroad retirement board and the social security board, indicated that the spread in favor of railroad employés will be at least $250 for 1941.

"Studies based on government figures showed that in 1939 5.2 per cent of railroad workers, but only 3.1 per cent of other workers, earned $3,000 or more," he said; "32.1 per cent of railroad workers, but only 13 per cent of other workers, earned $1,800 or more; 53.2 per cent of railroad workers, but only 29.2 per cent of other workers, received $1,200 or more; 72 per cent of railroad workers, but only 55.8 per cent of other workers, received $500 or more a year."

Herbert A. Enochs, chief of personnel for the Pennsylvania railroad, completed testimony designed to show that railroad wages are at the highest levels in history.

Indianian Named Solicitor for Department of Labor

Washington, D. C., Oct. 9 [Special].—President Roosevelt today nominated Warner W. ## Investors' Guide

INSULL INVESTMENTS.

I am the holder of several $1,000 gold debentures of the bankrupt Insull Utility Investments, Inc. I read in your column that the company is making a payment of $3.36 on each $1,000 debenture and has already made previous payments. I have never received any payments. Will you tell me what I can do in order to receive the payments due me?—A. G. N.

Answer: Liquidating dividends on Insull Utility Investments, Inc., have been paid from two different estates—the equity estate and the bankruptcy estate. The company was declared bankrupt in September, 1932. Subsequently the two accounts were established.

The deadline for filing claims for debentures against the bankruptcy estate was March 22, 1933. If you did not file by that date you were not entitled to payments from this account. The $3.36 authorized by the federal court at Chicago last Sept. 5 was the final payment in the bankruptcy proceeding and brought the total to $38.97 for each debenture.

The final date for claims against the equity estate, however, is Dec. 31, 1942. If you file by that time you will receive the two equity payments which already have been made totaling $44.50 for each $1,000 debenture. In addition you will be entitled to a final equity distribution which is expected in 1943.

Debenture holders who filed claims in the bankruptcy proceedings by the final date were entitled to all equity distributions without filing separate claims against the latter account. The courts have held that bankruptcy claims also stand in equity.

To make your claim for the equity distributions, obtain a standard legal form known as "proof of unsecured debt," fill it out, and mail it to Garfield Charles, special master in equity, at 120 South La Salle street, Chicago. The forms can be purchased in stationery or office supply stores.

NEW TITLE.

I have heard that International Agricultural corporation has changed its name. Is this correct?—P. R.

Answer: The name has not been changed as yet. A special stockholders' meeting has been called for Oct. 28 to vote on a proposal to change the corporate title to International Minerals and Chemical corporation.

HAY MARKET.

FARM LEADERS DEMAND HIGHER PRICES OF GOODS

Senators Scoff at Fear It Would Speed Inflation.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 9 (AP).—A conference of farm leaders from 37 states drafted resolutions tonight calling upon congress to guarantee farmers higher prices than now prevail for many of their products.

Congressional proposals to freeze agricultural prices at present levels or to authorize a ceiling on such prices encountered sharp opposition from the 60-odd governors, state agricultural commissioners, officials of national farm organizations, and congress members attending the conference.

Deny Inflationary Dangers.

Speaker after speaker, including Senators John H. Bankhead [D., Ala.], Elmer Thomas [D., Okla.], Ellison D. Smith [D., S. C.], Guy Gillette [D., Ia.], and George D. Aiken [R., Vt.] took exception to contentions of some economists and government officials that rising farm prices were contributing to an inflationary movement.

"There is no danger of inflated farm prices so long as we have surpluses and farmers produce abundantly," declared Bankhead.

All took the position that farm prices—now 45 per cent higher than a year ago—still did not give farmers their share of prosperity created by armament program spending.

Urge "Pressure" Methods.

Sen. Smith called upon farm groups to organize and "demand of congress your just dues."

Aiken said farmers should use "pressure methods" to get what they want.

"Farmers will have to do what other economic groups do if they are to prevent themselves being reduced to peasantry," he said.

PROVINCE OF QUEBEC
DISTRICT OF MONTREAL

—SUPERIOR COURT—

No. 109

IN THE MATTER OF:
MONTREAL TRAMWAYS COMPANY
—and—
IN THE MATTER OF:
THE QUEBEC RAILWAY ACT

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that by an Order dated October third, 1941, under the provisions of Division III(a) of the Quebec Railway Act, Mr. Justice Greenshields, Chief Justice of the Superior Court for the Province of Quebec, has directed separate meetings to be convened of—

(i) The holders of the First and Refunding Mortgage 5% Thirty Year Gold Bonds, and

(ii) The holders of the General and Refunding Mortgage Sinking Fund Gold Bonds of all Series now outstanding, being Series "A" to "D" inclusive, respectively of Montreal Tramways Company, for the purpose of considering and, if thought fit, agreeing to a Scheme of Arrangement proposed to be made between the said Company and the holders of such Bonds respectively, either as proposed or as altered or modified at such meetings, and has further directed that such meetings be held AT THE WINDSOR HALL, WINDSOR HOTEL, DOMINION SQUARE, IN THE CITY OF MONTREAL, PROVINCE OF QUEBEC, DOMINION OF CANADA, on the respective dates and times below mentioned, namely:

1. The meeting of the holders of the First and Refunding Mortgage 5% Thirty Year Gold Bonds on Tuesday, December ninth, 1941 at 11 a.m. Eastern Daylight Saving Time;

2. The meeting of the holders of the General and Refunding Mortgage Sinking Fund Gold Bonds on Wednesday, December tenth, 1941 at 11 a.m. Eastern Daylight Saving Time; at which place and respective dates and times the holders of the Bonds as aforesaid are requested to attend.

The said Order further directs that either or both of such meetings may be adjourned from time to time, for not longer than 90 days in all, in such manner and either with or without notice as may be determined by vote of a simple majority in value of the Bondholders present or represented at the meeting concerned.

The general nature of the Scheme of Arrangement may be briefly summarized as follows:

A. With respect to the First and Refunding Mortgage 5% Thirty Year Gold Bonds:—

(1) The date of maturity is to be extended from July 1, 1941, to July 1, 1951, without change in the rate of interest or currencies of payment.

(2) The necessary action will be taken to reduce the total principal amount of such Bonds outstanding from $23,611,000 to $19,000,000, through the surrender and cancellation of $3,891,000 of Bonds now held as collateral security for the General Mortgage Bonds, or held in the Company's treasury, and the purchase by the Company and cancellation of $720,000 of outstanding Bonds, all as set forth in Clauses 2, 3 and 4 of the Scheme of Arrangement, and no further Bonds may be issued under the First Mortgage Trust Deed.

(3) The Company will create a sinking fund for such Bonds by an annual payment commencing in 1942 of $700,000 Canadian funds payable either in cash or in such Bonds taken at their purchase price to the Company or at par, whichever is less. Sinking fund moneys are to be applied to the purchase of Bonds on the market or by private contract at prices not exceeding 100½% and accrued interest, or if and to the extent that such moneys have not been so applied within sixty (60) days after receipt, in the redemption of Bonds by lot at 100½% and accrued interest.

(4) Such Bonds shall be redeemable in whole or in part by lot at any time prior to their extended maturity date at 100½% and accrued interest on not less than thirty (30) days' published notice.

(5) All defaults and penalties under the First Mortgage Trust Deed shall be waived.

B. With respect to the General and Refunding Mortgage Sinking Fund Gold Bonds:—

(1) Such Bonds are to be exchanged, par for par, for General Mortgage Bonds of new series to be created under the General Mortgage Trust Deed but bearing the same respective interest rates and having the same maturity date as the Bonds for which they are to be exchanged; holders of Bonds who were on April 17, 1941, and still are, when the Scheme becomes binding, residents of countries other than the Dominion of Canada to receive new Bonds payable, at the option of the holder, in United States, Canadian or English currency, and all other holders to receive new Bonds payable in Canadian currency only.

(2) The security for such Bonds will be modified by the release from the lien of the General Mortgage Trust Deed and cancellation of $2,260,000 First and Refunding Mortgage 5% Thirty Year Gold Bonds now pledged thereunder.

(3) Of such Bonds now outstanding, $1,724,300 held unsold in the Company's treasury are to be cancelled and no further Bonds are to be issued under the General Mortgage Trust Deed which will be closed at $26,047,400.

(4) A sinking fund will be established for the new General Mortgage Bonds by payment by the Company of the following amounts:—

$350,100 on or before April 1, 1952
$367,400 on or before April 1, 1953
$385,300 on or before April 1, 1954

such payments to be made either in cash or in such Bonds taken at par. Sinking fund moneys are to be applied to the purchase of such Bonds on the market or by private contract at prices not exceeding 100½% and accrued interest, or if and to the extent that such moneys have not been so applied within sixty (60) days after receipt, in the redemption of Bonds by lot at 100½% and accrued interest. Additional sinking funds are provided in certain contingencies specified in clauses 14(e) and 16 of the Scheme of Arrangement.

(5) The new General Mortgage Bonds are to be redeemable at any time prior to maturity in whole or in part by lot on at least thirty (30) days' published notice at 100½% and accrued interest.

(6) The Company is to covenant that it will pay no dividends unless, prior to the declaration of any such dividends, it shall have purchased or redeemed and shall have surrendered for cancellation new General Mortgage Bonds to a principal amount not in any event less than $2,000,000 and which also shall not be less in principal amount than the total of the sinking funds which would have been payable for the present General and Refunding Mortgage Sinking Fund Gold Bonds of Series "A" to "D" inclusive in the calendar years 1942 and following, to and including the calendar year in which such dividend is to be paid.

(7) The right is reserved to the Company at any time before the expiration of the extended maturity date of the First and Refunding Mortgage 5% Thirty Year Gold Bonds, to replace such Bonds by a new issue of first mortgage bonds to an equal principal amount secured by a charge upon all the properties and assets of the Company ranking prior to the charge constituted by the General Mortgage Trust Deed, subject to the restrictions set forth in clause 16 of the Scheme of Arrangement.

(8) The default under the General Mortgage Trust Deed resulting from failure to pay the First Mortgage Bonds on their original maturity date shall be waived.

By the said Order the Judge has appointed Mr. D. C. Abbott, K.C., M.P., or failing him Mr. Hugh E. O'Donnell, K.C., to be Chairman of the said meeting of the holders of the First and Refunding Mortgage 5% Thirty Year Gold Bonds; and Mr. A. S. McNichols or failing him Mr. J. E. L. Duquet to be Chairman of the said Meeting of the holders of the General and Refunding Mortgage Sinking Fund Gold Bonds; and has directed the respective Chairmen to report the result of the said meetings respectively to the Court.

The said Scheme of Arrangement will be subject to the subsequent sanction of a Judge of the Superior Court for the District of Montreal.

BY ORDER OF THE COURT

PROTHONOTARY, SUPERIOR COURT,
DISTRICT OF MONTREAL.

DAY BY DAY ON THE FARM by BOB BECKER

Tree War to Be Ended.

Oct. 9, 1941.

THE residents and the gardener at the Wheaton farm have come to a decision regarding the hawthorn and cedar trees which are growing close together near one of the farm homes. The hawthorns will have to be cut down.

The two species don't get along well together. A rust disease thrives when they are found together and disappears when one or the other is eliminated. The wheat rust which is harbored on barberry bushes presents a parallel case.

How Decision was Made.

When the story of these two tree opponents was printed here several weeks ago the gardener received several letters from scientists and conservationists urging him to save the hawthorn trees and destroy the cedars, inasmuch as the haws are native growths and the cedars are not. The men had to decide otherwise, however, for the following reason:

There are more than 100 fine cedar trees on the lawn and garden in which this unusual "battle" is taking place. There are only two or three hawthorns in the yard. Naturally the farm residents wanted to keep the cedars in preference to the few attractive haw trees.

Another factor in their decision was that there are several hundred hawthorns in the woodlots to beautify the farm with their fragrant spring blossoms and display thousands of bright red thornapples for the late summer and autumn season. These woodland trees are far enough away not to harbor the cedar rust.

Crab Apples Unlimited.

The supply of decorative thornapples and wild crabapples is almost unlimited this season. Some of the thornapples and crabapples still are on the trees and add color to the landscape with their bright red and green outlined against the light blue autumn sky.

So far we have seen no wild ducks on the ponds of the Wheaton farm, nor have the farm residents recently observed any mallards, pintails, or teal. Every fall we watch the ponds for these migrants. Usually they drop down to spend a few days with the domestic geese and ducks on the farm. This season, however, the autumn rains have been so plentiful that there are hundreds of potholes and ponds to serve as temporary homes for the migrants. Tho the scientific surveys show that the duck population is greater than for several years, the birds are likely to be more widely distributed over the Chicagoland area because of the more plentiful supplies of water.

TREASURY ENDS SALES OF BONDS WITH FULL QUOTA

Cash Subscription Facts to Be Given Oct. 15.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 9 (AP).—The treasury closed its cash subscription books tonight on 1 billion 200 million dollars of new bonds which it offered to the investing public this morning, the quota filled. It also announced that the period for exchange of $204,425,400 of old treasury notes for the new bonds would close tomorrow night.

Details on the total amount of offers to take the bonds and the basis of allotments probably will be made on Oct. 15, Secretary Henry Morgenthau Jr. said. The new securities, at 2¼ per cent, mature in 26 to 31 years. Holders of the old treasury notes were offered a 3 to 3½ per cent premium on the exchange.

Morgenthau said that the bulk of subscriptions were coming from insurance companies, mutual savings banks and investors who wanted to buy for a long term investment.

Cautions Banks on Loans.

He also cautioned banks against making unsecured loans to their customers to enable them to buy the bonds. He asked the federal reserve banks, which receive bond subscriptions on behalf of the treasury, to examine all subscriptions and eliminate any which appear to be based on such loans.

The secretary explained this type of limitation was to restrain subscribers from asking for more bonds than they could afford in the hope of reselling them quickly at speculative profits.

Commercial banks were permitted to buy the bonds, but the treasury and federal reserve system recently have had the policy of urging the purchase of government securities by others, as far as possible because when a commercial bank buys a government bond, bank deposits rise and contribute to inflationary trends.

Bid Up Federal Bonds.

New York, Oct. 9 (AP).—Operators seeking the right to participate in the treasury offering of new long term 2¼ per cent bonds established a bull market today for the 1¼ per cent treasury notes which bear conversion rights.

The resultant action, which at one time boosted the price of the 1¼s a full point, took up most of the financial district's attention and carried most of the federals higher. The majority of the action was over the counter.

The 1¼s ended the day around 103.

AUDITORS TOLD NEW TAXES MEAN BIG OPPORTUNITY

The new tax law has placed additional burdens, but equally great opportunities, on the bank auditor, Clifford S. Young, president of the Federal Reserve Bank of Chicago, said yesterday in an address before the annual convention of the National Association of Bank Auditors and Controlers in the Palmer House.

Taxes have always been a difficult problem for bank management, Young said, and more than ever before these problems are present thruout the year.

He said the bank auditor no longer is a "mere figure chaser," but instead has "the very grave responsibility of assisting management in intelligent operation of a bank."

ARMY ORDERED TO HELP CREATE EVANSVILLE JOBS

Washington, D. C., Oct. 9 [Special].—The Office of Production Management has certified Evansville, Ind., to the war department as a city faced with "severe priorities unemployment," and the procurement branch of the army subsequently was instructed to give Evansville industries special consideration in the placing of arms program contracts and subcontracts.

About 3,000 of Evansville's 21,000 industrial workers are unemployed because the manufacture of refrigerators and automobiles has been curtailed according to the OPM. It was estimated that 5,000 others might be displaced by Jan. 1 unless new contracts are obtained speedily.

Offerings of New Securities

A syndicate headed by Drexel & Co. and Lehman Brothers yesterday was awarded $14,100,000 in city of Philadelphia serial bonds on a bid of 1.65358 per cent. Bonds which mature from Jan. 1, 1943, to 1948, bear an interest rate of 1¼ per cent, and those maturing from 1949 to 1967 pay 4 per cent.

A group headed by Harris, Hall & Co. offered $2,744,000 in Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul and Pacific railroad equipment trust certificates, due May 1, 1942, to Nov. 1, 1948, at prices to yield .20 to 1.65 per cent.

An issue of $2,600,000 Gulf Power company first mortgage 3¼ per cent 30 year bonds was offered by a group headed by the First Boston corporation at 103 and interest, to yield 2.97 per cent.

Holders of Paramount Pictures, Inc., 3¼ per cent convertible debentures, of which $12,681,000 are outstanding, and $7,355,782 of bank loans, were notified by the company of an offer to exchange a maximum of $20,000,000 of new 4 per cent debentures due 1956 for the existing securities on an even basis. The announcement was made by Barney Balaban, president of the company.

Bridgeport Brass company announced a registration statement will be filed today with the Securities and Exchange commission covering 25,486 shares of $100 par convertible preferred stock which shareholders will be asked to authorize Oct. 20. Common stock holders will have prior rights to buy the new issue, which will be used primarily to retire $2,874,000 in bank loans.

Smith, Barney & Co. offered 13,200 shares of Eastman Kodak company common at $137 a share.

F. Eberstadt & Co. announced shortly after the offering of 54,000 shares of Victor Chemical company common stock at $25.50 a share that the issue had been substantially oversubscribed.

INSTITUTE AND TRADE GROUP OFFER STUDIES TOWARD KEY POSTS

The Junior Association of Commerce yesterday announced that it will offer in collaboration with the Illinois Institute of Technology a 16 week course in business administration to aid Chicago companies in obtaining qualified supervisory personnel.

The program is being organized by J. H. Donlan, commercial vice president of the association. He said that classes will start about Oct. 30 and will be held twice a week in two hour sessions in the Hotel Sherman. Tuition for the course will be $30.

Raymond J. Koch, a trustee of the Illinois Institute of Technology, reported at a meeting in the Chicago club that $500,000 had been pledged toward a $3,100,000 fund to build a campus for the school, since the fund solicitation campaign began two weeks ago. Col. Willard Chevalier, economist, publisher, addressed the meeting against crippling private industry in the drive to rearm the nation.

BUTTER FUTURES DROP ON IMPORTS FROM ARGENTINA

Butter futures prices suffered one of their sharpest breaks during the season yesterday on the Chicago Mercantile exchange. Closing prices were down 0.85 cent with the November contract at 34.05 cents a pound. Traders said reports of large Argentine butter imports and a heavily supplied wholesale market caused the break.

Egg futures were as much as 0.25 cent lower with the decline said to have been brought on by the same factors affecting butter prices.

Department of commerce and trade statistical figures indicate that during the last three months 1,184,669 pounds of Argentine butter and 4,915,000 dozen of eggs have been received at New York. These compare with total butter imports of 243,582 during all of last year and no imports of Argentine eggs.

Trade sources said an estimated 2,240,000 pounds of butter was expected from Argentina shortly and a ship with 24,927 cases of eggs was due at New York yesterday.

AMERICAN CAR'S TANK OUTPUT SET AT 400 A MONTH

Detroit, Mich., Oct. 9 [Special].—The American Car and Foundry company is building tanks at the rate of 400 a month and expects soon to step up to 500, Charles J. Hardy, president, told the army ordnance association at its annual meeting here today. To date, "not less than 1,800 have been delivered," he said.

Hardy said the company is also turning out shell forgings, demolition bombs, pontoons, tank lighters, mine sweepers, shell fuses, and metallic containers, and meanwhile is maintaining production of its normal railroad equipment.

September Zinc Output Falls, but Tops Last Year

New York, Oct. 9 (AP).—The American Bureau of Metal Statistics announced today that 73,225 tons of zinc was produced last month, against 75,524 in August and 59,800 in September, 1940. Domestic shipments were 64,673 tons.

FARISH REJECTS MEXICAN OFFER ON OIL CLAIMS

New York, Oct. 9 (AP).—W. S. Farish, president of Standard Oil company of New Jersey, announced tonight that Mexican subsidiaries of his company "could not give their assent to the agreement now proposed" by the Mexican government for settlement of the oil controversy. It was understood Standard Oil of California took a similar stand.

W. S. Farish.

The principal New Jersey Standard subsidiary in Mexico is Huasteca Petroleum company, which, with sister subsidiaries, operated extensive properties in Mexico prior to the expropriation of all foreign oil concessions by that country in March, 1938.

Consolidated Oil company and a few others have reached agreements with Mexico on settlement of their claims.

"The Mexican government's announced method of evaluation is in itself confiscatory," Farish said, "since it eliminates sub-soil rights which represent the main element of value."

MEMBER OF SEC WANTS CAPITAL TO FLOW FASTER

Biloxi, Miss., Oct. 9 (AP).—Restoration of investor confidence in securities to permit capital to flow more freely into industry was urged here today by Edmund Burke Jr., commissioner of the Securities and Exchange commission.

Addressing the annual convention of the National Association of Securities Commissioners, Burke said, "If we have stopped putting equity money into American business we have indeed a grave problem.

"I feel strongly that purchases of new issues of equity securities on a larger scale than we have seen them during the last decade are essential to our free enterprise economy once the defense emergency has passed."

Elect 4 New Directors of Stock Clearing Corp.

Four new directors were elected at the annual meeting of the Chicago Stock Clearing corporation yesterday. They were Thomas L. Dowd, cashier for Lamson Brothers & Co.; Charles J. Cullen, partner in Langill & Co.; Alfred H. Gansberg, officer manager of Winthrop, Mitchell & Co., and Anthony Godie, office manager of Fuller, Cruttenden & Co. Other directors were reëlected. Kenneth L. Smith was reëlected president. The corporation is a subsidiary of the Chicago Stock exchange.

SUIT FILED TO BREAK TRUSTEE CONTROL OF KNICKERBOCKER HOTEL

Charging that trustees of the 14 story Knickerbocker hotel are attempting to perpetuate their control of the million dollar property in violation of a trust agreement with 2,200 certificate holders, J. Frank Friedberg, an attorney, asked the Superior court yesterday to hold an election of new directors and officers.

An injunction suit, filed on behalf of Friedberg by Attorney Hirsch E. Soble, asserted that Raymond H. Schultz, president of the hotel company; Aaron Colnon, vice president, and Charles A. McDonald, secretary, were planning to meet next Monday to reëlect themselves.

Colnon, also president of the Fort Dearborn Mortgage company; McDonald, a federal court master in chancery, and Schultz are trustees of the voting trust which holds the hotel's 25,668 shares of stock. The trust would expire Nov. 18 unless extended with approval of certificate holders.

EXCESS RESERVE FUNDS OF BANKS RISE 20 MILLIONS

Loans to Brokers Are Up 2 Millions in N. Y.

The federal reserve board reported yesterday that excess reserves [idle lendable funds] of member banks increased 20 million dollars in the week ended Wednesday to a total of 5 billion 210 million dollars.

Loans to brokers and dealers on securities held by member banks in New York City rose 2 million dollars to a total of 356 millions as of Wednesday.

Details of the board's report follow:

FEDERAL 'MORAL AID' PLEDGED TO ARMS JOBLESS

Cleveland, O., Oct. 9 (AP).—The federal government feels a "moral responsibility" for the welfare of workers who lose their jobs because of the shift from a peacetime to a wartime economy, Daniel L. Goldy, assistant regional director of the defense health and welfare services, declared today.

The government, Goldy said, is determined to do everything possible to alleviate the effects of economic dislocations. Goldy is chairman of a committee which met here to coordinate the efforts of federal, state, and local welfare agencies to meet the problems of unemployment resulting from the arms program.

He estimated that 45,000 Ohioans will be out of work within the next three months thru curtailment of civilian production, with only 15,000 to 20,000 being hired in arms industries. Some of these, he said, may not find other employment for six to 18 months.

C. & E. I. Railroad Has Million Profit This Year

QUARTERMASTER ITEMS.

I understand that the quartermaster corps has been instructed to do its purchasing by direct negotiation except when specifically authorized to call for competitive bidding. How can I get in touch with the quartermaster corps and what kind of items does it buy?

Answer: Maj. L. O. Whitaker is executive officer of the procurement division of the Chicago quartermaster depot, 1819 West Pershing road. He has a list of more than 10,000 concerns with which the depot may do business.

The quartermaster corps buys thousands of different articles, many of which are manufactured commercially. Among these items are candy, lumber, trucks, pillows, pillow cases, fiber helmets, blankets, uniforms, pocket knives, shoes, overshoes, skis, lanterns, bacon, evaporated milk, corned beef, handkerchiefs, aprons, caps, neckties, towels, mattress covers, trumpets, coal, coke, office supplies, and gloves.

SPRINGFIELD OPM UNIT.

A branch of the Chicago district office of the contract distribution division of the Office of Production Management was opened yesterday in room 307 of the First National Bank building in Springfield. The branch office will extend the OPM's program to spread armament contracts among the smaller plants.

EXPENSIVE HOMES.

Is there any truth to the report that Office of Production Management officials have suggested to residential construction firms that they hold higher priced homes off the market for several months to take advantage of rising price levels?

Answer: The OPM has firmly denied that any of its representatives have encouraged speculation in constructed homes costing more than the $6,000 defense housing limit. The imposition of priority control over construction of new homes was not intended, it was explained, to enhance the value of more expensive private homes already constructed and offered for sale.

STEEL SCRAP.

How much scrap iron and steel does the steel industry require to maintain capacity production?

Answer: The OPM has estimated that 30 million tons of scrap are needed annually to keep steel ingot operations at an annual rate of 82 million tons. Scrap collections at present are not sufficient to maintain this pace and the OPM has launched a drive to bring in more scrap.

PREMIUM RECORD SET BY ALLSTATE INSURANCE FIRM

Premium income of the Allstate Insurance company rose to $3,774,955 in the first nine months this year, a gain of 34 per cent over that for the same 1940 period, and reflects the largest volume of business in its 10 year history, Gilbert Alexander, president, reported yesterday.

The company has received an additional contribution of $1,500,000 from Sears, Roebuck & Co., which owns its entire capital stock, Alexander said. Of this fund $600,000 has been used to increase the paid in capital of the insurance company from $400,000 to $1,000,000 and the remaining $900,000 was added to surplus.

Total capital and surplus on Sept. 3 was $3,145,891, after reserves for liabilities. Total assets were $8,127,347, an increase of $2,380,697 in the last year.

Chicago Firm Gets Army Order for Drawing Tools

The Eugene Dietzgen company, Chicago, received a $354,670 rearmament contract for compasses and dividers, the war department announced yesterday.

OUTPUT OF MEAT SETS NEW MARK FOR SEPTEMBER

Total Estimated at Nearly 1¼ Billion Pounds.

September meat production in the United States was the largest on record for the month, it was estimated at the Chicago stock yards yesterday. Market men said the butchering of animals under federal inspection, as reported by the department of agriculture, represented a meat output of approximately 1 billion 216 million pounds.

This huge tonnage showed an increase of 165 million pounds over the output of packers during the same month of last year, an increase of about 15 per cent.

HOGS HALT EARLY DECLINE TO END SLIGHTLY HIGHER

Following another slight recession early, the hog market developed a stronger undercurrent yesterday and prices improved sufficiently to raise the average for the session 5 cents, to $10.75 a hundred pounds. Some opening sales were as much as 5 to 10 cents lower, but this was more than counterbalanced by a larger volume of business on a 5 to 10 cents higher basis later in the day.

Lighter hog receipts, coupled with a steadier wholesale market for fresh pork stimulated buying.

AVERAGE HOURLY PAY FOR 25 INDUSTRIES UP 10 PCT. WITHIN A YEAR

New York, Oct. 9 (AP).—Average hourly earnings in 25 manufacturing industries have increased sharply since October, 1940, the National Industrial Conference board reported today.

The latest increase of 10 per cent from 74.4 cents last October to 82.2 cents in July, 1941, is the fourth sharp rise since the bottom of the depression in 1932, the research organization said.

The net increase in the eight years from June, 1933, to July, 1941, was 37.2 cents, or 83 per cent.

August Index Advances.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 9 [Special].—The department of commerce's seasonally-adjusted index of income payments to individuals rose to 133.5 for August, from 132.6 for July and 131.0 for June.

Canadians Seek Larger Share of Brazil's Trade

RIO DE JANEIRO, Oct. 8 [Special].—On the invitation of Brazilian business circles, a Canadian economic mission arrived here today to study the prospects of increased Brazilian-Canadian trade.

NEAR NORTH SIDE

Why spend time commuting when you can live down here near the lake, and near so many interesting things, with just a nice walk to and from your office in the loop? We have little 2 bedroom shaggy roof peasant houses in a little slate paved court, up on the second floor level; heated and serviced like apartments; one furnished. Also a 2 story balcony studio just flooded with light. Also a layout with living room over 30 ft. long, with windows at both ends, and skylight and fireplace; one large and two small bedrooms, and just outside a sunny roof all floored and ready for a roof garden next summer. And a one room with the coziest little fireplace you ever saw. Also a 6 room with sunshiny living room. All with fireplaces, the comforts and pleasant surroundings that the Cook Estate offers.

How to tell whether you can get a LOAN

Here are the requirements at Personal Finance Company: 1st—you must be at least twenty-one years old; 2nd—you must be willing and able to repay a loan in regular but small monthly instalments.

Any honest person who can meet these two requirements can qualify for an immediate loan of from $25 to $250 or more at Personal.

WHEN REPAID IN 3 EQUAL MONTHLY INSTALMENTS.

Charges are 1½% per month on balances in excess of $150 and 3% per month on that part of balance of $150 or less. If you need cash come in and see us. We want to make loans.
